Return Of Soviet Spy To Israel Threatened

THE ST. LOUIS AREA was plunged into inky darkness just before 4 p.m. Saturday. Motorists, as seen here on 12th Boulevard at Franklin avenue, switched on their headlights and office buildings were illuminated so work could continue. The cause, said the weather bureau, was severe thunderstorm activity accompanied by tornadoes. (AP Wirephoto)

Berlin Blast Knocks Hole In Reds' Wall

Soviet Military Visits West Area To View Damage

BERLIN (AP) — A new explosion punched a small hole Saturday in the Red wall across Berlin, nearing its first anniversary Aug. 13. Soviet military men surprised Western officials by driving into West Berlin to inspect the damage.

The blast in Jerusalemerstrasse was only a few hundred yards from the Friedrichstrasse crossing point for foreigners and not far from the site of a similar blast 11 days ago.

SOLIDERS ARRIVE

It went off just before 1 a.m. It chopped out a hole 8x19 inches. A few minutes later a jeep with four uniformed Soviet soldiers, believed to be officers, passed the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie, swung left and drew up at the scene. After taking a close look at the damage, the Russians returned to the East sector.

"Very interesting indeed," a Western allied official commented.

There is nothing to prevent Soviet officers entering West Berlin. But Western officials believe this is the first time the Russians have shown a direct interest in an explosion incident on the wall.

The Western powers favor such public appearances, claiming the Russians thereby acknowledge their responsibility for Berlin affairs under four-power agreements. Usually the Russians keep in the background, maintaining the East German government is solely responsible for what happens along the border.

British Edict On Flying Of Soblen To U.S. Refused

LONDON (AP) — Israel threw new complications Saturday night into Britain's attempt to send run-away soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen back to the United States. A government spokesman in Jerusalem said Soblen would be returned to Israel if Britain insisted he leave on an Israel airliner.

British authorities, who have rejected Soblen's appeals to remain here, have ordered him to leave aboard a plane of the Israeli government airline, El Al, which brought him here July 1.

But El Al refuses to accept Soblen as a passenger.

STAND FIRM

The Israeli spokesman disclosed his government's new position after British Ambassador Frances Hancock called on the Foreign Ministry's director general Chaim Yahiel in Jerusalem Saturday afternoon.

The ambassador had urged Israel to reconsider El Al's refusal to accept Soblen. A source close to the Israeli government said Hancock's effort was considered by the government as "an ultimative demand".

In London, there was no immediate official comment on the Israeli decision. Soblen's British attorney appeared surprised but pleased.

"This is news to me," he said. "But it would seem to be a way out of the impasse that otherwise exists."

There was speculation here that Soblen might escape a life prison term in the United States if he is taken out of Britain for a destination other than the United States.

Another Hot Day Expected Around Area

The Monroe area faces more heat after being baked Saturday by the summer sun. Winnfield led area reports with a blistering high of 102 degrees. There were few clouds and no rain.

Only exception to the high temperature reports Saturday came from northeast of Monroe. Bastrop reported "pretty and fair" weather after a cloud burst Friday, and Lake Providence had sunshine, breezes and highs near ninety.

TALLULAH RAIN

And at Tallulah, the mercury rose to 94 degrees. The highest during the week there was a 99 Wednesday. Tallulah's low was 72, the government lab reported. There was .63 inch of rain Friday in Tallulah.

But elsewhere the report was hot. The weatherman predicts for Monroe weather to be partly cloudy and quite warm today, along with widely scattered showers in the afternoon and evening.

In the Twin Cities the high was 97 Saturday, and predicted to be 95 today. The low was 72, the low will rise to 74 today.

Volunteer federal weather observer Estes Bozeman in Winnfield said that extreme temperature had virtually burned up garden, truck and other agricultural crops.

Saturday was Winn Parish's fifth day with a 100-plus reading during the past week.

In Caldwell Parish, Columbia experienced hot weather also Saturday, but crops are reported looking good after local rains earlier in the week.

Skies were clear, the humidity stifling and the temperature estimated at around 100 in Farmerville, which got a heavy rain Friday.

Very hot sunshine beat down on Jonesville and Harrisonburg in Catahoula Parish, where Tuesday Larto recorded a 102 and high nineties have reigned all week. Farmers, however, are getting adequate rainfall there with scattered showers.

"Awfully hot" was the description of the partly cloudy weather at Rayville. Temperatures were unofficially placed at about 100 degrees.

Three Held For Arson By Sheriff

A white man and two Negro men have been charged with arson in the fires of two West Monroe residences and a Monroe business establishment, according to the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department.

The charges were filed Saturday against the trio following an investigation by the sheriff's department and Garland May, state fire marshal. They were identified as Arthur Young, 49, of 2911 N. 8th St., West Monroe, and Negroes, Lamar Castor Jr., 19, Hipp Marks Alley, and A. J. Jones, 22, both of Monroe.

CHARGES

Sheriff Bailey Grant said they are charged with the burning of Clark's Fish Market, 2424 DeSiard St., in June of 1959, a dwelling at 409 Arthur St., West Monroe, in November, 1960, and another dwelling at 410 Arthur St., West Monroe, on June 16, 1961.

Young was described as owner of the two dwellings and owner of the fish market. The investigation was started some months ago on information from an informant.

Motive cited for the burning of the three places was for collection of insurance, of which sheriff's deputies said was less than $7,000 on all combined. Paint thinner was used as a fuel in starting the blazes that destroyed or damaged the buildings.

The sheriff said that the two Negroes were employed by Young, and that he had allegedly directed them to set fires to the buildings.

Young was charged with three counts of arson, and bond set at $2,000 on each count. Castor was charged with two counts, with bond of $1,000 on each count, while Jones was held on only one charge of arson and bond set at $1,000.

All three were being held in the parish jail Saturday until they make bond.

BLOCKED HARMFUL DRUG

Medal Approved For U.S. Doctor

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — President Kennedy Saturday authorized the government's highest civilian decoration to be given the woman doctor who blocked widespread use of the baby-deforming drug thalidomide in this country.

Dr. Francis O. Kelsey, medical officer of the Food and Drug Administration FDA, will be decorated by Kennedy next Tuesday in a White House ceremony. She is credited with playing a major role in preventing a possible wave of birth deformities in the United States.

Kennedy will bestow on Dr. Kelsey the President's award for distinguished federal civilian service. The award will consist of a gold medal and a citation saluting the Canadian-born doctor for her high ability and steadfast confidence in her professional decision to withhold FDA approval of the new drug for general use.

ACTION PRAISED

Dr. Kelsey's action in resisting pressure for approval of the marketing of thalidomide has prevented a major tragedy of birth deformities in the United States, said press secretary Pierre Salinger in announcing the award.

Thalidomide was distributed in experimental samples to about 1,700 U.S. physicians. The FDA has been rounding up supplies of the sedative since a series of birth deformities particularly in Europe were attributed to use of the medicine by pregnant women. Dr. Kelsey refused, however, to permit general marketing of the drug after she detected evidence of negative side-effects.

In effect, Kennedy added Dr. Kelsey to a previously announced list of five award winners for 1962. According to Salinger, the President acted on recommendation of Anthony J. Celebrezze, who became secretary of health, education and welfare only last Tuesday.

Dr. Kelsey, 48, joined the FDA staff in 1960. She is responsible for studying medical data submitted by manufacturers to determine whether new drugs are safe and should be permitted to be sold in interstate commerce. She is married to Dr. F. Ellis Kelsey and lives with him in Washington with their two children.

Reds Enter Viet Nam From Laos

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) —Fighting in the Vietnamese central highlands stepped up Saturday as well armed Communist guerrillas swarmed across the border of southern Laos into South Viet Nam, reliable South Vietnamese military sources said.

The sources noted that during the last three weeks there have been at least three battalion-size attacks by Communist Viet Cong soldiers against two villages in Pleiku and Kontum provinces alone.

There also have been several clashes elsewhere between government troops and communist in company strength.

U.S. military officials in Pleiku said earlier that they expect a big push by the Viet Cong beginning in late August or early September. They forecast the Viet Cong will try to seize control of the central highlands in an effort to split Viet Nam in two.

American and Vietnamese intelligence officers at Kontum said two large scale penetrations across the Laotian border into Kontum province reported earlier this week involved 1,000 men each.

ALGERIA ELECTIONS

Ben Bella Group Asks Vote Delay

ALGIERS (AP) — Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's political bureau met for the first time in Algiers Saturday and called for a one-week postponement of national elections scheduled Aug. 27.

Ben Bella's two opponents in the seven-man bureau, Vice Premier Mohammed Boudiaf and Minister of State Hocine Ait Ahmed, boycotted the meeting.

Ben Bella entered Algiers in triumph Friday for the first time since French rule ended a month ago. Within 24 hours of his tumultuous return, he encountered new obstacles on his road to power — despite a compromise that had temporarily halted the quarrels between the new nation's leaders.

NO EXPLANATION

The compromise gave the Ben Bella-dominated political bureau temporary control of the National Liberation Front — FLN — and charged it with preparing the Aug. 27 elections. It left Premier Youssef Ben Khedda at the head of the nation's provisional government until after the elections.

There was no immediate explanation why Ben Bella wanted the elections delayed. While he was still entrenched in his Oran stronghold, Ben Bella said all talk of elections was premature at present. Part of Friday's compromise was his acceptance of elections at an early date.

The political bureau has no direct powers of government. It called on the provisional executive—the French-appointed nonpolitical body temporarily responsible for the nation's internal administration—to set the election date on Sept. 2. It said it had reviewed the situation but gave no other explanation.

The provisional executive was regarded as certain to agree to the delay. The new election date automatically also postponed by one week the meeting of the FLN National Council of the Algerian Revolution—CNRA — which, under the Friday compromise, is to review the nation's entire leadership.

Thousands of Ben Bella supporters celebrated their hero's return throughout the night, shouting slogans, blowing horns and setting off firecrackers in the downtown streets of Algiers.

Their demonstration took on a sharp anti-French flavor—unlike the four days of tumultuous independence celebrations a month early. They overturned and decapitated the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc, France's national heroine, on the square facing the central post office.

Satellite Bill Foes Propose Leasing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate sponsors of a government-ownership bill said Saturday they are willing to have a satellite communications system operated by a private corporation under a lease arrangement.

Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said that while they oppose an administration measure providing for private ownership and operation, they are not committed to government operation.

They are among a small band of Democratic senators who blocked with a five-day filibuster a move to call the bill up for Senate action this week. A temporary truce was reached last Wednesday with an agreement to send the measure to the Foreign Relations Committee for further study.

Under the agreement, the bill is to be taken up in the Senate again on Aug. 10 and Morse has threatened to renew the filibuster then.

U.S. Marines Leave Thailand

TOKYO (UPI) — The complete withdrawal of all U.S. Marines in Thailand began Saturday, the Pacific Stars and Stripes reported in its Sunday edition.

The U.S. Armed Forces newspaper, in a dispatch from its correspondent in Udorn, Thailand, said two companies were airlifted to Okinawa to begin the withdrawal.

The withdrawal was the second part of an action ordered by President Kennedy July 1. At that time, about 1,000 Marines, comprising all air elements and one combat company, left the country.

PHONY FOOD PROBLEM

'Cure' For Plastic Eaters Is Sought

CHICAGO (AP)—What should a doctor do for somebody who has eaten phony food that is made of plastic but looks like a hunk of cheese for a fried egg?

A Chicago physician was trying to get an answer to that question from a colleague in Duisburg, Germany.

The Chicagoan read a story from Duisburg earlier this week. It told how a resident ate some plastic cheese. It was bought in a joke shop. It looked and tasted like the real thing. But the man died recently.

A factory manager in Krefield, Germany, ate what he thought was a cheese roll last Christmas. He died in February. Doctors found remnants of the plastic in his digestive tract.

The Chicago doctor said a Chicago mother bought a plastic egg recently and now she can't find it. She thinks her child may have consumed it. But she isn't sure.

So the Chicago physician is trying to reach his counterpart in Duisburg through The Associated Press bureau in Frankfurt-Main.

He said he wants to find out what the Duisburg doctor has learned about the plastic. He figured medical men generally would like to know more, too—just in case.

The Chicago physician asked that his name be omitted. He did not give the name or age of the child who may or may not have eaten some plastic.

West German police have started a nationwide hunt for plastics in food form. Police said they believed the stuff is made in Japan. Investigators said the plastic becomes hard as crystal in the digestive tract.

License Blamed In Bride Death

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP) — A marriage license issued four days ago has been blamed for the death of a young bride.

Mrs. Carolyn Sue Robinson, 19, of Houston died here Saturday of injuries she received Friday in a one-car accident.

Mrs. Robinson and her 18-year-old husband, Donald, were returning to Houston from a wedding trip to Lafayette, La., when a wind blew the couple's marriage license around in the back seat of their car.

Robinson told police his bride of three days turned to put an overnight bag on the paper. He said this distracted his attention for a moment and he lost control of the car which overturned. Robinson received head and internal injuries.

Three Held For Arson By Sheriff

A white man and two Negro men have been charged with arson in the fires of two West Monroe residences and a Monroe business establishment, according to the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department.

The charges were filed Saturday against the trio following an investigation by the sheriff's department and Garland May, state fire marshal. They were identified as Arthur Young, 49, of 2911 N. 8th. St., West Monroe; and Negroes, Lamar Castor Jr., 19, Hipp Marks Alley, and A. J Jones, 22, both of Monroe.

CHARGES

Sheriff Bailey Grant said they are charged with the burning of Clark's Fish Market, 2424 DeSiard St., in June of 1959; a dwelling at 409 Arthur St., West Monroe, in November, 1960; and another dwelling at 410 Arthur St., West Monroe, on June 16, 1961.

Young was described as owner of the two dwellings and owner of the fish market. The investigation was started some months ago on information from an informant.

Young was charged with three counts of arson, and bond set at $2,000 on each count. Castor was charged with two counts, with bond of $1,000 on each count, while Jones was held on only one charge of arson and bond set at $1,000.

All three were being held in the parish jail Saturday until they make bond.

It called on the provisional executive—the French-appointed nonpolitical body temporarily responsible for the nation's internal administration—to set the election date on Sept. 2. It said it had reviewed the situation but gave no other explanation.

The provisional executive was regarded as certain to agree to the delay. The new election date automatically also postponed by one week the meeting of the FLN National Council of the Algerian Revolution—CNRA — which, under the Friday compromise, is to review the nation's entire leadership.

Thousands of Ben Bella supporters celebrated their hero's return throughout the night, shouting slogans, blowing horns and setting off firecrackers in the downtown streets of Algiers.

Their demonstration took on a sharp anti-French flavor—unlike the four days of tumultuous independence celebrations a month early. They overturned and decapitated the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc, France's national heroine, on the square facing the central post office.

Satellite Bill Foes Propose Leasing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate sponsors of a government-ownership bill said Saturday they are willing to have a satellite communications system operated by a private corporation under a lease arrangement.

Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said that while they oppose an administration measure providing for private ownership and operation, they are not committed to government operation.

They are among a small band of Democratic senators who blocked with a five-day filibuster a move to call the bill up for Senate action this week. A temporary truce was reached last Wednesday with an agreement to send the measure to the Foreign Relations Committee for further study.

Under the agreement, the bill is to be taken up in the Senate again on Aug. 10 and Morse has threatened to renew the filibuster then.

Trousdale Honored At Review

FT. POLK, La. (AP) — The 39th (Delta) Infantry Division paraded before Maj. Gen. George W. Trousdale, retiring commanding general of the Arkansas-Louisiana National Guardsmen, for the last time in the annual review Saturday.

Louisiana's highest award, the Distinguished Service Medal, was pinned on Trousdale as nearly 9,000 troops watched.

Trousdale, of Monroe, joined the National Guard in 1922 as a private and rose through the ranks to become a two-star general. He served overseas during World War II and was discharged from active federal service in 1946. He took over the 39th in April, 1958.

The first presentation of the Dr. George W. Wright memorial saber went to Co. E, 217th Engineers of Clarksdale, Ark., for the company with the highest efficiency rating for the previous summer encampment. The presentation was made by Lt. Col. George Wright of Monroe who established the annual award in memory of his father.

The same company also received the Eisenhower award, given annually to the company sized unit of both states with the most outstanding record for the preceding calendar year.

In Louisiana, the Eisenhower trophy went to Co. A, 4th AA Howitzer Battalion of the 141st Artillery, New Orleans.

The 39th will start the second and final week of its summer encampment on Monday.

License Blamed In Bride Death

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP) — A marriage license issued four days ago has been blamed for the death of a young bride.

Mrs. Carolyn Sue Robinson, 19, of Houston died here Saturday of injuries she received Friday in a one-car accident.

Mrs. Robinson and her 18-year-old husband, Donald, were returning to Houston from a wedding trip to Lafayette, La., when a wind blew the couple's marriage license around in the back seat of their car.

Robinson told police his bride of three days turned to put an overnight bag on the paper. He said this distracted his attention for a moment and he lost control of the car which overturned. Robinson received head and internal injuries.

U.S. Marines Leave Thailand

TOKYO (UPI) — The complete withdrawal of all U. S. Marines in Thailand began Saturday, the Pacific Stars and Stripes reported in its Sunday edition.

The U. S. Armed Forces newspaper, in a dispatch from its correspondent in Udorn, Thailand, said two companies were airlifted to Okinawa to begin the withdrawal.

The withdrawal was the second part of an action ordered by President Kennedy July 1. At that time, about 1,000 Marines, comprising all air elements and one combat company, left the country.

PHONY FOOD PROBLEM

'Cure' For Plastic Eaters Is Sought

CHICAGO (AP)—What should a doctor do for somebody who has eaten phony food that is made of plastic but looks like a hunk of cheese for a fried egg?

A Chicago physician was trying to get an answer to that question from a colleague in Duisburg, Germany.

The Chicagoan read a story from Duisburg earlier this week. It told how a resident ate some plastic cheese. It was bought in a joke shop. It looked and tasted like the real thing. But the man died recently.

A factory manager in Krefield, Germany, ate what he thought was a cheese roll last Christmas. He died in February. Doctors found remnants of the plastic in his digestive tract.

The Chicago doctor said a Chicago mother bought a plastic egg recently and now she can't find it. She thinks her child may have consumed it. But she isn't sure.

So the Chicago physician is trying to reach his counterpart in Duisburg through The Associated Press bureau in Frankfurt-Main.

He said he wants to find out what the Duisburg doctor has learned about the plastic. He figured medical men generally would like to know more, too—just in case.

The Chicago physician asked that his name be omitted. He did not give the name or age of the child who may or may not have eaten some plastic.

West German police have started a nationwide hunt for plastics in food form. Police said they believed the stuff is made in Japan. Investigators said the plastic becomes hard as crystal in the digestive tract.

Series Of High Fatality Wrecks Claim 26 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A series of high-fatality car wrecks have occurred around the United States and Canada during the past two days.

The death toll ranged from four to six in each accident, with a total of 26 lives lost. In addition, three pedestrians were struck and killed by cars.

Amid these developments the New York Police Department announced that traffic deaths in New York City for the first seven months of 1962 totaled 22 per cent more than for the same period last year. The figures were, respectively, 369 and 301.

Indiana had seven fatalities in two accidents within 20 miles of each other Saturday.

Five persons lost their lives in a two-car crash on U.S. Highway 24 west of Goodland. They were Robert E. Canaday, 32, of Champaign, Ill.; his wife, Thelma, 33; a son, Howard, 5; a daughter, Gayle Lynn, 9, and John L. Reynolds, 23, of Thayer, Iowa, a civilian employe at the Bunker Hill Air Force Base near Peru, Ind. The other Indiana accident, which occurred on U.S. Highway 41 two miles north of Morocco, involved three vehicles. Jack Taylor, 60, of Matteson, Ill., and his wife, Clina, 54, died.

Six persons died in a two-car collision early Saturday on Highway 2 about 16 miles west of Kingston, Ontario.

They were Mrs. Delma Irene Wood, 55, of North Greece, Rochester, N.Y.; and five Toronto residents: Adolfo Muccillo, 34, his wife, Nicolina, 27; their son, Frank, 4; Iacobucci Biase, 63, Mrs. Mucillo's father, and Maria Albenyk, 24.

A collision of two cars near Kingston, N.C., Friday night took the lives of five persons.

They were identified as Harold Dean Robertson, 20, of Narrows, Va., now stationed at the Seymour Johnson Air Force Base in North Carolina; Harold Lee Smith, 20, of Upper Sanduksy, Ohio, also stationed at Seymour Johnson; Robert Powell, 23, of Princeton, W.Va., stationed at the Cherry Point Marine Air Station in North Carolina; and Ervin Allen Thomas 16, and Donald Carter, 18, both of La Grange, N.C.

Another two-car collision cost the lives of four persons near Chillicothe, Mo., late Friday night. The dead were identified as Russell Scott, 29, and his wife, Ruth Earlene, 18, both of Omaha, Neb.; Sallie A. Arehart of Peoria, Ill., and an infant son of Ora Lee Scott, 22, of Omaha.

Four National Guardsmen who had been due to complete training at Ft. Riley, Kan., on Sunday were killed Friday night in a car which smashed through the side of a bridge and hit a tree near Herington, Kan.

The four, all from Minot, N.D., were listed as Pfc. Duane J. Keller, 19; Pfc. Gary D. Bjelland, 20; Spec. 4 Adrian Schaltz, 18, and Pfc. James D. Widdell, 21.

Anna Attridge, 68, and Harriet Hartland, 81, were killed when struck by cars in separate accidents at Bayshore, N.Y., on Friday. A similar accident Friday night at Spring Valley, N.Y., cost the life of Clifford Young, 53, of Englewood Cliffs, N.J.

BOAT CAPSIZES

Three Fishermen Drown In Mishap

TCHULA, Miss. (UPI) —Three Wisconsin fishermen drowned in Lake Tchula here Saturday when their boat capsized and a fourth person floated to shore on an ice-cooler.

Holmes County officers identified the victims as Robert Heal about 50, William Gardner, 31, and William Gardner Jr., 8, all of Kenosha, Wis.

The foursome, including Eli Wilson, 37, of near here, had gone fishing on the Oxbow Lake Saturday morning, and their boat capsized about mid-lake shortly after noon. The bodies of the three victims were recovered by local citizens assisted by the Yazoo fire department.

Wilson, who floated ashore on the ice cooler, said Gardner was his newphew and that the three Wisconsin residents were vacationing with Mrs. Prentiss Mills at Louisville, Miss. Gardner was a native of Monroe County, Miss., but Heal was a Wisconsin native.

Holmes County Deputy Sheriff Andrew Smith said Wilson was in a state of shock and was not able to recall all the incidents leading up to the sinking of the small boat.

ON TALLULAH'S BRUSHY BAYOU

A 'Lonely Pelican' Picturesque Sight

By MRS. ERLE READ
Correspondent

TALLULAH — A recent addition to picturesque Brushy Bayou which meanders through Tallulah, is the lonely pelican.

Where it came from nobody knows. It has been suggested that it may have once been with a flock of pelicans recently seen in streams near Monroe.

This white bird, with black feathers on the edge of its wings, was found in a field near the airport not far from Tallulah. It had a broken wing and was captured by a farmer who took it home, confined it in a chicken pen and fed it bream. In a course of time it was released in the bayou to find its own food.

Gradually the pelican made its way to the northern edge of town where it has remained within a limited area, atracting attention of people who pass by. At first it swam about near the bank, unable to rise above the water. Occasionally it was seen to be apparently struggling to fly.

Several times it was molested by colored people fishing along the bank. Luckily a nature lover saw what was going on and warned the fishermen that there was a law in Tallulah that prohibited harming or killing birds and water fowls.

When the bird is not in the water it usually stays under an oak tree near the edge of the bank or walks awkwardly near the road.

Nature has restorative powers and recently the pelican wandered near the street on the east side of the bayou. It stopped, spread its wings and flew a distance of approximately two blocks, high above the water before landing in the middle of the bayou.

It is to be hoped that the bird will not venture into Highway 80 where it might become the victim of a passing motorist. The pelican, symbol of Louisiana, lends a touch of interest to a portion of Tallulah's bayou where residents of North Lincoln Street have grown to claim it as their pet.

Judge Favors Alimony Limit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A time limit should be applied to alimony argues Superior Court Judge Roger Alton Pfaff of Los Angeles.

"The cocktail lounges of America are filled with unhappy, lonely, frustrated, and alcoholic women," Pfaff told the American Bar Association Friday.

"They've euchred an affluent husband out of a substantial lifetime annuity. The ex-husbands are left financially strapped."

As for the ex-wives Judge Pfaff observed. What otherwise would be emotionally stable and productive women are turned into tramps.

Parachute Drop Fatal For Dog

LILLE, France (AP)—Aspic, a police dog with a decade of service with the French air force, plunged more than 120 feet to his death Saturday while undergoing paratroop training.

The dog plummeted into a field near here when the harness of his chute broke as he was floating down from 1,200 feet.

Aspic, who spent many years guarding airfields and depots in the Algerian interior, was making his first jump as part of research by a French army doctor into the cardio-vascular reactions of paratroopers.

12th Polaris Missile-Firing Sub Launched

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Virginia Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. hailed the newest Polaris submarine as a "tangible, solid evidence of our faith in the eventual triumph of freedom."

Harrison, principal speaker at the launching Saturday of the submarine James Monroe, 12th in a series of Polaris missile-firing vessels, said in his prepared remarks that the simultaneous firing of all the missiles of this submarine would loose a power equal to all of the conventional bombs delivered by American aircraft during World War II.

"Yet this ship is launched, not to fight a war, but to be a deterrent to war," he said.

"Her mission will be to serve as a constant warning to the enemies of freedom that free men will fight, if there is no other way."

Thanks . . .

To the Voters of the Fifth Congressional District

"To the voters of the Fifth Congressional District:
I am deeply appreciative of the fine support which I received in my campaign for member of the State Board of Education. I feel that this support was afforded me because of the stand I took in favor of the continued well being of our Fifth District Schools.

I am happy to announce at this time that I intend to support John E. Mulhearn in the Second Primary. Mr. Mulhearn is in my opinion eminently qualified by virtue of education, personality, and an independent status to represent the Fifth District on the State Board of Education. Mr. Mulhearn has assured me that he will fight to retain the benefits of the equalization formual for our Fifth District Schools, will work for the growth of all of our state colleges, and will represent only the people in the performance of his duties. I strongly urge the voters to support Mr. Mulhearn in this race.

Again, let me state that I am humbly grateful for all the support received by me in this race and I want the people to know that I shall continue to fight for our public schools."

ON TALLULAH'S BRUSHY BAYOU

A 'Lonely Pelican' Picturesque Sight

By MRS. ERLE READ
Correspondent

TALLULAH — A recent addition to picturesque Brushy Bayou which meanders through Tallulah, is the lonely pelican.

Where it came from nobody knows. It has been suggested that it may have once been with a flock of pelicans recently seen in streams near Monroe.

This white bird, with black feathers on the edge of its wings, was found in a field near the airport not far from Tallulah. It had a broken wing and was captured by a farmer who took it home, confined it in a chicken pen and fed it bream. In a course of time it was released in the bayou to find its own food.

Gradually the pelican made its way to the northern edge of town where it has remained within a limited area, atracting attention of people who pass by. At first it swam about near the bank, unable to rise above the water. Occasionally it was seen to be apparently struggling to fly.

Several times it was molested by colored people fishing along the bank. Luckily a nature lover saw what was going on and warned the fishermen that there was a law in Tallulah that prohibited harming or killing birds and water fowls.

When the bird is not in the water it usually stays under an oak tree near the edge of the bank or walks awkwardly near the road.

ROBERTS PRESIDENT

Officers Elected For LSU Board

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors Saturday chose Percy E. Roberts, a Baton Rouge businessman, as its president for the next two years.

Roberts replaces John Doles of Plain Dealing, who continues his membership on the board.

Other new officers are Joseph C. LeSage of Shreveport, vice chairman; and Mrs. Ella V. Aldrich Schwing of Plaquemine, Secretary.

The board, meeting at LSU in New Orleans, approved the establishment of a dental school in New Orleans and an engineering degree program for LSUNO.

The dental school, which will initially share some of the research and medical facilities of the LSU medical school here, will probably produce its first graduating class by 1970.

Eventually, both the dental and medical schools will be part of a proposed LSU Medical Center, which will also consist of hospital administration and public health division.

Medical School Dean Dr. William W. Frye told the board the cost of building a primary structure and service building for the dental school would be about $4 million.

The board also heard a report about the proposed establishment of a school of veterinary Medicine, but took no formal action. LSU Vice President Nathaniel Cafee said studies conducted by the university administration indicate that the enormous growth of the livestock industry is creating "an precedented demand for doctors of veterinary medicine."

Presently, Louisiana sends its veterinary students to Oklahoma State and Texas A & M under the Southern Regional Education program.

During the board meeting, approval was given to the 1962-63 budget of $28,132, 144.03, of which $880,286.93 is for debt service and dedicated transfers to the plant fund. The budget is some $500,000 less than the 1961-62 budget, mainly because the 1962 legislature lopped some $900,000 from the LSU appropriation.

In other action

Dr. Joseph M. Reynolds, LSU physics professor, was elevated to the rank of Boyd professor, the university's highest teaching position. He was named as head of the Department of Physics and Astronomy, succeeding Dr. Vincent Parker, who is on leave of absence to serve as deputy director of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies.

Quinn M. Coco, associate comptroller, was promoted to comptroller for the main Baton Rouge campus.

Two new administrative positions in the College of Engineering were created.

Dr. L. R. Daniel, head of the mechanical engineering department, was named director of instruction for the college and Dr. Elvin J. Dantin, a civil engineering associate professor, was picked to be director of the LSU Engineering Experiment Station.

The picnic will start at 4:30 p.m. and continue until around 7 p.m. Each family in attendance will bring food.

NIGHT MARSHAL SHOT

Young Gunman Takes Own Life

ASHDOWN, Ark. (AP)—A teen-aged gunslinger shot himself to death on Ashdown's main street Saturday after seriously wounding the town's night marshal, police said.

Freddie Bynum, 18, of Fort Smith, shot himself with a .45-calier pistol as a state trooper approached to question him in the shooting of Elmer Ross, 45, the marshal.

Ross was reported in fair condition in a Texarkana hospital after emergency surgery. He was shot in the mouth and chest.

Four other Fort Smith youths who were with Bynum were arrested and placed in the county jail.

They are James Lee Bolin, 19, and Nathan Bolin, 17, brothers, Frank Wynn, 17, and Gerald E. Sanders, 18.

Sheriff Audrey Thrash quoted them as saying they had stolen a car in Fort Smith on Friday night and were en route to New Orleans when they ran Ashdown's only stoplight at 2:40 a.m.

Ross stopped them. Thrash quoted the other boy as saying Bynum shot Ross twice "because we didn't want to go to jail."

Thrash said the youths left the stolen car and ran. James Bolin and Bynum paired off and the other three stayed together.

Bolin and Bynum hid in weeds about a mile north of town until dawn, Thrash said, then hitched a ride with a man on his way to work.

State Trooper Bob Porter pursued the car and signaled it to stop. Then, Thrash said, Bynum jumped out and shot himself.

Bolin was taken into custody.

The other three were arrested shortly before noon as they walked along a country road.

Thrash quoted James Bolin as saying Bynum thought he had killed the marshal.

Guests for the luncheon include club delegates, city and parish officials, Cotton Festival and Association of Commerce officers and representatives of press, radio and television. The event honoring the brown-haired beauty will be held in the Kraft Room of the Louisiana Motor Hotel.

Another activity of the "Diana Smith Day" will be the reception at the International House on South Franklin St. between 3 and 5 o'clock. This is an open to the public affair and everyone is invited to come by and meet and visit with Diana. Hosts will be the North Louisiana Cotton Festival Association and the Bastrop Association of Commerce and Industry, with the Jaycee Jaynes handling all the arrangements.

Numerous merchants are participating in promoting the special day to salute Morehouse Parish's first "Miss Louisiana" and the second consecutive North Louisiana Cotton Festival Queen to win the state title.

Largest Guided Missile Frigate Commissioned

BOSTON (AP)—The guided missile frigate Leahy, which the Navy says is the largest of its type, was commissioned Saturday at the Boston Naval Shipyard.

Built at the Bath Iron Works Corp., Bath, Maine, the Leahy is the 11th frigate to join the fleet. She carries a complement of 21 officers and 352 enlisted men.

The 533-foot ship named in honor of the late Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy, USN, an 1897 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and one of four to hold the rank of fleet admiral by act of Congress. He died in 1959.

Leahy also was governor of Puerto Rico, ambassador to France, chief of naval operations, wartime senior member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and chief of staff to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Leahy is equipped with the Terrier, a supersonic surface-to-air guided missile weapon system and is the first frigate to carry missile launchers at both ends of the ship. In addition, she carries ASROC—a rocket-propelled anti-submarine weapon, along with antisubmarine torpedoes and two antiaircraft guns.

Commanding the new 7,600-ton ship is Capt. Robert L. Baughan Jr., USN, of Huntington, W.Va., a Naval Academy graduate in 1941.

The Leahy is slated to join the Atlantic Fleet and will be based in Boston.

N. J. Major Blasts Race Rally Plans

ENGLEWOOD, N. J. (UPI)—Mayor Austin N. Volk Saturday lashed back at integrationist leader Paul B. Zuber, who has threatened to turn this city into an Albany, Ga., in his fight against racial discrimination.

Volk sharply criticized Zuber for comparing Englewood to Albany and for his plan to bring Malcolm X, leader of the Negro nationalist Black Muslim movement, here for an Aug. 18 rally.

"To compare Englewood to a place like Albany, where segregation is shameful, is using the tactics of the big lie," Volk said in a statement issued here. "Englewood resents it."

Volk said that Englewood has Negro pupils and Negro teachers in every public school as well as on governing bodies and appointive committees and boards. Board of Education President John Perry is a Negro.

In attacking the plan to bring the Muslim leader here, Volk said the Muslims had been termed a growing danger to our national security by Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

"I hope the people of Englewood — Negro and white — will resist the effort of agitators and propagandists," Volk said.

The mayor was a key figure in the latest school controversy, which prompted local integration leaders to call Zuber, a Negro attorney who engineered sit-ins, boycotts and a federal court suit here in February.

Volk, who is a member of the Board of School Estimates, and two councilmen of the board voted against appropriation of $35,000 to renovate the site of a proposed integrated school.

Lives Of Quads Hang In Balance

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI) — Doctors at Vancouver General Hospital said Saturday the lives of quadruplets born Friday morning would hang in the balance for four days.

The doctors said survival of the two boys and two girls born to Mrs. Ruth Becker, 28, wife of city lawyer Alec J. Becker, will be in question for that long.

The quads, only the third set in British Columbia history, were born at minute intervals beginning at 5:15 a.m. Their combined weight was 19 pounds 13 ounces.

Drs. Benjamin Shuman and Harold Krivel, aided by 11 other doctors, took over the care of the quads. They were delivered by caesarian section.

Sukarno Agrees To Compromise On New Guinea

BOGOR, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno announced Saturday he is sending Foreign Minister Subandrio back to Washington for formal negotiations with the Netherlands on the transfer of disputed West New Guinea to Indonesia.

Although Sukarno did not expressly say so, the announcement made it clear he has accepted a compromise settlement threshed out in preliminary negotiations betwen Dutch representatives and Subandrio in the past two weeks.

Informants said Subandrio would leave here next week and that a final settlement is expected to be signed sometime this month.

The long dispute between the Netherlands and Indonesia aroused fears that war might break out over the jungle territory in the Southwest Pacific.

The Dutch government still has to accept the preliminary accord, which reportedly calls for transfer of West New Guinea from Dutch to Indonesian administration by next May.

Indonesia would in turn guarantee a self-determination referendum for Papuan natives of the territory by 1969.

NIGHT MARSHAL SHOT

Young Gunman Takes Own Life

ASHDOWN, Ark. (AP)—A teen-aged gunslinger shot himself to death on Ashdown's main street Saturday after seriously wounding the town's night marshal, police said.

Freddie Bynum, 18, of Fort Smith, shot himself with a .45-calier pistol as a state trooper approached to question him in the shooting of Elmer Ross, 45, the marshal.

Ross was reported in fair condition in a Texarkana hospital after emergency surgery. He was shot in the mouth and chest.

Four other Fort Smith youths who were with Bynum were arrested and placed in the county jail.

They are James Lee Bolin, 19, and Nathan Bolin, 17, brothers, Frank Wynn, 17, and Gerald E. Sanders, 18.

Sheriff Audrey Thrash quoted them as saying they had stolen a car in Fort Smith on Friday night and were en route to New Orleans when they ran Ashdown's only stoplight at 2:40 a.m.

Ross stopped them. Thrash quoted the other boy as saying Bynum shot Ross twice "because we didn't want to go to jail."

Thrash said the youths left the stolen car and ran. James Bolin and Bynum paired off and the other three stayed together.

Bolin and Bynum hid in weeds about a mile north of town until dawn, Thrash said, then hitched a ride with a man on his way to work.

State Trooper Bob Porter pursued the car and signaled it to stop. Then, Thrash said, Bynum jumped out and shot himself.

Bolin was taken into custody.

The other three were arrested shortly before noon as they walked along a country road.

Thrash quoted James Bolin as saying Bynum thought he had killed the marshal.

Rome and Athens. If Soblen were to fly to Zurich, he could transfer there to a flight to Communist Czechoslovakia, which has offered him political asylum.

In the event of Soblen's return to Israel, it is expected he would be arrested. Nevertheless, this would give him time to file an appeal with the Israeli Supreme Court to remain in Israel under that country's "Law of Return."

The law permits any Jew to settle in Israel, but it gives the government the right to refuse persons it considers undesirable. The government did so in Soblen's case earlier.

British authorities, meanwhile, granted Soblen three more days in Britain while they attempted to break the deadlock with El Al.

News that the deadline for his departure had been extended to midnight Wednesday reached Soblen in the hospital wing of Brixton Prison. His lawyers claimed he was in bed and suffering some pain. The Home Office said Brixton's medical officer had examined Soblen and found no change in his condition.

Soblen is said to have leukemia and not have long to live.

There was no explanation from the Home Office why it extended its original order to Israel's El Al Airline, to fly the 61-year-old Lithuanian-born psychiatrist to the United States to serve a life term for espionage. His trip aboard El Al began July 1, when Israel ejected him for passport irregularities.

Israel mantains the British Home Office has no right to give orders for Soblen's removal to a foreign airline. They are declining to fly him home and have protested through diplomatic channels.

London takes the view that El Al brought Soblen here and, since no formal permission was given for him to enter Britain El Al must take him out. Soblen got the trip interrupted by slashing his wrists and abdomen just before the plane landed in London. He had skipped $100,000 bail in New York to flee to Israel.

If El Al sticks to its decision not to carry Soblen out of Britain, a new round of legal battles may develop to delay his departure. The government would need to serve a deportation order to get rid of him by ship or some other airline and that means an application in the courts, which could be fought by Soblen's lawyers.

U.S. Slates Large-Scale War Games

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (UPI) — One of the most extensive peacetime military maneuvers in the nation's history gets underway Monday.

A total of 65,000 men from Army and Air Force bases in 26 states will take part in the war games, which will range over broad sections of North and South Carolina.

The exercise, called "Swift Strike II," a tough, combat-ready outfit headquartered at Macdill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla.

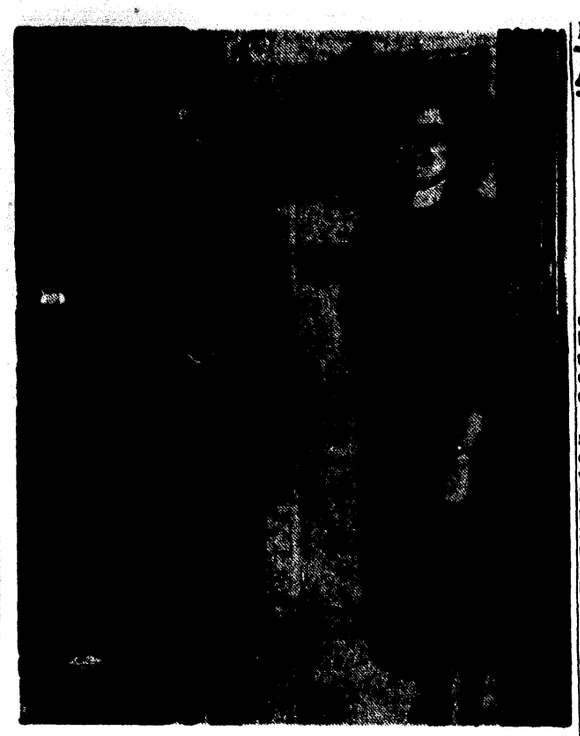

It was established to give America a mobile striking force capable of dealing with "rush-fire" wars on a moment's notice.

Even while the maneuvers are in process the commander of strike, Gen. Paul D. Adams, will be kept informed, via an elaborate communications hookup, of all late developments in the world's trouble spots.

The exercise specifically will test the command's ability to intercede in behalf of a friendly nation to help put down guerrilla activities and aggression from one of its neighbors.

It will involve at least two large airborne assaults, behind the lines forays and latest methods of close air support.

Included in the operation will be the XVIII Airborne Corps and the 82nd Airborne Division of Ft. Bragg; the 101st Airborne Division, Ft. Campbell, Ky.; 1st Infantry Brigade, 1st Infantry Division, Ft. Riely, Kan.; 4th Logistical Command, Ft. Eustis, Va.; III Corps, Ft. Hood, Tex., 2nd Infantry Division, Ft. Benning, Ga.; and the 2nd Logistical Command, Ft. Lee, Va.

SELECTING CLOTHES from The Fashion is Amanda Cobb (left) of Neville High School in a far West outfit, as seen in "Seventeen," the Girl-Of-The Golden-West look in prairie blue and brown. Wilson Says Wheeler May Stand Trial

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson speculated Saturday that Maynard Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp. of New York, will voluntarily stand trial on state anti-trust charges.

Wheeler was indicted last week along with deposed promoter Billie Sol Estes of Pecos, Tex., whose financial empire crumbled last March with his arrest on federal mortgage fraud charges.

Commercial Solvents provided the fertilizer sold by Estes in widespread operations. The firm also financed Estes' grain storage operations in part.

Wheeler is due to surrender to New York police Monday on the Texas charges that he conspired to fix prices and drive out competition. He could resist extradition from New York but Wilson indicated he did not believe Wheeler will do so.

Wilson made his prediction by telephone while en route from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The attorney general also said the indictments of Wheeler and Estes "are most significant in that they serve notice on all of the out-of-state people doing business in Texas that they must comply with the antitrust laws."

Texas courts of inquiry have resulted in testimony that Estes cut prices of fertilizer in an effort to drive out competition. Commercial Solvents executives have testified that the firm sold fertilizer to all buyers at the same price.

Wheeler said in New York City that, "I have never conspired with anyone either to fix prices or to control markets. The accusations against me apparently are based on testimony given at the so-called 'courts-of-inquiry' held in Texas at which the attorney general selected the evidence. And we were not permitted to cross-examine the witnesses or to submit rebuttal evidence on our behalf."

AFTER KNIFE ATTACK

Ex-Convict Slain By Police Decoy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—An ex-convict pulled a knife on a member of the police decoy squad Saturday and was shot to death. The officer was posing as a helpless drunk.

Seven other members of the squad, which roams the most crime-ridden sectors of the city, were closing in on the pair—and listening to their conversation by radio—when George D. Norman, 24, drew the knife and told Patrolman Sanford Sutfin: "This is the end of the line for you, buddy."

Norman had accompanied Sutfin, 25, for four blocks, as the plainclothes officer walked a slightly erratic course. He had professed up to that point to be the officer's friend and protector.

The drama reached its climax when Sutfin said he needed no help and suggested Norman leave him alone. Norman opened the pocket knife.

"The knife was pointed at my stomach," Sutfin said. "I jumped back, reached for my revolver and shouted, 'Hey, drop that knife—I'm a police officer.'

"The man reached for me with the knife. I felt something strike my stomach. I jumped back and toward the right, and fired one shot. He spun around, took two steps and fell on the sidewalk."

VICKSBURG CONTEST

Brunette Crowned 'Miss Mississippi'

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) — Charlotte Ann Carroll of Walthall, a regal brunette with talents galore, Saturday night was named Miss Mississippi of 1962.

The tall, shapely (37-23-37) representative of Eupora, her blue eyes gleaming and her lips murmuring "I can't believe it" walked down the ramp to a standing ovation from more than 3,000.

The first alternature was equally popular Georgia Carol Jones of Picayune, who was Miss Pearl River County.

Second alternate was Eva Blaine Sipes, Miss Jackson.

The other finalists were Miss Mississippi State College for Women (MSCW), Jo Helen Pott, and Miss Vicksburg Joan Elizabeth Kinnebrew.

The new Miss Mississippi, a sparkling beauty, whose talents make her the All-American girl, is just plain old "Charlie" to friends in her small northeast Mississippi home.

She was a double preliminary winner in talent and swimsuit along with Miss Pearl River County as they set a double precedent for the 27-year-old beauty pageant.

Dropping formality to present a hilarious "Olive Oyl" routine, Miss Carroll sent the overflow crowd into hysterics. She was called back for three bows, then she went into her routine again.

Miss Carroll, who distributes 130 pounds over a 5-foot-8 tanned figure, was an all-state basketball player for three years. She swims and dives with ease and lists all outdoor sports as her favorite.

Her hostess, Mrs. M. M. Hawkins of Vicksburg, described the new Miss Mississippi this way: "Charlie is such a marvelous girl in every way. I couldn't do a thing for her. She seemed perfectly at home, took care of all her needs, and has had a wonderful time. She doesn't go to the beauty parlor, and uses very little makeup — a naturally beautiful girl."

She now goes into a hectic three days of clothes fitting and press conferences before serving in her first official capacity—an appearance at the Mississippi All Star football game in Jackson on her 19th birthday.

Earlier Saturday night the field of 48 seeking the title was trimmed to the 10 semifinalists, who included all preliminary contest winners.

The other five semifinalists were: Miss Booneville, Jo Ann Owen of New Albany. Miss Hinds Junior College, Sharon Lynne Bearden of Port Gibson. Miss McComb, Patsy Guy of Ruth. Miss Meridian, Harriet Swartztager of Meridian, and Miss Natchez, Ellen Shotwell Custer of Natchez.

British Edict On Flying Of Soblen To U.S. Refused

Rome and Athens. If Soblen were to fly to Zurich, he could transfer there to a flight to Communist Czechoslovakia, which has offered him political asylum.

In the event of Soblen's return to Israel, it is expected he would be arrested. Nevertheless, this would give him time to file an appeal with the Israeli Supreme Court to remain in Israel under that country's "Law of Return."

The law permits any Jew to settle in Israel, but it gives the government the right to refuse persons it considers undesirable. The government did so in Soblen's case earlier.

British authorities, meanwhile, granted Soblen three more days in Britain while they attempted to break the deadlock with El Al.

News that the deadline for his departure had been extended to midnight Wednesday reached Soblen in the hospital wing of Brixton Prison. His lawyers claimed he was in bed and suffering some pain. The Home Office said Brixton's medical officer had examined Soblen and found no change in his condition.

Soblen is said to have leukemia and not have long to live.

There was no explanation from the Home Office why it extended its original order to Israel's El Al Airline, to fly the 61-year-old Lithuanian-born psychiatrist to the United States to serve a life term for espionage. His trip aboard El Al began July 1, when Israel ejected him for passport irregularites.

Israel mantains the British Home Office has no right to give orders for Soblen's removal to a foreign airline. They are declining to fly him home and have protested through diplomatic channels.

London takes the view that El Al brought Soblen here and, since no formal permission was given for him to enter Britain El Al must take him out. Soblen got the trip interrupted by slashing his wrists and abdomen just before the plane landed in London. He had skipped $100,000 bail in New York to flee to Israel.

If El Al sticks to its decision not to carry Soblen out of Britain, a new round of legal battles may develop to delay his departure. The government would need to serve a deportation order to get rid of him by ship or some other airline and that means an application in the courts, which could be fought by Soblen's lawyers.

U.S. Slates Large-Scale War Games

FT. BRAGG, N. C., (UPI) — One of the most extensive peacetime military maneuvers in the nation's history gets underway Monday.

A total of 65,000 men from Army and Air Force bases in 26 states will take part in the war games, which will range over broad sections of North and South Carolina.

The exercise, called "Swift Strike II," a tough, combat-ready outfit headquartered at Macdill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla.

It was established to give America a mobile striking force capable of dealing with "rush-fire" wars on a moment's notice.

Even while the maneuvers are in process the commander of strike, Gen. Paul D. Adams, will be kept informed, via an elaborate communications hookup, of all late developments in the world's trouble spots.

The exercise specifically will test the command's ability to intercede in behalf of a friendly nation to help put down guerrilla activities and aggression from one of its neighbors.

It will involve at least two large airborne assaults, behind the lines forays and latest methods of close air support.

Included in the operation will be the XVIII Airborne Corps and the 82nd Airborne Division of Ft. Bragg; the 101st Airborne Division, Ft. Campbell, Ky.; 1st Infantry Brigade, 1st Infantry Division, Ft. Riely, Kan.; 4th Logistical Command, Ft. Eustis, Va., III Corps, Ft. Hood, Tex., 2nd Infantry Division, Ft. Benning, Ga.; and the 2nd Logistical Command, Ft. Lee, Va.

Wilson Says Wheeler May Stand Trial

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson speculated Saturday that Maynard Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents Corp. of New York, will voluntarily stand trial on state anti-trust charges.

Wheeler was indicted last week along with deposed promoter Billie Sol Estes of Pecos, Tex., whose financial empire crumbled last March with his arrest on federal mortgage fraud charges.

Commercial Solvents provided the fertilizer sold by Estes in widespread operations. The firm also financed Estes' grain storage operations in part.

Wheeler is due to surrender to New York police Monday on the Texas charges that he conspired to fix prices and drive out competition. He could resist extradition from New York but Wilson indicated he did not believe Wheeler will do so.

Wilson made his prediction by telephone while en route from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.

The attorney general also said the indictments of Wheeler and Estes "are most significant in that they serve notice on all of the out-of-state people doing business in Texas that they must comply with the antitrust laws."

Texas courts of inquiry have resulted in testimony that Estes cut prices of fertilizer in an effort to drive out competition. Commercial Solvents executives have testified that the firm sold fertilizer to all buyers at the same price.

Wheeler said in New York City that, "I have never conspired with anyone either to fix prices or to control markets. The accusations against me apparently are based on testimony given at the so-called 'courts-of-inquiry' held in Texas at which the attorney general selected the evidence. And we were not permitted to cross-examine the witnesses or to submit rebuttal evidence on our behalf."

AFTER KNIFE ATTACK

Ex-Convict Slain By Police Decoy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—An ex-convict pulled a knife on a member of the police decoy squad Saturday and was shot to death. The officer was posing as a helpless drunk.

Seven other members of the squad, which roams the most crime-ridden sectors of the city, were closing in on the pair—and listening to their conversation by radio—when George D. Norman, 24, drew the knife and told Patrolman Sanford Sutfin: "This is the end of the line for you, buddy."

Norman had accompanied Sutfin, 25, for four blocks, as the plainclothes officer walked a slightly erratic course. He had professed up to that point to be the officer's friend and protector.

The drama reached its climax when Sutfin said he needed no help and suggested Norman leave him alone. Norman opened the pocket knife.

"The knife was pointed at my stomach," Sutfin said. "I jumped back, reached for my revolver and shouted, 'Hey, drop that knife—I'm a police officer.'

"The man reached for me with the knife. I felt something strike my stomach. I jumped back and toward the right, and fired one shot. He spun around, took two steps and fell on the sidewalk."

Brunette Crowned 'Miss Mississippi'

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) — Charlotte Ann Carroll of Walthall, a regal brunette with talents galore, Saturday night was named Miss Mississippi of 1962.

The tall, shapely (37-23-37) representative of Eupora, her blue eyes gleaming and her lips murmuring "I can't believe it" walked down the ramp to a standing ovation from more than 3,000.

The first alternature was equally popular Georgia Carol Jones of Picayune, who was Miss Pearl River County.

Second alternate was Eva Blaine Sipes, Miss Jackson.

The other finalists were Miss Mississippi State College for Women (MSCW), Jo Helen Pott, and Miss Vicksburg Joan Elizabeth Kinnebrew.

Burglars Hit Friday Night

Both Twin City police departments were investigating breakins or thefts Saturday, but West Monroe was probably hit the hardest when two businesses were burglarized and around $100 taken.

West Monroe Police Chief Jeff Caldwell said that both businesses entered during Friday night or early Saturday morning were located in the 3000 block of North Seventh Street, and an attempt was made on a third neighboring business.

Bill Smith at Bill's Hardware, discovered his establishment broken into when he went to open up for business Saturday morning. Investigating officers found that entrance was gained by forcing the latches on the back door. After entrance, the burglars pried open a locked drawer near a display counter and took approximately $20 and then looted the cash register for another $30.

The second business burglarized was Pete Caldwell's Texaco Station down the street, where $50 was taken from his cash register. However, officers believe a key was used to gain entrance as there was no sign of forcible entrance. However, the burglars did break into a small storage room near the grease rack and force open an empty money box. Nothing else in the station was bothered.

Burglars then apparently attempted to break into Hill's Drug Store, located next door to the furniture store. The building showed pry marks on the door facing.

West Monroe officers were also investigating the theft of a $60 heater that was reported stolen sometime during the past month from James Bryant's home at 104 Sholars St., West Monroe. He reported the theft late Friday night.

Monroe officers were investigating the theft of a box of tools from a Poulan - Wilbanks company truck. The incident was reported by Negro John Canady, of 3812 Church St., who is an employee of the company.

Charges Filed After Slaying

SWEETWATER, Tenn. (UPI)— Murder charges were filed Saturday against Essie Lynn, 43, in the fatal shooting of ex-convict Newton Evans 45.

Evans was killed with one shot from a 22-caliber rifle shortly after midnight at the home of Bill Carter. Sheriff Howard Kirkpatrik said Lynn had gone to the home to pick up Carter's two children, left alone after the sheriff arrested three persons at the house on drunk charges.

"Some kind of argument broke out," the sheriff said. "Lynn claims Evans crowded him back to the car and he shot in self defense."

MISS BETTIE GIBBS selected her back to school accessories from Rhealee Millinery. She chose a travel-wise cloche hat in gold beaver and felt panels designed by Jean Barthet. Her handbag of cut velvet blends with her hat and beige kid gloves. Matching costume jewelry completes her accessory picture. She is a student of Patricia Stevens Modeling School and Northeast State College.

Burglary String Said Cleared By 3 Arrests

A total of 10 burglaries were cleared Saturday by Monroe police, nine of them with the arrest of one Negro and one with apprehension of two Negro juveniles.

The juveniles, both 16, will face action in juvenile court for burglary of King Lumber Company in the 1400 block of Wood St. Friday night. The pair took a 250-pound radiator from the warehouse.

Nine burglaries, spanning from January through July, were charged to Wilma Williams, 37-year-old Negro of 3925 Dunlap St. Williams, a two - time termer from the Angola State Penitentiary, was on parole, according to police.

He was apprehended earlier this past week and after questioning, admitted the break-ins. He is being held in the parish jail.

LAND GIVEAWAY

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — All farmland owned by the Roman Catholic dioceses in Chile is being given to the tenant farmers who have been working it.

Saying the church is making a great sacrifice in giving up its land, Bishop Manuel Larrain of Talca, said some critics have called the step "visionary," but he added:

"To those who criticize and are afraid, I say that the work will be a success precisely because it is not easy. That is the Christian answer."

Burglars Hit Friday Night

Both Twin City police departments were investigating breakins or thefts Saturday, but West Monroe was probably hit the hardest when two businesses were burglarized and around $100 taken.

West Monroe Police Chief Jeff Caldwell said that both businesses entered during Friday night or early Saturday morning were located in the 3000 block of North Seventh Street, and an attempt was made on a third neighboring business.

Bill Smith at Bill's Hardware, discovered his establishment broken into when he went to open up for business Saturday morning. Investigating officers found that entrance was gained by forcing the latches on the back door. After entrance, the burglars pried open a locked drawer near a display counter and took approximately $20 and then looted the cash register for another $30.

The second business burglarized was Pete Caldwell's Texaco Station down the street, where $50 was taken from his cash register. However, officers believe a key was used to gain entrance as there was no sign of forcible entrance. However, the burglars did break into a small storage room near the grease rack and force open an empty money box. Nothing else in the station was bothered.

Burglars then apparently attempted to break into Hill's Drug Store, located next door to the furniture store. The building showed pry marks on the door facing.

West Monroe officers were also investigating the theft of a $60 heater that was reported stolen sometime during the past month from James Bryant's home at 104 Sholars St., West Monroe. He reported the theft late Friday night.

Monroe officers were investigating the theft of a box of tools from a Poulan - Wilbanks company truck. The incident was reported by Negro John Canady, of 3812 Church St., who is an employee of the company.

MISS BETTIE GIBBS selected her back to school accessories from Rhealee Millinery. She chose a travel-wise cloche hat in gold beaver and felt panels designed by Jean Barthet. Her handbag of cut velvet blends with her hat and beige kid gloves. Matching costume jewelry completes her accessory picture. She is a student of Patricia Stevens Modeling School and Northeast State College.

Charges Filed After Slaying

SWEETWATER, Tenn. (UPI)— Murder charges were filed Saturday against Essie Lynn, 43, in the fatal shooting of ex - convict Newton Evans 45.

Evans was killed with one shot from a 22-caliber rifle shortly after midnight at the home of Bill Carter. Sheriff Howard Kirkpatrik said Lynn had gone to the home to pick up Carter's two children, left alone after the sheriff arrested three persons at the house on drunk charges.

"Some kind of argument broke out," the sheriff said. "Lynn claims Evans crowded him back to the car and he shot in self defense."

Burglary String Said Cleared By 3 Arrests

A total of 10 burglaries were cleared Saturday by Monroe police, nine of them with the arrest of one Negro and one with apprehension of two Negro juveniles.

The juveniles, both 16, will face action in juvenile court for burglary of King Lumber Company in the 1400 block of Wood St. Friday night. The pair took a 250-pound radiator from the warehouse.

Nine burglaries, spanning from January through July, were charged to Wilma Williams, 37-year-old Negro of 3925 Dunlap St. Williams, a two - time termer from the Angola State Penitentiary, was on parole, according to police.

He was apprehended earlier this past week and after questioning, admitted the break-ins. He is being held in the parish jail.

LAND GIVEAWAY

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — All farmland owned by the Roman Catholic dioceses in Chile is being given to the tenant farmers who have been working it.

Saying the church is making a great sacrifice in giving up its land, Bishop Manuel Larrain of Talca, said some critics have called the step "visionary," but he added

"To those who criticize and are afraid, I say that the work will be a success precisely because it is not easy. That is the Christian answer....."

Strike Settled At Newspapers In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Equipment was being checked and staff members were being called back to work Saturday in preparation for publication Tuesday of the first issues of the morning Minneapolis Tribune and the evening Star since April 12.

Way for resumption of publication was cleared Friday night when members of the Teamsters Union voted to accept a new contract providing for a pay increase of 26 cents an hour over the next two years. The average scale before the walkout was $2.89 per hour.

The Teamsters Union was the last of five on strike to reach an agreement with the company. About 1,600 full-time workers were made idle by the long strike.

Publication of the Minneapolis Herald will continue, said Publisher Maurice McCaffrey. The Herald was launched May 1 and has published evenings Monday through Friday. McCaffrey said the newspaper has 150,000 circulation. The Herald has operated without a major news service, through McCaffrey has announced plans to seek one.

Ired Ceylonese Group Leaves Reds' Festival

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The Ceylonese delegation to the Communist-sponsored youth festival here split Saturday and its non-Communist members left the festival. They charged they were being exploited for cold war politics.

While Soviet cosmonaut Yuri A. Gagarin was being given a triumphant welcome by a crowd of 15,000 delegates, a news conference at a restaurant a few blocks away was being told about the first serious split in the Communist-run show.

Hema Dabare, 38, justice of the peace in Colombo and leader of the official 101-member Ceylonese delegation, announced that 44 non-Communist members of the delegation had decided to withdraw. He said the reason was that Communist members of the delegation had been given more favorable treatment.

ACTIVE DUTY OVER

Wisconsin Fetes GIs Upon Return

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (AP)—An estimated 10,000 persons in a holiday mood jammed Main Street in this southwestern Wisconsin community of 6,000 Saturday in a salute to men of the 32nd Infantry Division returning from active federal duty.

Highlight of the day's program was a parade along the one-mile route. There were helmeted members of the division, tanks and weapons carriers and two dozen white convertibles carrying local and state dignitaries. Six general officers and Gov. Gaylord Nelson reviewed the festivities.

The day started with heavy overcast skies but the clouds cleared soon after the parade started. From then on, a sunny Fourth of July atmosphere prevailed.

Platteville was chosen by the Army to symbolize the return to their home towns of 10,000 members of the Red Arrow Division called to active duty 10 months ago at the height of the Berlin crisis.

"These happy welcome home ceremonies in Platteville and in the other 370 National Guard communities are not marred by sorrow for any who gave their lives in battle," Maj. Gen. D. W. McGowan, chief of the National Guard Bureau told the throng at City Park following the parade. "Rather the service these guardsmen performed prevented a war and the nation is grateful to them."

Center of attention in the parade were the 124 men of Platteville's Combat Support Company, 2nd Battle Group, 128th Infantry. They had ben detached from service at Ft. Lewis, Wash., a week early to prepare for Saturday's program.

The convertibles carried village presidents and city mayors from the 18 surrounding communities that contributed men to the battle group.

Capt. Frank Doescher, the unit commander who now goes back to his jobs as a state petroleum inspector and city alderman, took cognizance of the new civilian status of his men. He told his citizen-soldiers: "This is a new order — sit down." The crowd roared.

Gov. Nelson told the members of the unit that the 32nd had been "chosen for this job because of its combat readiness and because you are the best."

"Each one of you contributed more than your share to the strong posture of the United States," Nelson added.

The featured speaker was Carlisle P. Runge, who as assistant secretary of defense for manpower played a major role in calling the division to activie duty. He is now a University of Wisconsin official.

The training at Ft. Lewis, Runge said, had "forged and tempered the 32nd into an integrated striking force of complete professional proficiency."

The events were recorded by nationwide television and radio outlets.

Guard members were guests at a welcome home luncheon at Platteville State College Student Union. A community dance in their honor was held Saturday.

The Tech student, Sandy Dean, has been awarded $100 and a scholarship to the Intercollegiate School of Alcohol Studies to be held at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 25-30.

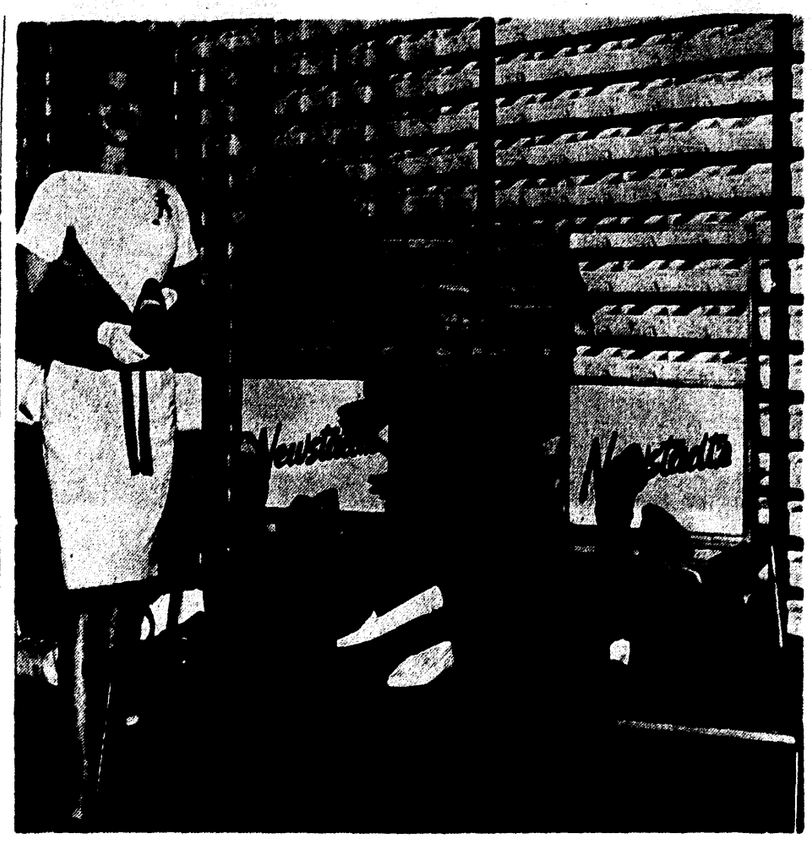

Miss Dean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Dean of 116 Pope Street in Monroe. This fall she will be a senior at Tech, where she is majoring in interior designing.

Her scholarship to the Canadian university provides for room and meals.

The subject for the essay contest was "College Drinking Rules Are They Accomplishing Their Purpose?" A total of $2,000 in awards was offered.

The awards are made possible by a foundation established by the late Logan H. Roberts of Yakima, Wash., and his son, Donald. The senior Roberts helpted to organize the Intercollegiate Assn. for the Study of the Alcohol Problem about 1900.

FAA Rejects Airlines Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency rejected an Eastern Air Lines plan Saturday for qualifying some of its pilots as flight engineers and laid down a basic formula under which such training should be conducted.

The move apparently shifted the 43-year-old strike of flight engineers against Eastern Air Lines back to dead center and left the next move in the dispute up to the company.

Malcolm MacIntyre, Eastern president, is scheduled to meet with Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg on Monday.

N. E. Halaby, federal aviation administrator, notified MacIntyre of the turndown of his plan for qualifying pilots to fill the vacant engineers posts in a letter dated Saturday. Copies were made available to newsmen.

At the same time the FAA issued a policy statement laying down guidelines to govern any program for training flight engineers for jet aircraft.

The dispute stems from a planned reduction in crews manning jet airliners from the present three pilots and a flight engineer to two pilots and a third man who has had both pilot and engineer training.

The question of wether members of the Air Line Pilots Association or the International Association of Flight Engineers, both AFL-CIO, are to get the third job has arisen on most major carriers. So far, Trans World Airlines and Pan American World Airways have accepted a plan advanced by Goldberg giving flight engineers preference for the third seat.

Eastern rejected the plan and proposed to the FAA a speeded-up program to qualify some of its pilots as flight engineers.

The FAA said a total of 60 hours instruction as flight engineers was necessary after they had met certain basic requirements. The company had proposed 24 hours training.

44 Exposed To Disease In Isolation

LONDON (UPI) — Forty-four persons waited in isolation and tension behind closed doors today to see if they caught the dread disease that already has killed one British scientist.

The 44 were those who came in close contact with Geoffrey Bacon, 44, a germ warfare expert who died Wednesday of pneumonic plague following experiments at the government's super-secret Microbiological Research Center (MBE) in southern England.

Medical experts said those who were exposed must wait eight days to know if they caught the plague from Bacon. Thus far, authorities said all of Bacon's known contacts were free of the disease.

"If no further cases of the disease appear by Aug. 12, the chances of it spreading will then be extremely remote," the director of the research center said.

Authorities hospitalized 30 persons who came in contact with Bacon before he was stricken last Sunday with the pulmonary variation of the "black plague," or bubonic plague, which killed millions of persons in Europe in the Middle Ages. Twelve others, including Bacon's wife and two children, were under observation at home. Two others, the daughters of a meteorological officer at the research station who are now in Al Adem, Libya, were confined there. All are under strict quarantine and all are being treated with preventive medicine.

Bacon was a scientist at the MBE, located in Porton, a town near Salisbury southwest of London. The MBE is the British government's germ warfare center.

DISARMAMENT TALKS

Chief Delegates Back In Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—Chief delegates from the United States and Britain returned to the Geneva disarmament talks Saturday for another atempt to talk the Soviet Union into signing a treaty banning nuclear tests throughout the world.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean and British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber brought from their respective capitals a new Western compromise gesture aimed at overcoming Soviet objections to international policing of a test ban agreement.

Soviet opposition to international controls has held up progress on a test ban since they began discussing the idea four years ago.

Dean and Godber declined to reveal any details of the new Western offer but President Kennedy announced last Wednesday its basic outlines. He insisted on a test ban agreement calling for international on-site inspections of possible nuclear blasts on the territory of all nuclear powers, coupled with nationally manned control stations for the detection of suspicious seismic shocks.

The new Western proposals are to be submitted to the 17-nation disarmament conference early next week. But Western and neutralist conference sources expressed scant optimism that they would lead to any disarmament progress soon, if at all.

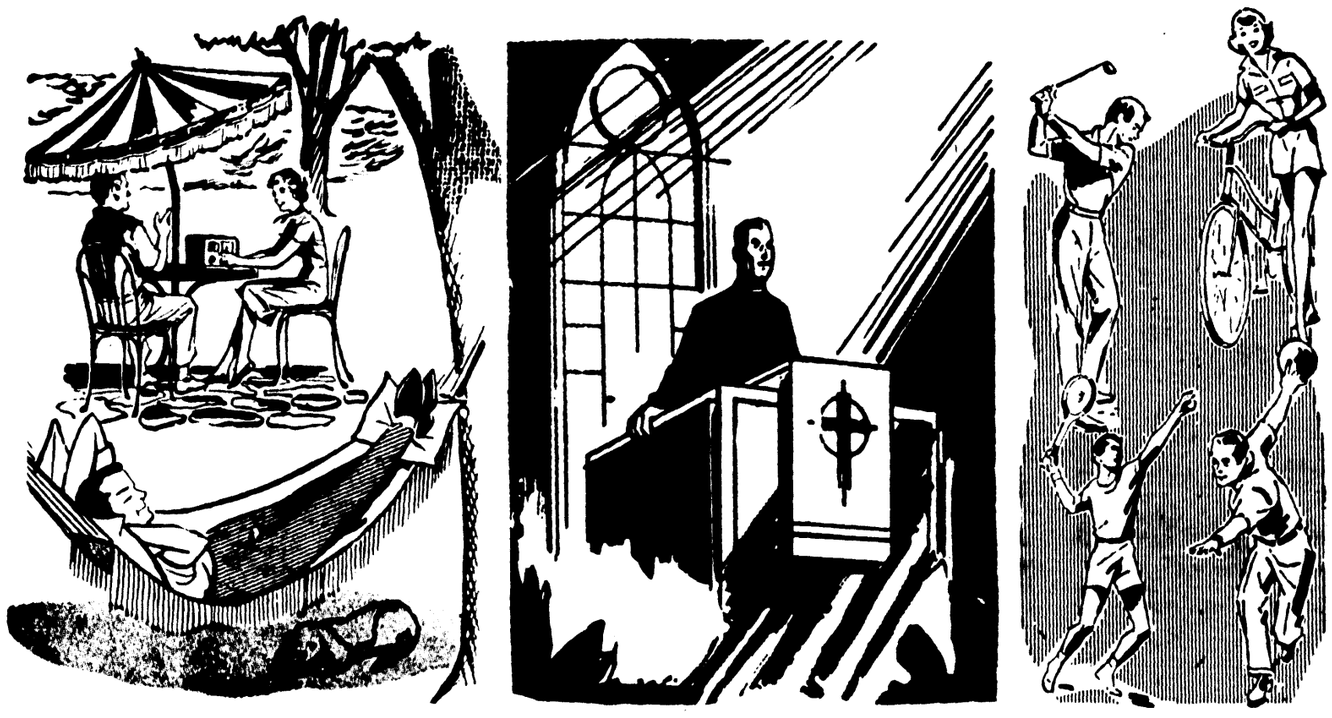

They pointed out that the Russians have refused to budge from their resistance to on-site inspections and predicted the Soviet position would remain unchanged even though the Western powers offer to grant Moscow one of its own conditions to a test ban treaty. This is the Soviet demand that scientific stations built throughout the world to detect underground atomic blasts are staffed from the countries in which they are located.

But the new Western proposals do not give in on the Soviet demand for on-site inspections by invitation only. The Russians took these two points — nationally manned detection stations and inspection by invitation—from proposals submitted to the conference by its eight neutral members, and have declined to discuss a test ban on any other conditions.

ACTIVE DUTY OVER

Wisconsin Fetes GIs Upon Return

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (AP)—An estimated 10,000 persons in a holiday mood jammed Main Street in this southwestern Wisconsin community of 6,000 Saturday in a salute to men of the 32nd Infantry Division returning from active federal duty.

Highlight of the day's program was a parade along the one-mile route. There were helmeted members of the division, tanks and weapons carriers and two dozen white convertibles carrying local and state dignitaries. Six general officers and Gov. Gaylord Nelson reviewed the festivities.

The day started with heavy overcast skies but the clouds cleared soon after the parade started. From then on, a sunny Fourth of July atmosphere prevailed.

Platteville was chosen by the Army to symbolize the return to their home towns of 10,000 members of the Red Arrow Division called to active duty 10 months ago at the height of the Berlin crisis.

"These happy welcome home ceremonies in Platteville and in the other 370 National Guard communities are not marred by sorrow for any who gave their lives in battle," Maj. Gen. D. W. McGowan, chief of the National Guard Bureau told the throng at City Park following the parade. "Rather the service these guardsmen performed prevented a war and the nation is grateful to them."

Center of attention in the parade were the 124 men of Platteville's Combat Support Company, 2nd Battle Group, 128th Infantry. They had ben detached from service at Ft. Lewis, Wash., a week early to prepare for Saturday's program.

The convertibles carried village presidents and city mayors from the 18 surrounding communities that contributed men to the battle group.

Capt. Frank Doescher, the unit commander who now goes back to his jobs as a state petroleum inspector and city alderman, took cognizance of the new civilian status of his men. He told his citizen-soldiers: "This is a new order — sit down." The crowd roared.

Gov. Nelson told the members of the unit that the 32nd had been "chosen for this job because of its combat readiness and because you are the best."

"Each one of you contributed more than your share to the strong posture of the United States." Nelson added.

The featured speaker was Carlisle P. Runge, who as assistant secretary of defense for manpower played a major role in calling the division to activie duty. He is now a University of Wisconsin official.

The training at Ft. Lewis, Runge said, had "forged and tempered the 32nd into an integrated striking force of complete professional proficiency."

The events were recorded by nationwide television and radio outlets.

Cuba Firing Squad Slays 2

HAVANA (UPI) — The Castro government today charged the United States with new "violations" of Cuban air space and announced the execution of two more "counter - revolutionaries" by a firing squad.

Maj. Raul Castro's armed forces ministry claimed that a total of 13 American planes violated Cuba's air space 10 times last Thursday. This raised the total of such alleged actions since last July 1 to 87, the ministry said.

Thursday's illegal American flights took place between 5:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., the ministry said, but gave no further details.

News of the execution of the two anti-Castro rebels was published in the government - controlled press, and announced in radio broadcasts. They were identified as Robert Isaac Mendieta and Epifanio Armelio Ramallo Guerra.

A revolutionary tribunal found the two men guilty of killing Army Cpl. Israel Torres last July 13 and sentenced them to death, the government said.

The place of their execution was not given and the announcement indicated only that it was carried out within the past few days.

Two other men allegedly involved in Torres' killing are still being sought, the announcement added.

Meanwhile the government announced that henceforth revolutionary tribunals will have jurisdiction over all cases involving "counter - revolutionary crimes" involving military personnel as well as civilians.

The announcement appeared to mean that army courts martial would no longer have any responsibility in judging such cases.

Doting Mother Scheduled To Die

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A doting mother is scheduled to die Wednesday because she couldn't bear to share her son with another woman.

If the courts don't interfere, Elizabeth Ann (Ma) Duncan will be executed in San Quentin prison's gas chamber three hours before two young killers she hired to get rid of her pregnant daughter-in-law.

At 58, the much-married Mrs. Duncan still protests she had nothing to do with the November 1958 murder of Olga Duncan, 30, a Canadian-born nurse.

But Augustine Baldonado, 28, and Luis Moya, 23, say she promised them $6,000 and actually paid $360 for the death of the bride of her beloved youngest son, Frank.

Baldonado and Moya expect to die for kidnaping, pistol whipping, beating, choking and burying Olga Duncan in a shallow grave beside a Ventura County road. Nobody knows whether Olga was alive or dead when she was buried.

Ma Duncan doesn't expect to go to the gas chamber Wednesday.

Twice federal courts have postponed her execution—the Supreme Court in June 1960 and the Appellate Court in San Francisco in August 1961.

Her attorneys—they include her son Frank, now 33 and remarried—are trying again.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown turned down a clemency plea last Thursday. A few hours later the California Supreme Court refused a stay of execution and a writ of habeas corpus.

She would become the fourth women to die in the 25-year-old gas chamber. Juanita (The Duchess) Spinelli, 52, a gang leader, was executed in 1941; Louise Peete Judson, sixtyish and secretive about her age, in 1947; and Barbara Graham, 33, gang moll, in 1955.

Ma Duncan, a onetime San Francisco madam, is the most tempestuous of the lot.

Her four-week trial was so sensational that would-be spectators bought and sold places in line in the corridor of the Ventura courthouse where vendors peddled hamburgers at inflated prices.

Witnesses testified:

Ma Duncan went to pieces when her son married. She got her boy home again after two weeks of marriage. Thereafter he shuttled back and forth like a yo-yo, trying to keep bride and mother happy.

Ma shopped for hired killers. She favored acid in the face and choking or pushing her daughter-in-law off a cliff.

With a hired impersonator she went into Superior Court, posing as Frank and Olga, and obtained an annullment of the June 1958 marriage.

Ma shouted denials to most of the testimony. But she admitted being married so many times she could remember the names of only 11 of her husbands, serving a jail sentence for running a San Francisco bordello, and assorted minor law-breaking. She said she looked on Frank, youngest of her five children, as her baby.

None of the half dozen attorneys who have tried to save her life argued that she was innocent. Their latest plea says she consumed so many barbiturates in jail she didn't know what was happening during her trial.

It was an overdose of barbiturates that started the whole thing. Frank met his first wife, then nurse Olga Kupczyk, when he took his mother to a Santa Barbara hospital because she had taken an overdose of sleeping pills.

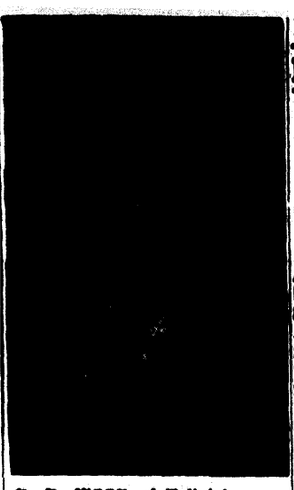

Baldonado and Moya are scheduled to die three hours after Mrs. Duncan because the gas chamber will hold only two.

LEGAL ABORTION

Mrs. Finkbine May Face Sweden Wait

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — An official of the state medical board said Saturday that Mrs. Sherri Finkbine may have to wait six to eight weeks for an abortion in Sweden, unless she can prove there is an emergency such as mental illness.

Dr. Karl Inger Oester, head of the abortion bureau, said that even where there is an emergency, the medical board would take at least a week to clear up the preliminaries and authorize an abortion.

(When told of this before leaving Los Angeles for Stockholm, Mrs. Finkbine's husband Robert said:

("We're just asking to be giving the same consideration as anyone else. They can't give us a 100 per cent assurance. But we're going anyway.")

Dr. Oester carefully clarified the Swedish position in regard to abortion in cases such as that of the 30-year-old American television actress who fears her child may be born deformed because she took the sedative thalidomide.

He stressed that Mrs. Finkbine will be treated in exactly the same way as any other woman—Swedish or foreign—who seeks abortion in Sweden.

Dr. Oester said Mrs. Finkbine will have to be examined by a Swedish doctor, probably at the Caroline Institute. On the basis of this examination the institute will decide whether, in its opinion, there is a case for abortion.

If the decision is affirmative, Mrs. Finkbine will be advised to apply to the state medical board, which will consider the medical evidence in the light of Swedish law. The section which was used in two previous thalidomide cases permits abortion where the mother may suffer severe mental or physical anguish.

Dr. Oester said the board was not likely to grant an abortion simply on the allegation that a baby might be deformed by thalidomide.

FOR HIRED SLAYING

Doting Mother Scheduled To Die

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A doting mother is scheduled to die Wednesday because she couldn't bear to share her son with another woman.

If the courts don't interfere, Elizabeth Ann (Ma) Duncan will be executed in San Quentin prison's gas chamber three hours before two young killers she hired to get rid of her pregnant daughter-in-law.

At 58, the much-married Mrs. Duncan still protests she had nothing to do with the November 1958 murder of Olga Duncan, 30, a Canadian-born nurse.

But Augustine Baldonado, 28, and Luis Moya, 23, say she promised them $6,000 and actually paid $360 for the death of the bride of her beloved youngest son, Frank.

Baldonado and Moya expect to die for kidnaping, pistol whipping, beating, choking and burying Olga Duncan in a shallow grave beside a Ventura County road. Nobody knows whether Olga was alive or dead when she was buried.

Ma Duncan doesn't expect to go to the gas chamber Wednesday.

Twice federal courts have postponed her execution—the Supreme Court in June 1960 and the Appellate Court in San Francisco in August 1961.

Her attorneys—they include her son Frank, now 33 and remarried—are trying again.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown turned down a clemency plea last Thursday. A few hours later the California Supreme Court refused a stay of execution and a writ of habeas corpus.

She would become the fourth women to die in the 25-year-old gas chamber. Juanita (The Duchess) Spinelli, 52, a gang leader, was executed in 1941; Louise Peete Judson, sixtyish and secretive about her age, in 1947; and Barbara Graham, 33, gang moll, in 1955.

Ma Duncan, a onetime San Francisco madam, is the most tempestuous of the lot.

Her four-week trial was so sensational that would-be spectators bought and sold places in line in the corridor of the Ventura courthouse where vendors peddled hamburgers at inflated prices.

Witnesses testified:

Ma Duncan went to pieces when her son married. She got her boy home again after two weeks of marriage. Thereafter he shuttled back and forth like a yo-yo, trying to keep bride and mother happy.

Ma shopped for hired killers. She favored acid in the face and choking or pushing her daughter-in-law off a cliff.

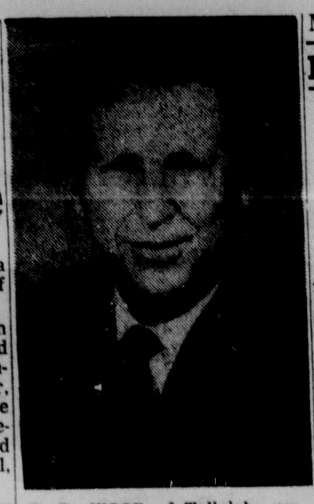

With a hired impersonator she went into Superior Court, posing as Frank and Olga, and obtained an annullment of the June 1958 marriage.

Ma shouted denials to most of the testimony. But she admitted being married so many times she could remember the names of only 11 of her husbands, serving a jail sentence for running a San Francisco bordello, and assorted minor law-breaking. She said she looked on Frank, youngest of her five children, as her baby.

None of the half dozen attorneys who have tried to save her life argued that she was innocent. Their latest plea says she consumed so many barbiturates in jail she didn't know what was happening during her trial.

It was an overdose of barbiturates that started the whole thing. Frank met his first wife, then nurse Olga Kupczyk, when he took his mother to a Santa Barbara hospital because she had taken an overdose of sleeping pills.

Baldonado and Moya are scheduled to die three hours after Mrs. Duncan because the gas chamber will hold only two.

D. D. WOOD of Tallulah, governor of District 619 of Rotary International will make his official visit to the West Monroe Rotary club Tuesday, according to Rotary president Dr. Fred Crenshaw. He will address the West Monroe Rotarians at their regular meeting Highland Park Country Club. Crenshaw said a conference for club officers and all committee chairman will be held at the club at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday with Governor Wood presiding. Wood was elected to his office at Rotary's 53rd annual convention in Los Angeles last June and supervises the activities of 25 clubs in North Louisiana.

LEGAL ABORTION

Mrs. Finkbine May Face Sweden Wait

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — An official of the state medical board said Saturday that Mrs. Sherri Finkbine may have to wait six to eight weeks for an abortion in Sweden, unless she can prove there is an emergency such as mental illness.

Dr. Karl Inger Oester, head of the abortion bureau, said that even where there is an emergency, the medical board would take at least a week to clear up the preliminaries and authorize an abortion.

(When told of this before leaving Los Angeles for Stockholm, Mrs. Finkbine's husband Robert said:

("We're just asking to be giving the same consideration as anyone else. They can't give us a 100 per cent assurance. But we're going anyway.")

Dr. Oester carefully clarified the Swedish position in regard to abortion in cases such as that of the 30-year-old American television actress who fears her child may be born deformed because she took the sedative thalidomide.

He stressed that Mrs. Finkbine will be treated in exactly the same way as any other woman—Swedish or foreign—who seeks abortion in Sweden.

Dr. Oester said Mrs. Finkbine will have to be examined by a Swedish doctor, probably at the Caroline Institute. On the basis of this examination the institute will decide whether, in its opinion, there is a case for abortion.

If the decision is affirmative, Mrs. Finkbine will be advised to apply to the state medical board, which will consider the medical evidence in the light of Swedish law. The section which was used in two previous thalidomide cases permits abortion where the mother may suffer severe mental or physical anguish.

Dr. Oester said the board was not likely to grant an abortion simply on the allegation that a baby might be deformed by thalidomide.

Cuba Firing Squad Slays 2

HAVANA (UPI) — The Castro government today charged the United States with new "violations" of Cuban air space and announced the execution of two more "counter - revolutionaries" by a firing squad.

Maj. Raul Castro's armed forces ministry claimed that a total of 13 American planes violated Cuba's air space 10 times last Thursday. This raised the total of such alleged actions since last July 1 to 87, the ministry said.

Thursday's illegal American flights took place between 5:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., the ministry said, but gave no further details.

News of the execution of the two anti-Castro rebels was published in the government - controlled press, and announced in radio broadcasts. They were identified as Robert Isaac Mendieta and Epifanio Armelio Ramallo Guerra.

A revolutionary tribunal found the two men guilty of killing Army Cpl. Israel Torres last July 13 and sentenced them to death, the government said.

The place of their execution was not given and the announcement indicated only that it was carried out within the past few days.

Two other men allegedly involved in Torres' killing are still being sought, the announcement added.

Meanwhile the government announced that henceforth revolutionary tribunals will have jurisdiction over all cases involving "counter - revolutionary crimes" in volving military personnel as well as civilians.

The announcement appeared to mean that army courts martial would no longer have any responsibility in judging such cases.

A JAPANESE temple and Korean fishing vessels were among the many scenes photographed by West Monroyan Oliver Lenard during his military career.

Second Career

Oliver Lenard, night desk sergeant with the West Monroe Police Department, is well under way on a second career, after a globe girdling career with the military, extending through two wars. He took an active part in the early atomic bomb testing in the South Pacific, and served in a variety of assignments. Now he's concentrating on police work and has lots of plans.

By RICHARD TYLER
Staff Writer

The night desk sergeant for the West Monroe Police Department is an unassuming man. He need not be.

Boasting a long and literally globe-girdling career, stretching from the so-called Japanese "Alps" to those of Bavaria, 40 year old Oliver Lenard is qualified by experience to speak with authority on many subjects.

When he rang down the curtain on 20 years with the U. S. Army and retired April 1, he already was well along with a second career in police work

It's his first love.

CONCURRENT SERVICE

Lenard has been on the West Monroe force for just over two years now, most of it running concurrently with his service time, and that's no easy trick.

Until his retirement and over the past two years, the officer's Army assignment was as an instructor with the Reserve Officers' Training Corps battalion at Northeast Louisiana State College. His schedule entailed duty on campus from about 8 in the morning until 2 in the afternoon, after which, not counting a few brief hours for sleep and things of the sort, he reported for work at 10 a.m. at police headquarters.

The job there, principally booking offenders, maintaining radio logs, and receiving and dispatching transmissions, kept him until 6 a.m., six days a week. From there, it was a bite to eat, a double handful of cold water in the face, and back to school.

Needless to say, such a regimen left little time for the luxuries, with most of the spare moments consumed in changing from one uniform into another.

But that's all changed now. At least for the time being, it's a steady diet of police work.

And, that's an area in which the West Monroe-born sergeant knows well enough what he's doing. He should — he goes with book in hand on most occasions. (His latest study - The Louisiana Civil Code.)

Though the eight hours a day he puts in these days would seem normal enough, it's a deceptive appearance. Outside research and writing on the side occupy more hours of Lenard's time, in a continuing search for professional betterment.

A perennial student and a highly qualified instructor as well, the legacy of 20 years in the military, Lenard's already compiled and put in form for publication a procedural manual designed specifically for the operation of the West Monroe force. In addition, he's volunteered his services in the instruction of several classes of both auxiliary and regular officers in such subjects as "The Law of Arrest, Search and Seizure," and "The Role of the Auxiliary Officer in Event of Emergency."

Impressively knowledgeable, his lesson plans as well as his conversation bristle with the anecdote and idiom of the four corners of the globe, the hallmarks of a rich and varied background. The more exotic spots of the world, often in today's news, many of the meaningful events in current history, all seem somehow to take on a personal significance.

TWO WARS

Japan, Korea and Gemany during two wars, the South Pacific and Bikini Atoll for an active part in the first atomic bomb testing there, installations scattered across the United States—you name it and Lenard's been there, though he's not the type to volunteer the information. About equally expansive as his travels has been the multiplicity and wealth of special training skills acquired along the way. The military years have held study in theory and practice in practically every aspect and adjunct of the service imaginable.

Lenard's service has been with the Army Air Corps, the Counter Intelligence Corps, the Criminal Investigation Division, Artillery, Infantry, the Military Police, Operations, Plans and Training, ect. He's attended the Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterery, Calif., to study Japanese; the United States Armed Forces Institute at Madison, Wis (for credits in criminology); Washington State University (while awaiting pre-flight training early in his career); as well as the Army's Artillery School at Fort Sill, Okla., Officer Candidate School, Fort Riley, Kan., the Provost Marshal General's School (military police) at Fort Gordon, Ga., and the Army Air Corps' Radio Operator-Mechanic School, St. Louis, Mo.

Mentioned earlier as a man of a well - diversified intellectual bent, Lenard's also read some law with the LaSalle Extension University of Chicago, Ill., and presently is pursuing a course of study in Civil and Criminal Investigation and Fingerprint Classification and Filing from the Institute of Applied Science, also at Chicago. He plans to enter Northeast Louisiana State College at an early date to complete a degree in Sociology on which he's already attained some correspondence credits from the University of Maryland. Almost as an afterthought, he's a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School.

VARIOUS INTERESTS

Hardly less kaleidoscopic have been his pursuits in relatively brief flings at civilian life. Besides twice working with the West Monroe force, Lenard has done stints on two occasions at the paper mill in West Monroe here, had a try at business management as owner and operator of a laundry and dry cleaners ("This was not my cup of tea.") and, evidently a natural for federal service, worked for a time as an inspector for the Immigration and Naturalization Service at a small town in Texas called Sierra Blanca.

He's been in and out of the Army now on three occasions, released voluntarily from active duty first in 1945 and a second time in December, 1954, at Fort Hamilton, N.Y. It didn't "take" in either instance, however, the first separation lasting but three months. The second time, early in 1956, a chance meeting in El Paso with several artillery officers with whom he had served previously caused "the call of the Service to beckon" again.

All in all, a thorough-going chronology reads rather like a modern-day Odyssey.

HIGH SPOTS

Hitting the high spots, it all started back in mid-1939, when, working at the paper mill, Lenard was doing part-time soldiering as a member of the 156th Infantry Reg., then the local National Guard unit. (It was re-organized late in 1940 as the 204th Coast Artillery.) He got the jump on World War II when the unit was inducted into federal service in January of 1941 and sent to Camp Hulen, Tex., for a year of military training.

The outbreak of hostilities in December of the same year extended the "one year" magically into four and Lenard found himself in San Diego, Calif., ostensibly to provide anti-aircraft protection for aircraft plants and a big naval base located there.

By October, 1943, he had transferred to the Army Air Corps (the U.S. air arm didn't gain independance as a separate branch until some two years later). Preflight training was at Santa Ana, Calif., primary training at Thunderbird Field near Phoenix, Ariz., basic training at Tucson's Marana Field, and advanced and tactical flight training split between the Bakerfield (Calif.) Field and Williams Field, also near Phoenix.

While at Phoenix, the war ended and with it the first phase of Lenard's life in the service. But not for long.

BACK IN SERVICE

Three months more at the mill and he was back in the Air Corps, the time by now being late in 1945, and the place, Barksdale Field, Shreveport. Summer of 1946 brought Bikini Atoll in the Marshall Islands and about five months of weather missions as radio operator in "Project Crossroads" (the first A-bomb tests in the Pacific Ocean.)

OCS followed, from October, 1947, to April, 1948, and Artillery School, from then until January of 1949.

A "brand new second lieutenant," Lenard was sent immediately to Japan and theatre-detailed to the Military Police Corps. He saw duty with the Criminal Investigation Division of that branch in the northern city of Sendai, but came back in April of 1950 to Yokohama and the 519th MP battalion, just prior to the "police action" in Korea in June.

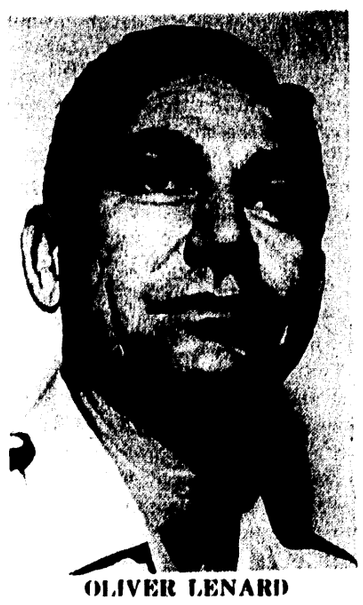

'BAPTISM OF FIRE'

"As a member of the First Cavalry Division, Custer's old outfit, our unit received its 'baptism of fire' in July, less than 30 days after the beginning of the conflict," recalls Lenard.

Korea for him lasted until August, 1951, when, by now a captain, he came back to Tokyo and duty with the 720th MP Bn. Coming stateside in November, Lenard became an artillery battery commander at Fort Polk.

Language and advanced artillery schools were next and, subsequently, in 1953, assignment in Bavaria, at Augsburg, Germany, as headquarters commandant with the 963rd Field Artillery Bn.

Here ended the second military phase of Lenard's career, to be followed by the apprenticeships in the dry cleaning business, with the West Monroe PD and as an immigration inspector.

OLIVER LENARD

When the "call of the service beckoned again," however, it was back to the Orient, specifically to Korea, and to move "off the beaten track" endeavors in the form of confidential investigations with the Counter Intelligence Corps.

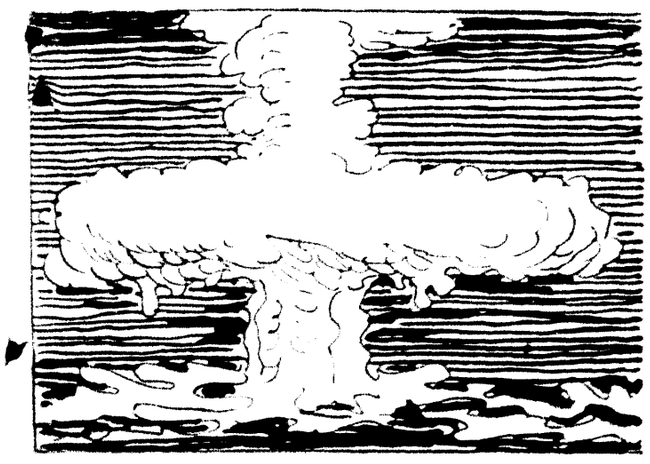

Lenard returned from Korea in October, 1958, for the three-month PMG School at Fort Gordon, going from there into more Military Police work at Fort Benning, Ga. He came as an instructor in military science to Northeast in July, 1959, and ultimately to retirement last April 1.

But, he points out, he's nobody's "April Fool."

More settled now, Lenard leads a quiet life, comparatively, at his Walters Street home with his "grammar school and high school sweetheart," the former Florice Lee, and their three sons, DeWaine, 16, Terry, 12, and six-year-old Armand.

He saw duty with the Criminal Investigation Division of that branch in the northern city of Sendai, but came back in April of 1950 to Yokohama and the 519th MP battalion, just prior to the "police action" in Korea in June.

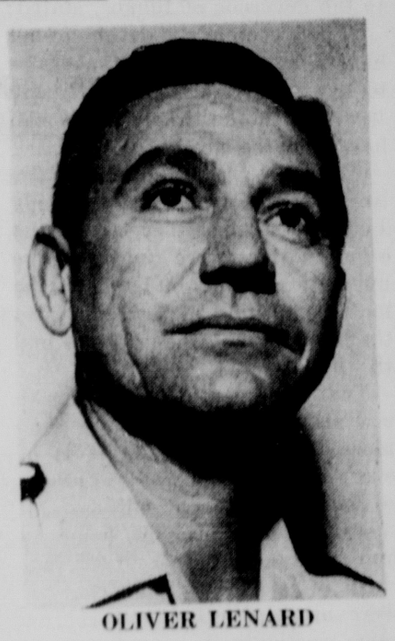

'BAPTISM OF FIRE'

"As a member of the First Cavalry Division, Custer's old outfit, our unit received its 'baptism of fire' in July, less than 30 days after the beginning of the conflict," recalls Lenard.

Korea for him lasted until August, 1951, when, by now a captain, he came back to Tokyo and duty with the 720th MP Bn. Coming stateside in November, Lenard became an artillery battery commander at Fort Polk.

Language and advanced artillery schools were next and, subsequently, in 1953, assignment in Bavaria, at Augsburg, Germany, as headquarters commandant with the 963rd Field Artillery Bn.

Here ended the second military phase of Lenard's career, to be followed by the apprenticeships in the dry cleaning business, with the West Monroe PD and as an immigration inspector.

OLIVER LENARD

When the "call of the service beckoned again," however, it was back to the Orient, specifically to Korea, and to move "off the beaten track" endeavors in the form of confidential investigations with the Counter Intelligence Corps.

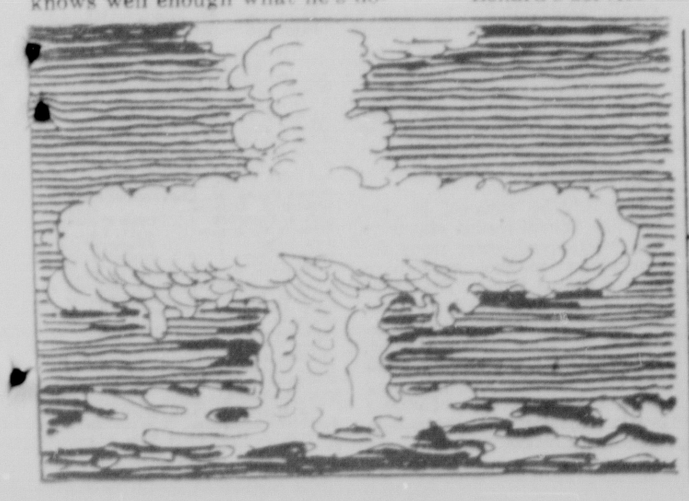

Lenard returned from Korea in October, 1958, for the three-month PMG School at Fort Gordon, going from there into more Military Police work at Fort Benning, Ga. He came as an instructor in military science to Northeast in July, 1959, and ultimately to retirement last April 1.

But, he points out, he's nobody's "April Fool."

More settled now, Lenard leads a quiet life, comparatively, at his Walters Street home with his "grammar school and high school sweetheart," the former Florice Lee, and their three sons, DeWaine, 16, Terry, 12, and six-year-old Armand.

Prayer Resolution

A resolution of "the strongest language . . . lawyers can recommend" will be introduced in the United States house of representatives "to make it clear to the supreme court that prayer must be recognized in the public schools of this country," according to a statement by Representative Clifford Davis, D., Tenn.

Davis, who is seeking re-election to his 12th term in congress, said:

"The day I return to Washington after the primary election I shall introduce such a resolution.

"Our nation is known over the world as a country founded in a belief and respect for God Almighty. The house of representatives and the United States senate is opened at noon with a prayer offered by a chaplain selected by a vote of the membership of each house. The chaplain gives his full time to the needs of the membership when requested."

Davis pointed out that the supreme court is opened at each session with these final words: "And God bless this court."

It is difficult to see how it could be more unconstitutional to say prayers in schools or to read the Bible there than to call upon God, at each session, to bless the supreme court.

Davis said some lawyers had advised him that, under the strictest rules of legal precedence, the high court's ruling barring the reading of prayers in public schools was correct. The truth of such statements is doubtful. The intention of the drafters of the United States constitution to provide for recognition of and reverence for God in official state and federal institutions and bodies is indisputable. That intent forms the basis for the customs of referring to God in the administering of oaths in court and on taking office and of the custom of opening sessions of legislatures and congress with prayer.

The supreme court seemed to strain for a technical basis for its decision and to ignore the intent of the very instrument on which it allegedly based its ruling — the United States constitution.

Congressman Davis added:

"But this country, now having the responsibility of moral leadership for the rest of the world, must go beyond the narrow dotting of the I's and the crossing of the T's and we must remember that the founding fathers all believed in the power of God and sought His help in drawing the Bill of Rights and the constitution of our country."

As most people see it, the supreme court decision outlawed official recognition of God in state and federal functions. This, in effect, is what Russia has done in declaring itself, as far as the government is concerned, a Godless country.

Justifying His Life

A Chicago Negro facing execution for a murder committed during a $20,000 robbery, in a letter to the governor of Illinois, stated:

"I am completely devoid of all human motives except the desire to live so that I may justify my life and the faith of those who have done so much for me."

Although the statement of the Negro, Paul Crump, was true only during the emergency as far as other motives were concerned, he unknowingly put into words the most compelling motive known to the human race—the desire to justify his life.

That statement by Crump, who was about to die, probably was no more true of him than it is of every human being who has reached the age of accountability——although it was brought home to him more poignantly.

All of us like to think that we were brought into the world for some worthy purpose and that we have justified our existence here. Everyone who strives for power or fame or wealth or Godliness, everyone who is satisfied if he can do as well as the average and everyone who is able to obtain only the barest necessities of life hopes that when his life's course has been run it will not have been in vain.

Crump's case has attracted wide attention because of the fact that he escaped execution for nine years. When he was only 10 steps and three days away from the electric chair attorneys dueled for his life at a clemency hearing. The Illinois parole and pardon board heard six and one-half hours of testimony and argument on a petition to save the muscular Negro from execution.

The conflict centered on a claim that the 32-year-old Crump had been rehabilitated during his nine years in the Cook county jail, and the counter-claim that proof of his "rebirth" was lacking.

Louis Nizer, New York lawyer, said Crump had been transformed from "a beastly, animalistic criminal" in "a miraculous change." He said the prisoner now is "a rehabilitated man—a newborn man."

Richard B. Austin, who prosecuted Crump, said that "the evidence does not justify a finding of rehabilitation."

Since such a finding has been made it will bring again into sharp focus the old argument of whether punishment must be administered only for the rehabilitation of the offender or whether he must pay for his crime in any event. Prisons would be full of "rehabilitated" criminals if they could escape punishment through rehabilitation.

Most of us have not committed serious crimes which we must expiate, as had Crump, but each of us say within himself that "I desire to live so that I may justify my life and the faith of those who have done so much for me" and may justify his entry into creation.

Duty Above Appetite

When an honest official turns down a bribe and does his duty it cheers the hearts of honest citizens and makes for better government, whether local, state or federal, but when a marijuana-sniffing canine shoves aside 10 pounds of juicy wieners, which he loves, and comes up with eight neat packages of that drug, it is little less than a miracle.

In St. Louis a dog named Duke searched three business establishments. In one he came upon 10 pounds of frankfurters in a restaurant refrigerator. He pawed aside the meat he would ordinarily have gobbled up and sniffed out the marijuana packages at the bottom of the carton containing the franks.

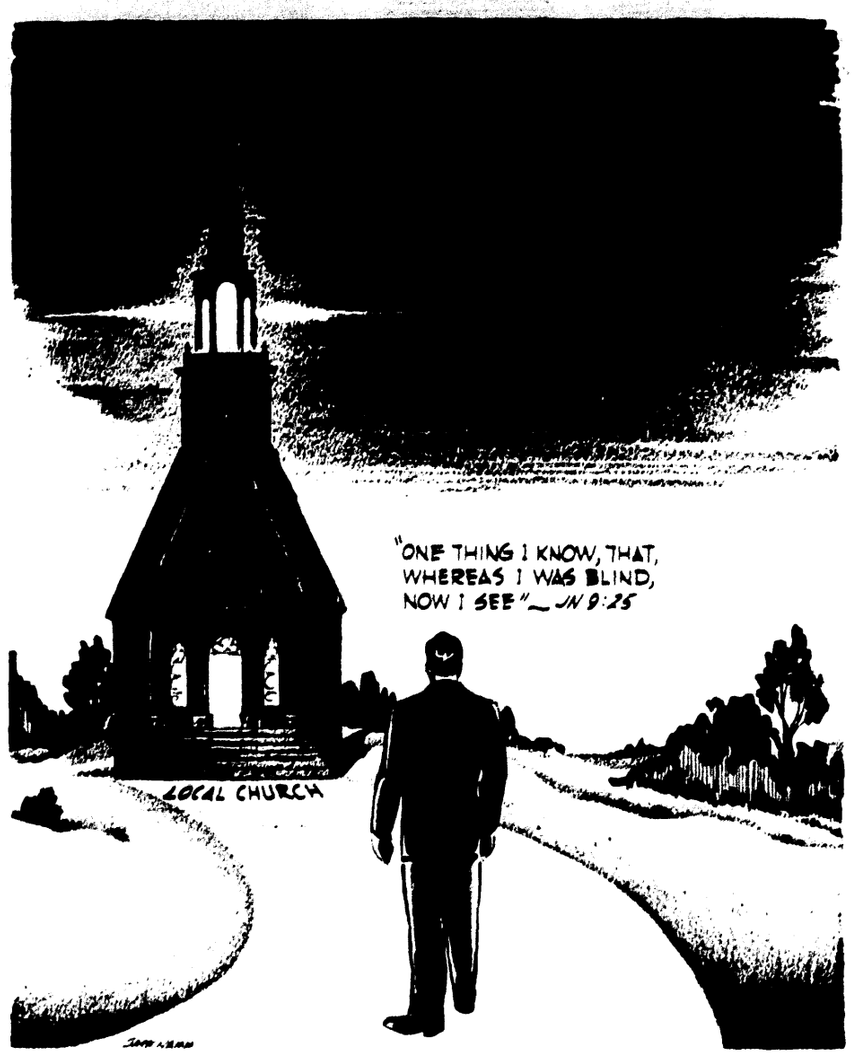

The restaurant owner refused to confirm the police theory that the marijuana was placed under the frankfurters to bribe Duke from going after the drugs.

Duke also sniffed out marijuana packages in the trouser cuffs of two customers after the dog had found several containers of the narcotic hidden in a shoe-shine parlor and pool hall.

Those who argue that the dog lost his usefulness when he was no longer able to respond to the call of the wild and who believe the canine is no good as a policeman may have to revise their thinking in view of Duke's performances.

State Department Blowup

Coordinator For Alliance For Progress Fed Up With Beaurocratic Meddling And Wants To Quit

WASHINGTON —Another big State Department blowup is in the making.

Theodore Moscoso, Coordinator for the Alliance for Progress, is thoroughly fed up with the bureaucratic meddling and fumbling he has constantly encountered, and wants to quit.

Strenuous efforts are being made to dissuade him, but their outcome is conjectural.

If Moscoso does quit, he will be the latest top Alliance official to depart.

Recently, Richard Goodwin, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, was quietly shifted to the Peace Corps for a so-called "special mission" in Europe. That was the official explanation given inquiring newsmen. They were told Goodwin is slated to return to the State Department later this year, but no one is taking that seriously.

It is deemed more likely he will be shunted to another job.

That the Alliance for Progress is far from the ambitious goals set for it has been an open secret for some time. Congressional and other authorities are evincing increasing concern over its lagging pace and inside word of administrative tensions and conflicts.

In an effort to get at the bottom of this matter, a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, headed by Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., will hold a series of hearings within a few weeks.

Moscoso and other State Department officials will be asked to testify.

The committee has been informed that Moscoso wants to testify.

The committee has been informed that Moscoso wants to quit because of a strong feeling of frustration and obstructionism. He is said to be severely handicapped by the persistent lack of an adequate staff, and harassed by unsound proposals and demands.

Prior to joining the New Frontier, Moscoso was director of Puerto Rico's highly successful Economic Development Administration. Early in 1961, President Kennedy named him Ambassador to Venezuela, later asked him to take charge of the faltering Alliance for Progress then largely under Goodwin as a member of the White House staff. Later, the latter was moved to the State Department as a Deputy Assistant Secretary.

The Alliance is now under the Agency for International Development (AID), in charge of foreign aid, which in turn is under the State Department.

Fowler Hamilton, head of AID, is reputedly at logger heads with Ralph Dungan, one of the special assistants to the President. Dungan's field is finding personnel for jobs, and keeping an eye on how they fill them.

Foreign Relations committeemen have been told Dungan is dissatisfied with the way Hamilton is running AID.

FOREIGN FLASHES — Principal advocates in the President's inner councils for easing this country's terms for the inspection of a nuclear test ban are McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for Security Affairs, and Dr. James Wiesner, special science adviser to the President. Vigorously opposing any concessions are the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Glenn Seaborg, head of the Atomic Energy Commission. . . . Russia is doing a characteristic diplomatic twist on settlement of the dispute between Holland and Indonesia over West New Guinea. Publicly Moscow is egging on Indonesia to refuse to come to terms, promising military support. But privately, the Soviet is advising Indonesia to avoid an armed showdown. Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan bluntly told that to President Sukarno during their recent brief visit. Mikoyan strongly intimated the Soviet is in no position to extend large-scale aid to Indonesia, in fact, may have to reduce the existing program. Indonesia needs approximately $200 million in outside economic aid over the next several years, and with Russia not dishing out, the U. S. is the only hope.

FLASHES — Massachusetts Attorney General Edward McCormack is testifying before the House Judiciary Committee next week against Attorney General Robert Kennedy's bill to legalize wiretapping to combat racketeering. Cormack is opposed to the measure on legal grounds. He and "Ted" Kennedy, 30-year-old brother of the President, are embroiled in a bitter primary fight for the Democratic senatorial nomination. . . . Representative Gracie Pfost, D-Idaho, is making strenuous efforts to get her party's nomination for the seat of the late Senator Henry Dworshak, R. Mrs. Pfost is claiming she has the "endorsement" of the White House.

Tax Slash Need

'Standstill' Period In Economy Would Mean Serious Slipping

If we don't get a substantial across-the-board cut in individual and corporation income taxes at this session of Congress to stimulate spending and thereby give a new lift to business activity, what are we probably facing in the months ahead?

A period of "standstill" in our economy. Describe it as a "pause" or "lull" or "near stagnation" or "sluggish expansion" or a "disappointingly slow rate of growth" or a "leveling off" or a "slide up" or "modest improvement" or "faltering advance" or "doldrums at a high level" or a "plateau at a high level" or a "loss of momentum." Whatever you call it or however you describe it, the pattern emerging is one of "standstill" after only 17 months of mild advance from the fourth recession of post-World War II.

Standing still — even at the highest levels ever — in a dynamic economy such as ours would mean we're falling back.

For our labor force is growing rapidly year after year and unless the economy also grows rapidly, the jobs won't be available for workers entering the job market for the first time and for those whose jobs are erased by automation of their factories and offices.

Under these conditions, our unemployment rate — which hasn't fallen even near to the 5 per cent level, much less dropped to the 4 per cent rate considered "tolerable" — would be climbing steadily again.

In many industries too, there is both excess and obsolete plant capacity and a pause would mean profits would be peaking out or declining. There is disturbing evidence the peaking out already may have occurred.

At the same time, the deficit in our Federal budget would soar, for the simple reason that paychecks and profits would not be producing sufficient taxes to cover the spending built into the budget.

This isn't gloomy guessing — although so many economic predictions for 1962 have been so far off base that economists can't be blamed for being wary of forecasting and readers can't be blamed for being skeptical about the accuracy of the forecasts. Nevertheless, the logic of the above lies in one key question: where is the stimulus to come from that would lift our economy out of its present state of standstill pause lull near stagnation sluggish expansion you name it?

The stimulus won't come from sharply rising spending by federal government or states or cities.

The biggest rate of rise in federal government spending is behind us. It gave our economy strength in 1961. State and local spending is still rising but not at a pace that would add real oomph to the economy either. Government spending can't be counted on.

The stimulus won't come from sharply rising spending by businessmen on plants and equipment. On the contrary, this is THE weak spot.

The latest government survey of business spending plans in May indicated businessmen had not hiked their programs above the eight per cent increase they scheduled in February. The latest McGraw-Hill survey made in June, after the stock market crackup and the steel fracas, indicated businessmen were not cutting back on plans to invest but neither were they upgrading their programs.

The new liberalized depreciation scheduled should prop business investments in factories and equipment but there are no signs now of any significant spurt in this vital area.

Nor will the stimulus come from sharply rising spending by consumers for goods and services, according to present signs.

Consumers have been the mainstay of the economy so far — and spending on autos has been the brightest spot in the picture. But the rise in consumer incomes is now slowing and there is nothing on the horizon to cause any sudden shift upward. There also is no evidence in the surveys of consumers to suggest an abrupt change in their plans to buy steadily but not enthusiastically. The biggest rate of rise in consumer spending seems behind us too.

Kennedy's Plan Leaves Observers Mathematically Confused

President Kennedy's announced intention to succor his supporters and blast his enemies (in Congress that is) when he jumps into the autumn campaign has wrung applause from his admirers, but mathematically it leaves observers confused.

They believe the President is optimistic when he hints that he will have won a victory if his party gains five or ten House members and perhaps a Senator or two in November, but think that to have predicted larger gains would have shown more confidence.

It is agreed that he has every right to be cautious in this numbers game, since the Democratic party lost 20 House seats in the same election which won him the presidency by the narrow margin of 119,000 votes. If the current Republican prediction that the Democrats will lose another 20 seats proves to be correct, his party will have 40 fewer seats than they did in the Congress last preceding his election.

Though not in any sense a prediction, it is worth while to point out that the Republican forecast, if borne out, would reduce Democratic House membership to 240. A House majority is now 219, so that administration strength would be cut to a point in that branch which would render the White House powerless on occasions when another "handful of Democrats" decided to join the Republican opposition.

Unquestionably this possibility has been discussed by administration political strategists, which is the underlying reason for the decision that the President in person must carry the battle to the country.

What will make the planning of this campaign quite difficult is that the nip and tuck outcome of 1960 was reflected in the congressional elections, so that a number of states sent narrowly divided delegations back to Congress. In a number of instances — 88 to be exact — winning margins were under 5 per cent, which means that the losing party will be prepared to hit those districts hard this year, in an effort to reverse the result.

Fifth of those districts are now held by Republicans and 38 by Democrats. They are badly scattered. They include 6 Republicans and one Democrat in Pennsylvania, three Democrats and one Republican in Missouri, two Democrats in Nebraska, four Democrats and one Republican in New York and two Republicans in North Dakota, three Republicans in Minnesota and three Democrats and two Republicans in California, which President Kennedy is believed certain to include in his itinerary.

While he presumably will support all House Democrats and turn his guns on the Republicans, his feelings are more individualistic about the Senate where some of his friends are distinctly in trouble. In Pennsylvania, Senator Joseph S. Clark, his loyal supporter and close personal friend, won in 1956 by but 50.1 per cent of the vote cast, which puts him on the vulnerable list as against Republican Congressman Joseph E. Van Zandt, the Republican nominee.

Another supporter, Senator John A. Carroll of Colorado won by only 50.2 per cent of the vote six years ago. His opponent has not yet been named.

Against these vulnerable, Democratic campaign planners, cite Republican minority leader Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and Republicans Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky former chairman of the Republican National Committee. All three won by less than 5 per cent in 1956.

There are others in the same category in House and Senate races in both parties. Their states would be logical launching points for the President to deliver the blast to keep up the nautical implication of his "let's sail, not anchor" slogan.

In the past election statistics, however, there is warning. While he is trying to force Republicans out of precarious seats, he must realized that there are Democrats in both Houses who in election terms, would rather anchor politically.

So far the prospect is that he may speak in Chicago, probably in upstate New York, at least once in the farm belt, in the Rocky Mountain section and in California. He may shun New England because his brother Teddy is running for the Senate in Massachusetts and that's a rather sore point with a lot of Democrats.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

U. S. Senator From Arizona

President Kennedy has declared that the issue of federal medical care will be carried to the people this fall, and I could not think of a more appropriate test.

As a matter of fact, if my mail is any indication, the Senate action in shelving the administration Medicare proposal is a positive reflection of the country's attitude.

The President apparently feels that by making Medicare an election issue, it will result in a Congress more amenable to his proposals next year. I would point out that of the 36 Senators whose terms expire in January, 23 of them voted to table the Medicare bill.

It would seem that these men know political issues when they see them and that their votes represent the feeling of their constituents.

Compulsory medical care under the Social Security system has already been carried to the people—in nation-wide television from Madison Square Garden, in administration task-force forays in major cities and in dozens of hearings conducted by the Senate Select Committee on the Aging. Not in my memory has a piece in such a manner and with such conclusive results. The President took the issue to the people, and the people said, "No."

Consider for a moment some of the aspects of the 52 to 48 Senate vote which killed the administration proposal.

Of the 16 chairmen of Senate standing committees, all of whom are Democrats, 10 of them voted against the administration. These include Sen. Carl Hayden, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, for whom President Kennedy helped raise $100,000 last year for his upcoming campaign, and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. Lister Hill, chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, was among those who voted against the administration, as was Richard Russell, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, and Harry Byrd, chairman of the Finance Committee.

Is the President suggesting, when he asks for a Congress which will support his programs, that the Senate would be better off without these men? The Democratic administration now has a working majority of 64 Senate seats. If the White House is unable to persuade these members of its own party, what greater evidence is needed to show that the federal Medicare program is a dangerous and undesired piece of legislation and should be discarded?

It should be apparent by now that the administration efforts to stir widespread enthusiasm for compulsory medical care have been a dismal failure. The downfall started with President Kennedy's explanation of the measure at Madison Square Garden, and opposition to the proposal has been steadily mounting ever since. Other congressional offices confirm the fact that this single appearance by the President spurred constituent response and skyrocketed the percentage of those opposed to the bill.

It occurs to me that the President's desire to purge the Congress of those opposed to his legislative proposals reflects acute shortsightedness on the part of the White House. The series of legislative setbacks suffered by the administration this year should make it clear that it is the White House demands which are at fault and that no reasonable legislative body is going to stand by while they are jammed down its throat.

As I said at the outset, I am perfectly willing to accept the challenge of carrying the issues of federal Medicare and other New Frontier schemes to the people this fall. My confidence lies with the judgment of the people, and I am certain we will return next year with a Congress courageous and sensible enough to turn the socialistic tide of the New Frontier.

How do you stand, sir?

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1858, the first cable across the Atlantic Ocean was completed, stretching between Trinity Bay, Newfoundland, and Valentia, Ireland — a distance of 1,900 statute miles.

In 1861, the U.S. government levied a tax on income, setting a three per cent rate on all income in excess of $800.

In 1876, "Wild Bill" Hickok, J. B. Marshall and one of the most colorful figures of the wild West, was killed in a saloon in Deadwood, S. D.

A thought for the day: William Gladstone, the English statesman said: "National injustice is the surest road to national downfall."

Van Zandt, the Republican nominee.

Another supporter, Senator John A. Carroll of Colorado won by only 50.2 per cent of the vote six years ago. His opponent has not yet been named.

Against these vulnerable, Democratic campaign planners, cite Republican minority leader Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and Republicans Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky former chairman of the Republican National Committee. All three won by less than 5 per cent in 1956.

There are others in the same category in House and Senate races in both parties. Their states would be logical launching points for the President to deliver the blast to keep up the nautical implication of his "let's sail, not anchor" slogan.

In the past election statistics, however, there is warning. While he is trying to force Republicans out of precarious seats, he must realized that there are Democrats in both Houses who in election terms, would rather anchor politically.

So far the prospect is that he may speak in Chicago, probably in upstate New York, at least once in the farm belt, in the Rocky Mountain section and in California. He may shun New England because his brother Teddy is running for the Senate in Massachusetts and that's a rather sore point with a lot of Democrats.

State Department Blowup

Coordinator For Alliance For Progress Fed Up With Beaurocratic Meddling And Wants To Quit

WASHINGTON —Another big State Department blowup is in the making!

Theodore Moscoso, Coordinator for the Alliance for Progress, is thoroughly fed up with the bureaucratic meddling and fumbling he has constantly encountered, and wants to quit.

Strenuous efforts are being made to dissuade him, but their outcome is conjectural.

If Moscoso does quit, he will be the latest top Alliance official to depart.

Recently, Richard Goodwin, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, was quietly shifted to the Peace Corps for a so - called "special mission" in Europe. That was the official explanation given inquiring newsmen. They were told Goodwin is slated to return to the State Department later this year, but no one is taking that seriously.

It is deemed more likely he will be shunted to another job.

That the Alliance for Progress is far from the ambitious goals set for it has been an open secret for some time. Congressional and other authorities are evincing increasing concern or its lagging pace and inside word of administrative tensions and conflicts.

In an effort to get at the bottom of this matter, a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, headed by Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., will hold a series of hearings within a few weeks.

Moscoso and other State Department officials will be asked to testify.

The committee has been informed that Moscoso wants to testify.

The committee has been informed that Moscoso wants to quit because of a strong feeling of frustration and obstructionism. He is said to be severely handicapped by the persistent lack of an adequate staff, and harassed by unsound proposals and demands.

Prior to joining the New Frontier, Moscoso was director of Puerto Rico's highly successful Economic Development Administration. Early in 1961, President Kennedy named him Ambassador to Venezuela; later asked him to take charge of the faltering Alliance for Progress then largely under Goodwin as a member of the White House staff. Later, the latter was moved to the State Department as a Deputy Assistant Secretary.

The Alliance is now under the Agency for International Development (AID), in charge of foreign aid, which in turn is under the State Department.

Fowler Hamilton, head of AID, is reputedly at logger heads with Ralph Dungan, one of the special assistants to the President. Dungan's field is finding personnel for jobs, and keeping an eye on how they fill them.

Foreign Relations committeemen have been told Dungan is dissatisfied with the way Hamilton is running AID.

FOREIGN FLASHES — Principal advocates in the President's inner councils for easing this country's terms for the inspection of a nuclear test ban are McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for Security Affairs, and Dr. James Wiesner, special science adviser to the President. Vigorously opposing any concessions are the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Glenn Seaborg, head of the Atomic Energy Commission . . . Russia is doing a characteristic diplomatic twist on settlement of the dispute between Holland and Indonesia over West New Guinea. Publicly, Moscow is egging on Indonesia to refuse to come to terms, promising military support. But privately, the Soviet is advising Indonesia to avoid an armed showdown. Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan bluntly told that to President Sukarno during their recent brief visit. Mikoyan strongly intimated the Soviet is in no position to extend large-scale aid to Indonesia; in fact, may have to reduce the existing program. Indonesia needs approximately $200 million in outside economic aid over the next several years, and with Russia not dishing out, the U. S. is the only hope.

FLASHES — Massachusetts Attorney General Edward McCormack is testifying before the House Judiciary Committee next week against Attorney General Robert Kennedy's bill to legalize wiretapping to combat racketeering. Cormack is opposed to the measure on legal grounds. He and "Ted" Kennedy, 30 - year - old brother of the President, are embroiled in a bitter primary fight for the Democratic senatorial nomination . . . Representative Gracie Pfost, D-Idaho, is making strenuous efforts to get her party's nomination for the seat of the late Senator Henry Dworshak, R. Mrs. Pfost is claiming she has the "endorsement" of the White House.

Tax Slash Need

'Standstill' Period In Economy Would Mean Serious Slipping

If we don't get a substantial across - the - board cut in individual and corporation income taxes at this session of Congress to stimulate spending and thereby give a new lift to business activity, what are we probably facing in the months ahead?

A period of "standstill" in our economy. Describe it as a "pause" or "lull" or "near stagnation" or "sluggish expansion" or a "disappointingly slow rate of growth" or a "leveling off" or a "slide up" or "modest improvement" or "faltering advance" or "doldrums at a high level" or a "plateau at a high level" or a "loss of momentum." Whatever you call it or however you describe it, the pattern emerging is one of "standstill" after only 17 months of mild advance from the fourth recession of post-World War II.

Standing still — even at the highest levels ever — in a dynamic economy such as ours would mean we're falling back.

For our labor force is growing rapidly year after year and unless the economy also grows rapidly, the jobs won't be available for workers entering the job market for the first time and for those whose jobs are erased by automation of their factories and offices.

Under these conditions, our unemployment rate — which hasn't fallen even near to the 5 per cent level, much less dropped to the 4 per cent rate considered "tolerable" — would be climbing steadily again.

In many industries too, there is both excess and obsolete plant capacity and a pause would mean profits would be peaking out or declining. There is disturbing evidence the peaking out already may have occurred.

At the same time, the deficit, in our Federal budget would soar, for the simple reason that paychecks and profits would not be producing sufficient taxes to cover the spending built into the budget.

This isn't gloomy guessing — although so many economic predictions for 1962 have been so far off base that economists can't be blamed for being wary of forecasting and readers can't be blamed for being skeptical about the accuracy of the forecasts. Nevertheless, the logic of the above lies in one key question: where is the stimulus to come from that would lift our economy out of its present state of standstill - pause - lull - near stagnation sluggish expansion-you name it?

The stimulus won't come from sharply rising spending by federal government or states or cities.

The biggest rate of rise in federal government spending is behind us; it gave our economy strength in 1961. State and local spending is still rising but not at a pace that would add real oomph to the economy either. Government spending can't be counted on.

The stimulus won't come from sharply rising spending by businessmen on plants and equipment. On the contrary, this is THE weak spot.

The latest government survey of business spending plans in May indicated businessmen had not hiked their programs above the eight per cent increase they schedued in February. The latest McGraw Hill survey made in June, after the stock market crackup and the steel fracas, indicated businessmen were not cutting back on plans to invest but neither were they upgrading their programs.

The new liberalized depreciation scheduled should prop business investments in factories and equipment but there are no signs now of any significant spurt in this vital area.

Nor will the stimulus come from sharply rising spending by consumers for goods and services, according to present signs.

Consumers have been the mainstay of the economy so far — and spending on autos has been the brightest spot in the picture. But the rise in consumer incomes is now slowing and there is nothing on the horizon to cause any sudden shift upward. There also is no evidence in the surveys of consumers to suggest an abrupt change in their plans to buy steadily but not enthusiastically. The biggest rate of rise in consumer spending seems behind us too.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

U. S. Senator From Arizona

President Kennedy has declared that the issue of federal medical care will be carried to the people this fall, and I could not think of a more appropriate test.

As a matter of fact, if my mail is any indication, the Senate action in shelving the administration Medicare proposal is a positive reflection of the country's attitude.

The President apparently feels that by making Medicare an election issue, it will result in a Congress more amenable to his proposals next year. I would point out that of the 36 Senators whose terms expire in January, 23 of them voted to table the Medicare bill.

It would seem that these men know political issues when they see them and that their votes represent the feeling of their constituents.

Compulsory medical care under the Social Security system has already been carried to the people—in nation-wide television from Madison Square Garden, in administration task-force forays in major cities and in dozens of hearings conducted by the Senate Select Committee on the Aging. Not in my memory has a piece in such a manner and with such conclusive results. The President took the issue to the people, and the people said, "No."

Consider for a moment some of the aspects of the 52 to 48 Senate vote which killed the administration proposal.

Of the 16 chairmen of Senate standing committees, all of whom are Democrats, 10 of them voted against the administration. These include Sen. Carl Hayden, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, for whom President Kennedy helped raise $100,000 last year for his upcoming campaign, and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. Lister Hill, chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, was among those who voted against the administration, as was Richard Russell, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, and Harry Byrd, chairman of the Finance Committee.

Is the President suggesting, when he asks for a Congress which will support his programs, that the Senate would be better off without these men? The Democratic administration now has a working majority of 64 Senate seats. If the White House is unable to persuade these members of its own party, what greater evidence is needed to show that the federal Medicare program is a dangerous and undesired piece of legislation and should be discarded?

It should be apparent by now that the administration efforts to stir widespread enthusiasm for compulsory medical care have been a dismal failure. The downfall started with President Kennedy's explanation of the measure at Madison Square Garden, and opposition to the proposal has been steadily mounting ever since. Other congressional offices confirm the fact that this single appearance by the President spurred constituent response and skyrocketed the percentage of those opposed to the bill.

It occurs to me that the President's desire to purge the Congress of those opposed to his legislative proposals reflects acute shortsightedness on the part of the White House. The series of legislative setbacks suffered by the administration this year should make it clear that it is the White House demands which are at fault and that no reasonable legislative body is going to stand by while they are jammed down its throat.

As I said at the outset, I am perfectly willing to accept the challenge of carrying the issues of federal Medicare and other New Frontier schemes to the people this fall. My confidence lies with the judgment of the people, and I am certain we will return next year with a Congress courageous and sensible enough to turn the socialistic tide of the New Frontier.

How do you stand, sir?

Today is Sunday, Aug. 5 the 217th day of 1962 with 148 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1858, the first cable across the Atlantic Ocean was completed, stretching between Trinity Bay, Newfoundland, and Valentia, Ireland — a distance of 1,900 statute miles.

In 1861, the U.S. government levied a tax on income, setting a three per cent rate on all income in excess of $800.

In 1876, "Wild Bill" Hickok, U. S. marshall and one the most colorful figures of the wild West, was killed in a saloon in Deadwood, S.D.

World Spotlight, Inside Behind the Headlines

Who Would Succeed Nehru?

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — "Nehru has not yet disappeared. It is a silly question (to ask what will happen after him)."

The speaker: Jawaharlal Nehru.

The 72-year-old prime minister gets annoyed when people wonder aloud about the end of the Nehru era.

This era has encompassed all 15 years of independence for this vast nation with 454 million inhabitants—about as many as Africa and Latin America combined. Nehru has moulded the nation and strongly influenced its people.

Despite his displeasure there is increasing talk of the era's end because of the illness that has plagued Nehru more than four months.

Nehru looks like a tired, sick shell of the man who once bounded up staircases and charged into crowds of affectionate followers. His illness has not been defined but it seems to involve an infection of the urinary tract.

If he heeds his doctors, he must loosen his grip on every aspect of Indian life. But Nehru sees many things still to do and feels he alone can do them.

He wants to insure economic development to raise his people from an average annual income of $70 a person. The problem is so vast that even if all internal straining and foreign borrowing succeed until 1967, the then 625 million persons in India will have an income of only $112 apiece.

Nehru also is disheartened by the two most populous nations—India and Communist China—to establish friendship as the basis of Asian peace. He does not want to leave a bitter border dispute.

One leading contender to succeed Nehru is Morarji R. Desai, 66, the craggy and abstemious finance minister. He is formally No. 2 in the government.

Nehru acknowledged this recently by naming Desai to preside at cabinet meetings in his absence. He has given Desai significant pats on the back.

The prime minister has possibly done this to offset the efforts of V. K. Krishna Menon to build up a separate, dynamic image of himself. The defense minister, 65, has moved more out of the shadow of his boss and sponsor.

Krishna Menon stands to the left, Desai to the right of the dominant Congress party. The two factions could cancel each other out and let in a compromise replacement for Nehru.

This could be Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, 58, meek-looking but a skillful politician. Or it could be Nehru's only child, Indira Gandhi, 44. She is sometimes strong-willed. She reportedly talked her father into throwing out a Communist-run government in Kerala state in 1959.

Some observers feel she would only be a Nehru name in front of someone else, like Shastri or maybe Krishna Menon.

The question of Nehru's succession may not wait until he disappears completely. If he takes a leave for medical treatment his choice of a temporary substitute could set the pattern for later.

ILLNESS WHICH HAS PLAGUED India's prime minister Nehru for more than four months has led to speculation as to who might succeed him as leader of the nation's 454 million inhabitants. Four persons mentioned for the post are, from the left: Lal Bahadur Shastri, 58, home minister; Morarji R. Desai, 66, finance minister; V. K. Krishna Menon, 65, defense minister, and Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, 44. (AP Wirephoto)

Press Can't Quote Some From Africa

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—"His words cannot go into print."

So said a headline in the Johannesburg Star. It appeared over a story about a court case involving Leon Levy and the story said in part: "After the charge had been placed, Magistrate D. J. Bosman asked, 'What do you plead?'

"Levy: (he did plead but his words cannot be published.)"

Leon Levy's name is on a list of 102 South Africans whose spoken words and writings must not be published in the press.

In this way the government of Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd seeks to crack down on those it calls subversives and Communists.

George Peake, whose name appears on the list of the censored, is a member of the City Council of Cape Town.

A South African Press Association report about a council meeting went this way: "Mr. Peake spoke during the debate on whether the chairman of the Markets and Licenses Committee should accompany the director of the market on a tour of outside market production areas.

"In terms of the general law amendment bill, Mr. Peake's speech may not be reported."

The General Law Amendments Act is popularly known as the antisabotage law. It rolled through the last session of Parliament despite waves of opposition from liberals.

The government claims it needs the law to stop what it calls a rising tide of communism over this segregated nation. The liberals charged it is a weapon forged by Verwoerd's regime to hold on to its policies of strict segregation of Negroes and other nonwhites from whites.

If a foreign newspaper or magazine should enter South Africa with a statement by Luthuli—or any other person on the banned list—it cannot be distributed.

British Tourist Loses Prejudice In Tour Of U.S.

LONDON (AP) — "I have just spent two weeks in the United States as a British tourist," said Vincent Mulchrone, "and it was the experience of a lifetime.

"I went there with a lot of prejudices, but the American people dissolved them. Never anywhere have I been treated with such overall kindness and courtesy."

Mulchrone is no starry-eyed tourist.

A pilot in World War II, he is one of Britain's top-flight reporters, covering many areas of the world.

"Oh, yes," he continued, "I've seen the Taj Mahal by moonlight and I suppose I've sampled the samples in more bars and restaurants in more countries than most men. America's greatest tourist attraction is its people."

The U.S. Travel Service has been inserting ads in British newspapers on how to tour the U.S.A. for about $100 a week. Mulchrone and his paper, the Daily Mail, decided to try it.

"No, I didn't get by on $14 a day," he said, "but I suppose I could have. I averaged $22.40 a day. Some days, however, it cost me only $9.50.

"I went to the medium-priced places and I ate very well and saw a great deal of wonderful scenery."

Starting in Miami and traveling by bus, he visited Alabama, New Orleans, the Great Smoky National Park in Tennessee, Washington and New York.

Other British reporters are less enthusiastic than Mulchrone.

The Daily Express' New York columnist, Peter Evans, started out in New York where, after a diligent search, he found a hotel room for $4.50. He described it as "a sort of swollen broom cupboard."

By the time he hit Williamsburg, Va., his $100 was down to $47.

When he reached New Orleans, he reported:

"Recklessly, I spent my last 90 cents on a watery beer on Bourbon Street in the wee small hours of the morning and sang my private blues."

Evans was definitely disenchanted at the suggestion that a Briton (or anyone else) can tour the U.S. on $100 a week.

Whether they can or can't, however, British tourists are visiting the United States in increasing numbers.

In the first six months of 1962, the American Embassy and 8 consulates issued 49,215 nonimmigrant visas against 38,199 in the same period of 1961.

The full page advertisements attracting British tourists stimulate the urge to travel in America.

One features a Mississippi riverboat and is headed:

"How to tour the U.S.A. for 35 pounds a week."

That is $98.

The ad goes on (with British monetary terms translated to dollars):

Petrol (gasoline) costs 30 cents a gallon. You can stay at motels with swimming pools for as little as $5.60 a night, see the Grand Canyon for $14 (mule included), spend a week on a ranch for $64.40—and dine out on your experiences for the rest of your life."

STILL PRESSING

NEW YORK (UPI)—The ironing board is far from shelved by the advent of wash and dry clothes. One manufacturer of ironing board covers estimates 1962 sales of irons at 7.680 million. That, said the firm, Magla Products, is a total of $110 million spent on the ordinary iron. Ironing board sales run about 10 million units a year and covers average between 50 and 60 million, said the firm.

BATTLE'S STAKES HIGH

Goulart Set For Fight With Brazilian Congress

By TOM MASTERSON

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—President Joao Goulart, a wily politician, squares off against the Brazilian Congress for a showdown fight this coming week.

The stakes are high.

Goulart wants to win back the powers once granted Brazilian presidents.

Congressional leaders seem just as determined to deny him those powers.

Another cliff-hanging crisis may result.

Some Brazilians voice fear that another crisis—like the one that followed Janio Quadros' resignation and drove Brazil to the brink of civil war—could spell disaster for the country.

Even should Goulart and his prime minister withdraw from a showdown it may be too late to head off trouble for hapless Brazil.

A government without power could do little to improve the country's plight.

Labor unions, held in check by Goulart up to now, might carry out their threats of general strikes.

To stave off a threat of ruin, military leaders might feel forced to interfere and take over.

With those threats hanging over his opponents, Goulart has chosen his own battlefield and primed his weapons well.

Two weapons are beans and rice, the staple foods of ordinary Brazilians.

More than anything else, a phony shortage of beans and rice has brought home to the people the chaotic situation their country has reached.

Goulart, who knows his people well, is capitalizing on the shortages and the myriad of ailments besetting this nation.

To many Brazilians, a power struggle in the isolated capital of Brasilia is something remote. But a meal without beans and rice is like dinner without meat and potatoes to an American.

Most items in short supply are in abundance in production centers, but distributors say government ceilings are too low for them to sell at a profit.

Skyrocketing prices have cut paychecks in half. Inflation has cut the value of the cruzeiro to the point where it takes nearly 500 of them to make up $1.

What Goulart wants is clear—the abolishment of the parliamentary system adopted hurriedly to pull the country out of the heat of the Quadros crisis a year ago. It stripped Goulart of the important powers of the presidency and left him a virtual figurehead.

Goulart, chafing under these restrictions, has set out to force the Chamber of Deputies to amend the constitution, set a date for a plebiscite and let the people vote whether to keep the parliamentary system or return to the presidential system.

Goulart seems sure of a victory in any such plebiscite. He has made it clear that he and his cabinet cannot pull Brazil out of the doldrums without presidential powers. Also there seems little doubt that many Brazilians are disenchanted with the virtual breakdown in government under the parliamentary system.

They long have been disillusioned with the Congress, adept at dragging its collective heels. Quadros blamed Congress, primarily, for his resignation.

Goulart was vice president at that time, and since military and other conservative forces suspected him, the prospect of his accession to power brought about a crisis. It was resolved when the military imposed a change in the constitution which shifted Brazil's system from a strong executive to a parliamentary system on the European model, vesting executive powers in a prime minister and cabinet. Goulart then was permitted to assume the presidency.

This week Goulart announced the promotion of seven colonels to the rank of general.

The new generals, according to the pro-Goulart newspaper Diario Carioca, are men in whom Goulart has absolute confidence. They will be placed in key positions within the military.

One Phone Awaits Ike In Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — When Dwight D. Eisenhower visits his Scottish home this month, he will find a single telephone.

When he was here last in 1959, his Scottish castle bristled with nearly 50 phones.

He was President, and there were direct links with Washington.

Eisenhower arrives Aug. 15 to spend five days. He will use Turnberry's two golf courses, and probably will go fishing.

The people of Scotland gave Eisenhower a huge apartment on the top floor of ancient Culzean Castle as a reward for his leadership in World War II.

The home is his for life.

On past visits, Eisenhower told friends he found his castle a trifle chilly.

This time the National Trust — which operates the castle as a show piece — has orders that the central heating boilers be fired high. So the ex-President should find the castle more comfortable than before.

Incidentally, Culzean Castle is the ancestral home of the Clan Kennedy.

INSURANCE LOANS A BOON TO MANY

The following article appeared in the N. Y. Times on September 20, 1959:

"People from all walks of life have, at one time or another, borrowed on their ordinary life insurance policies, though usually only as a last resort.

Prominent persons who have publicly acknowledged that they have borrowed on their life insurance include:

J. C. Penney, founder of the department store chain bearing his name. Walt Disney, cartoonist, Abe Plough, head of Plough, Inc., maker of St. Joseph's Aspirin and other products, Dr. Allen B. DuMont, founder and head of Allen B. DuMont Laboratories, Inc., Joseph A. Volpe, head of the nationally known construction concern bearing his name, and Robert Cummings, the actor.

Mr. Penney recalled that loans on his $5,000,000 worth of insurance enabled him to pull out of the depression. He had lost most of his $40,000,000 fortune amassed over the years. Both Mr. Penney and his company are now in a healthy financial state.

Sometime ago Walt Disney revealed that he had borrowed on his life insurance to start Disneyland, famed California amusement center. His brother, Roy, did the same thing when it was decided to expand the center.

Mr. Plough said that he borrowed $1,100 on his father's life insurance policies in 1915. Of this he used $900 to bid in the stock of the then bankrupt Memphis (Tenn.) Drug Company. He put the business back on its feet and started to climb to success. Profits of his enterprises reached more than $4,800,000 last year.

Dr. DuMont recalled that in the first four years of his company's existence he had to obtain the necessary capital to keep it going "by loans on my insurance policies, advances from members of my family and loans from my friends."

Mr. Volpe, who in 1956 served as interim Federal Highway Administrator, after becoming a successful contractor, recalled that in 1933 he was an unemployed plasterer. He borrowed $300 on his life insurance and another $200 from friends to finance his first contract—a $1,285 job building the heating plant for a garage in Lynn, Mass. Six years later he landed a $1,000,000 contract and was on his way to the top.

Bob Cummings recalled that he came to Broadway from the Middle West during the depression. At that time, he said, it seemed that the only ones getting a chance to act on Broadway were those with a British accent. In the spring of 1931 he borrowed $680 on his life insurance, sailed to England in steerage, and remained there for about a year. Soon after his return, complete with British accent, he landed an acting job."

Nehru looks like a tired, sick shell of the man who once bounded up staircases and charged into crowds of affectionate followers. His illness has not been defined but it seems to involve an infection of the urinary tract.

If he heeds his doctors, he must loosen his grip on every aspect of Indian life. But Nehru sees many things still to do and feels he alone can do them.

He wants to insure economic development to raise his people from an average annual income of $70 a person. The problem is so vast that even if all internal straining and foreign borrowing succeed until 1967, the then 625 million persons in India will have an income of only $112 apiece.

Nehru also is disheartened by the two most populous nations—India and Communist China—to establish friendship as the basis of Asian peace. He does not want to leave a bitter border dispute.

One leading contender to succeed Nehru is Morarji R. Desai, 66, the craggy and abstemious finance minister. He is formally No. 2 in the government.

Nehru acknowledged this recently by naming Desai to preside at cabinet meetings in his absence. He has given Desai significant pats on the back.

The prime minister has possibly done this to offset the efforts of V. K. Krishna Menon to build up a separate, dynamic image of himself. The defense minister, 65, has moved more out of the shadow of his boss and sponsor.

Krishna Menon stands to the left, Desai to the right of the dominant Congress party. The two factions could cancel each other out and let in a compromise replacement for Nehru.

This could be Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, 58, meek-looking but a skillful politician. Or it could be Nehru's only child, Indira Gandhi, 44. She is sometimes strong-willed. She reportedly talked her father into throwing out a Communist-run government in Kerala state in 1959.

Some observers feel she would only be a Nehru name in front of someone else, like Shastri or maybe Krishna Menon.

The question of Nehru's succession may not wait until he disappears completely. If he takes a leave for medical treatment his choice of a temporary substitute could set the pattern for later.

ILLNESS WHICH HAS PLAGUED India's prime minister Nehru for more than four months has led to speculation as to who might succeed him as leader of the nation's 454 million inhabitants. Four persons mentioned for the post are, from the left: Lal Bahadur Shastri, 58, home minister; Morarji R. Desai, 66, finance minister; V. K. Krishna Menon, 65, defense minister, and Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, 44. (AP Wirephoto)

Press Can't Quote Some From Africa

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—"His words cannot go into print."

So said a headline in the Johannesburg Star. It appeared over a story about a court case involving Leon Levy and the story said in part: "After the charge had been placed, Magistrate D. J. Bosman asked, 'What do you plead?'

"Levy: (he did plead but his words cannot be published.)"

Leon Levy's name is on a list of 102 South Africans whose spoken words and writings must not be published in the press.

In this way the government of Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd seeks to crack down on those it calls subversives and Communists.

George Peake, whose name appears on the list of the censored, is a member of the City Council of Cape Town.

A South African Press Association report about a council meeting went this way: "Mr. Peake spoke during the debate on whether the chairman of the Markets and Licenses Committee should accompany the director of the market on a tour of outside market production areas.

"In terms of the general law amendment bill, Mr. Peake's speech may not be reported."

The General Law Amendments Act is popularly known as the antisabotage law. It rolled through the last session of Parliament despite waves of opposition from liberals.

The government claims it needs the law to stop what it calls a rising tide of communism over this segregated nation. The liberals charged it is a weapon forged by Verwoerd's regime to hold on to its policies of strict segregation of Negroes and other nonwhites from whites.

If a foreign newspaper or magazine should enter South Africa with a statement by Luthuli—or any other person on the banned list—it cannot be distributed.

British Tourist Loses Prejudice In Tour Of U.S.

LONDON (AP) — "I have just spent two weeks in the United States as a British tourist," said Vincent Mulchrone, "and it was the experience of a lifetime.

"I went there with a lot of prejudices, but the American people dissolved them. Never anywhere have I been treated with such overall kindness and courtesy."

Mulchrone is no starry-eyed tourist.

A pilot in World War II, he is one of Britain's top-flight reporters, covering many areas of the world.

"Oh, yes," he continued, "I've seen the Taj Mahal by moonlight and I suppose I've sampled the samples in more bars and restaurants in more countries than most men. America's greatest tourist attraction is its people."

The U.S. Travel Service has been inserting ads in British newspapers on how to tour the U.S.A. for about $100 a week. Mulchrone and his paper, the Daily Mail, decided to try it.

"No, I didn't get by on $14 a day," he said, "but I suppose I could have. I averaged $22.40 a day. Some days, however, it cost me only $8.50.

"I went to the medium-priced places and I ate very well and saw a great deal of wonderful scenery."

Starting in Miami and traveling by bus, he visited Alabama, New Orleans, the Great Smoky National Park in Tennessee, Washington and New York.

Other British reporters are less enthusiastic than Mulchrone.

The Daily Express' New York columnist, Peter Evans, started out in New York where, after a diligent search, he found a hotel room for $4.50. He described it as "a sort of swollen broom cupboard."

By the time he hit Williamsburg, Va., his $100 was down to $47.

When he reached New Orleans, he reported:

"Recklessly, I spent my last 90 cents on a watery beer on Bourbon Street in the wee small hours of the morning and sang my private blues."

Evans was definitely disenchanted at the suggestion that a Briton (or anyone else) can tour the U.S. on $100 a week.

Whether they can or can't, however, British tourists are visiting the United States in increasing numbers.

In the first six months of 1962, the American Embassy and 8 consulates issued 49,215 nonimmigrant visas against 38,199 in the same period of 1961.

The full page advertisements attracting British tourists stimulate the urge to travel in America.

One features a Mississippi riverboat and is headed:

"How to tour the U.S.A. for 35 pounds a week."

That is $98.

The ad goes on (with British monetary terms translated to dollars):

Petrol (gasoline) costs 30 cents a gallon. You can stay at motels with swimming pools for as little as $5.60 a night, see the Grand Canyon for $14 (mule included), spend a week on a ranch for $64.40—and dine out on your experiences for the rest of your life."

STILL PRESSING

NEW YORK (UPI)—The ironing board is far from shelved by the advent of wash and dry clothes. One manufacturer of ironing board covers estimates 1962 sales of irons at 7.680 million. That, said the firm, Magla Products, is a total of $110 million spent on the ordinary iron. Ironing board sales run about 10 million units a year and covers average between 50 and 60 million, said the firm.

BATTLE'S STAKES HIGH

Goulart Set For Fight With Brazilian Congress

By TOM MASTERSON

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—President Joao Goulart, a wily politician, squares off against the Brazilian Congress for a showdown fight this coming week.

The stakes are high.

Goulart wants to win back the powers once granted Brazilian presidents.

Congressional leaders seem just as determined to deny him those powers.

Another cliff-hanging crisis may result.

Some Brazilians voice fear that another crisis—like the one that followed Janio Quadros' resignation and drove Brazil to the brink of civil war—could spell disaster for the country.

Even should Goulart and his prime minister withdraw from a showdown it may be too late to head off trouble for hapless Brazil.

A government without power could do little to improve the country's plight.

Labor unions, held in check by Goulart up to now, might carry out their threats of general strikes.

To stave off a threat of ruin, military leaders might feel forced to interfere and take over.

With those threats hanging over his opponents, Goulart has chosen his own battlefield and primed his weapons well.

Two weapons are beans and rice, the staple foods of ordinary Brazilians.

More than anything else, a phony shortage of beans and rice has brought home to the people the chaotic situation their country has reached.

Goulart, who knows his people well, is capitalizing on the shortages and the myriad of ailments besetting this nation.

To many Brazilians, a power struggle in the isolated capital of Brasilia is something remote. But a meal without beans and rice is like dinner without meat and potatoes to an American.

Most items in short supply are in abundance in production centers, but distributors say government ceilings are too low for them to sell at a profit.

Skyrocketing prices have cut paychecks in half. Inflation has cut the value of the cruzeiro to the point where it takes nearly 500 of them to make up $1.

What Goulart wants is clear—the abolishment of the parliamentary system adopted hurriedly to pull the country out of the heat of the Quadros crisis a year ago. It stripped Goulart of the important powers of the presidency and left him a virtual figurehead.

Goulart, chafing under these restrictions, has set out to force the Chamber of Deputies to amend the constitution, set a date for a plebiscite and let the people vote whether to keep the parliamentary system or return to the presidential system.

Goulart seems sure of a victory in any such plebiscite. He has made it clear that he and his cabinet cannot pull Brazil out of the doldrums without presidential powers. Also there seems little doubt that many Brazilians are disenchanted with the virtual breakdown in government under the parliamentary system.

They long have been disillusioned with the Congress, adept at dragging its collective heels. Quadros blamed Congress, primarily, for his resignation.

Goulart was vice president at that time, and since military and other conservative forces suspected him, the prospect of his accession to power brought about a crisis. It was resolved when the military imposed a change in the constitution which shifted Brazil's system from a strong executive to a parliamentary system on the European model, vesting executive powers in a prime minister and cabinet. Goulart then was permitted to assume the presidency.

This week Goulart announced the promotion of seven colonels to the rank of general.

The new generals, according to the pro-Goulart newspaper Diario Carioca, are men in whom Goulart has absolute confidence. They will be placed in key positions within the military.

One Phone Awaits Ike In Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — When Dwight D. Eisenhower visits his Scottish home this month, he will find a single telephone.

When he was here last in 1959, his Scottish castle bristled with nearly 50 phones.

He was President, and there were direct links with Washington.

Eisenhower arrives Aug. 15 to spend five days. He will use Turnberry's two golf courses, and probably will go fishing.

The people of Scotland gave Eisenhower a huge apartment on the top floor of ancient Culzean Castle as a reward for his leadership in World War II.

The home is his for life.

On past visits, Eisenhower told friends he found his castle a trifle chilly.

This time the National Trust — which operates the castle as a show piece — has orders that the central heating boilers be fired high. So the ex-President should find the castle more comfortable than before.

Incidentally, Culzean Castle is the ancestral home of the Clan Kennedy.

FOR THE COED

NEW YORK (UPI) — Denim, never a fabric to take a back seat, moves up front in back to college clothes collections. Included are frontier pants, hip huggers with their low-waisted look, street length wrap skirts, Bermuda skirts with patch pockets and back wrap treatment to be worn with leotard tights and high boots, blazers with matching slacks, and ski parkas.

BRAZIL'S PRESIDENT, Joao Goulart, left, giving an "abrazo" to his new prime minister, Francisco Brochado da Rocha when the latter paid a recent visit to the presidential palace in Brasilia. (AP Wirephoto)

INSURANCE LOANS A BOON TO MANY

The following article appeared in the N. Y. Times on September 20, 1959:

"People from all walks of life have, at one time or another, borrowed on their ordinary life insurance policies, though usually only as a last resort.

Prominent persons who have publicly acknowledged that they have borrowed on their life insurance include:

J. C. Penney, founder of the department store chain bearing his name; Walt Disney, cartoonist, Abe Plough, head of Plough, Inc., maker of St. Joseph's Aspirin and other products; Dr. Allen B. DuMont, founder and head of Allen B. DuMont Laboratories, Inc., Joseph A. Volpe, head of the nationally known construction concern bearing his name; and Robert Cummings, the actor.

Mr. Penney recalled that loans on his $5,000,000 worth of insurance enabled him to pull out of the depression. He had lost most of his $40,000,000 fortune amassed over the years. Both Mr. Penney and his company are now in a healthy financial state.

Sometime ago Walt Disney revealed that he had borrowed on his life insurance to start Disneyland, famed California amusement center. His brother, Roy, did the same thing when it was decided to expand the center.

Mr. Plough said that he borrowed $1,100 on his father's life insurance policies in 1915. Of this he used $900 to bid in the stock of the then bankrupt Memphis (Tenn.) Drug Company. He put the business back on its feet and started to climb to success. Profits of his enterprises reached more than $4,800,000 last year.

Dr. DuMont recalled that in the first four years of his company's existence he had to obtain the necessary capital to keep it going "by loans on my insurance policies, advances from members of my family and loans from my friends."

Mr. Volpe, who in 1956 served as interim Federal Highway Administrator, after becoming a successful contractor, recalled that in 1933 he was an unemployed plasterer. He borrowed $300 on his life insurance and another $200 from friends to finance his first contract—a $1,285 job building the heating plant for a garage in Lynn, Mass. Six years later he landed a $1,000,000 contract and was on his way to the top.

Bob Cummings recalled that he come to Broadway from the Middle West during the depression. At that time, he said, it seemed that the only ones getting a chance to act on Broadway were those with a British accent. In the spring of 1931 he borrowed $680 on his life insurance, sailed to England in steerage, and remained there for about a year. Soon after his return, complete with British accent, he landed an acting job."

WITH ROCK HUDSON

'Spiral Road' Due Soon At The Jim

The number one man on movie screens today, Rock Hudson, who peppered with villainy his normal public image as a film hero when he appeared in "Giant," "This Earth Is Mine," "Twilight For The Gods" and "The Tarnished Angel," is at it again.

For Universal - International's dramatic "The Spiral Road," opening soon at the Jim Theatre, in which he tops a star cast including Burl Ives and Gena Rowlands, Hudson is busily engaged in bringing to the screen a character which he lovingly describes as "half a hero."

DIFFERENT ROLE

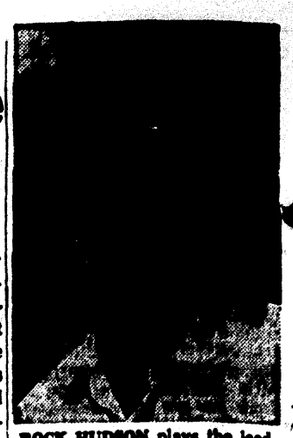

"Sure, it's a different role from the ones I've played in almost fifty other movies," Rock explained. "This one is certainly no knight in shining armor. He's an opportunist, an egocentric snob, a disbeliever and a double-crosser. The fact that he is hurt by his attitudes and finally rises above them is why I call him 'half a hero.' He's really quite a guy."

In what he describes as the most difficult role he has ever been asked to play, Hudson portrays a young Dutch doctor serving the Netherlands government in one of its Indonesian jungle colonies. The motion picture is based on the best - selling novel by Jan de Hartog and was transferred to the screen in color by Universal producer Robert Arthur with Robert Mulligan directing.

OPPORTUNITY

"It's a greater opportunity than I had in 'Giant,' " claimed Rock, who won an Academy Award nomination for that effort. "It's the type of characterization that could open a lot of new doors in my acting career."

To create the 'Dr. Anton Drager" role in "The Spiral Road," Hudson went through almost six solid months of intensive work before the color cameras, both on location in the equatorial jungle country of Surinam (Dutch Guiana), South America, and for 65 vigorous shooting days on the Universal lot in Hollywood. Since the first cameras rolled on the picture, Rock didn't have a single day off from production.

ROCK HUDSON plays the lead, a young Dutch doctor, in the picture "The Spiral Road," which opens soon at the Jim Theatre.

WITH ROCK HUDSON

'Spiral Road' Due Soon At The Jim

The number one man on movie screens today, Rock Hudson, who peppered with villainy his normal public image as a film hero when he appeared in "Giant," "This Earth Is Mine," "Twilight For The Gods" and "The Tarnished Angel," is at it again.

For Universal - International's dramatic "The Spiral Road," opening soon at the Jim Theatre, in which he tops a star cast including Burl Ives and Gena Rowlands, Hudson is busily engaged in bringing to the screen a character which he lovingly describes as "half a hero."

DIFFERENT ROLE

"Sure, it's a different role from the ones I've played in almost fifty other movies," Rock explained. "This one is certainly no knight in shining armor. He's an opportunist, an egocentric snob, a disbeliever and a double-crosser. The fact that he is hurt by his attitudes and finally rises above them is why I call him 'half a hero.' He's really quite a guy."

In what he describes as the most difficult role he has ever been asked to play, Hudson portrays a young Dutch doctor serving the Netherlands government in one of its Indonesian jungle colonies. The motion picture is based on the best - selling novel by Jan de Hartog and was transferred to the screen in color by Universal producer Robert Arthur with Robert Mulligan directing.

OPPORTUNITY

"It's a greater opportunity than I had in 'Giant,' " claimed Rock, who won an Academy Award nomination for that effort. "It's the type of characterization that could open a lot of new doors in my acting career."

To create the 'Dr. Anton Drager" role in "The Spiral Road," Hudson went through almost six solid months of intensive work before the color cameras, both on location in the equatorial jungle country of Surinam (Dutch Guiana), South America, and for 65 vigorous shooting days on the Universal lot in Hollywood. Since the first cameras rolled on the picture, Rock didn't have a single day off from production.

ROCK HUDSON plays the lead, a young Dutch doctor, in the picture "The Spiral Road," which opens soon at the Jim Theatre.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Count On Books Misses Standard

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

At the close of each month we make a tabulation of the books added during the month and the books removed during the same period. This figure is added to the total for the previous month and that gives us the actual count as to the number of books in the collection. On August first the book collection consisted of 78,105 books. This total is almost exactly 25,000 books short of what we should have to meet the national standards. Our goal is to reach the figure of 101,000 books by January first 1965.

We have five months and two years in which to accomplish it. Building up a book collection is a slow process, but our gain has been steady over the years. On January first 1948, when the library first became tax supported, the book collection consisted of 22,923 books. Each year there has been a gain.

In 1958 the total gain was 4,185 books. In 1959 it was 7,115. In 1960 the gain consisted of 6,323 books and in 1961 of 5,619. Already this year we have gained more than 5,000 books and hope to gain at least 2,000 more before the first of the year.

There are gaps in our collection that need to be filled. We need many more children's books than we have and there are new books constantly being published which we wish to add. Our progress is steady and we hope in a few years to have the books which the public needs to fill the demands for recreational and serious reading.

Sometimes people do not understand why they have to wait for popular books. We just cannot buy enough copies of a book for every person in the Parish to read it at the same time. As of today we have 132 people in the Parish waiting to read Mrs. Chennault's book "A Thousand Springs."

The library purchased 12 copies of this book. If all of our patrons would cooperate with the library and return it as soon as they read the book, we could fill these requests in 13 weeks. Please if you get this book from the library, read it and return it at once. Don't lend it to a friend. This is not fair to the people who are on the waiting list at one of the libraries. I have ordered 12 more copies of the book from an agency that rents books to libraries in an effort to relieve the situation, but the best help we can have is from you.

Several interesting books have been added during the past week. A valuable book for college students is "Study Abroad" which lists all sorts of opportunities in the educational field. A perfectly lovely book is "Japanese Women's Folk Costumes" which should be extremely valuable. Do you want to cook the easy way? Try the no cooking cookbook by Lillian Langseth. Another lovely book of interest to collectors is "Chinese Jade Throughout the Ages" by Stanley Charles Nott, while still another unusual and beautiful book is "The World of Japanese Dolls" written by the staff of the Japanese doll school.

Coin collectors will want to see "The History of the Gold Sovereign" by Sir Geoffrey Duveen. A fascinating book in the field of architecture is "Pioneers of modern design from William Morris to Walter Gropius" by Nikolaus Pevsner. For the executive a valuable new book is "Executive Skills by Roger M. Bellows.

CONCERT

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — It will refresh all Bach fanciers to hear an emotionally uncomplicated, almost a naive, approach to the music of their favorite composer. Such an approach belonged to Robert Gerle, violin, and Albert Fuller, harpsichord, in playing the six sonatas for that duo of instruments (Decca-168).

They seem to have nothing in mind except the musicianly task of producing the music as it was conceived by its creator.

To the ears of many who have become accustomed to a more aggressive and a more personalized projection of Bach, this kind of playing may seem rather pedestrian. No reason why it should. Gerle's violin tone is exquisite; he commands it with virtuoso ease and assurance. Fuller's harpsichord playing is impeccably correct.

From dusty archives have been taken three of Handel's cantatas in the Italian style he knew so well and handled so brilliantly, for performance by a chamber orchestra directed (from the harpsichord) by Raymond Leppard and by Helen Watts, a contralto of vocal richness and much emotional savvy for 18th century emotions (L'Oiseau-Lyre-60046).

These cantatas represent the very young Handel when he was a Saxon youth getting Italianized musically in Italy. They're verveful and generally provocative, which make them delightful.

One of the most telling Handel interpreters of our day, George Szell, has recorded the two Handel works most familiar to present - day audiences -- the modern suites made from "The Water Music" and "The Royal Fireworks" Music. He conducted the London Symphony Orchestra and while he had nothing unusual to add to the interpreting he interpreted with utmost effectiveness (London-62-36).

For pleasant listening you're referred to the four horn concertos of Mozart played by Alan Civil, a hornist of both skill and style, and the Philharmonic Orchestra with Otto Klemperer conducting. There's nothing profound about this music but it is engaging (Angel-35689).

POPULAR

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whenever jazz fans talk about trombonists they inevitably get to Kid Ory or George Brunis.

Sentimentalists consider Ory as a sort of a Sir Winston Churchill of jazz. Brunis is, like Kid Ory, a great tailgate trombone player and many consider him the finest of the white sidemen of jazz.

"King of the Tailgate Trombone" by George Brunis (Commodore Fl. 30,015) should be in every jazz collector's library. This superb LP contains some of the sides Brunis made in the 1940's with Pee Wee Russell, Eddie Condon, Edmond Hall, Max Kainsky and Wild Bill Davison.

Brunis, in the midst of such a formidable group, had to establish himself. And those who hear this record will feel that he did.

Another great old timer's work may be heard on "Ted Weems' Golden Hits" (Mercury SR 607-08). Weems, one of the best of the famed big band leaders, has played back in stereo most of the numbers he popularized, such as "Oh, Mona," "Somebody Stole My Gal" and "You're the Cream in My Coffee." "Nola" is conspicuously missing and so is the undisputed king of the whistlers, Elmo Tanner. But Allen Reynolds, the whistler on "Heartaches" and three other numbers, has his own style and many of Weems' fans won't feel slighted. The arrangements, orchestral work and sound reproduction are excellent.

Movie sound track addicts probably will flip over "My Geisha" (RCA Victor LSO - 1070). The musical score was written for this Steve Parker production by Franz Waxman, who got some help from Puccini in the "Butterfly" sequences. This is one of the best movie soundtracks.

Selected Singles — "The Twist to End All Twists" by Robby Lawrence (M-G-M K13081). "Caravan of Lonely Men" by Johnny Hallyday (Philips 40043). "Porgy" by Dakota Station (Capitol 4790). "I'll Come Running Back to You" by Roy Hamilton Epic 5-9520). "The Girl That I Love" by Dino Matthews (Dot 16365).

GOTHIC STRUCTURE

Cathedral Worth Visit To Cologne

By RALPH VILLERS

COLOGNE (UPI) — If Cologne, so badly damaged during World War II, had not been rebuilt, and all its hundreds of thousands of inhabitants had moved away, the city still would offer one of the most rewarding visits possible anywhere in the world.

The reason simply: Cologne Cathedral.

This overwhelming Gothic structure was started in 1248 when Cologne was a northern crossroads for Jerusalem - bound pilgrims.

Almost miraculously, it escaped with what could be described as minor damage considering that the area about it was about 93 per cent destroyed during the wartime bombings.

The Cathedral with its twin, 510-foot spires, pokes above the city and into view long before you arrive at city center by train. But even the preview is deceptive, especially stepping out of the Central Raolroad Station unprepared for the massive monument to Cologne's long religious tradition.

Restoration work inside and outside the Cathedral has been going on since the war. But an impression of damage still remains on an outside front corner, where the massive and richly carved stone has not been — and may never be — replaced.

Inside, bland replacements mark destroyed stained glass windows, but fortunately more were saved than lost and the richness of the blues, greens and deep reds filter the outside light into a state of reverent beauty.

Part of the inspiration to start the Cathedral in the 13th Century — and to continue building until 1880 — was the city's devotion to what are believed the remains of the Three Magi, brought here from Milan in 1164, and now contained in a rich gold and silver casket in a shrine behind the high altar.

The central, and possibly most beautiful, of the stained glass windows recounts the worship of the Three Kings in medieval hues.

In the Chapel of the Crows is found the Gero Crucifix, which dates from about 970, and is the oldest intact carved crucifix north of the Alps.

BOOKS

United Press International

Uneasy Lies the Head, (Bernard Geis, $4.95): The autobiography of Jordan's King Hussein. His story more than justifies the title. Hussein became king 10 years ago at age 17 and has survived an average of one attempt a year on his life ever since. He blames several of them on President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic with occasional connivance of Communist agents. "I am not ashamed to say," he writes, "that at times I felt even death itself would be welcome relief. But then, one had responsibilities and one could never abandon them."

Hussein depicts the Arabs as victims of "disheartening and deceitful policies of the West" and laments that "we have been able to do nothing but divide ourselves further. There was a time when we could unite, in spirit at least, against the imperialist enemy. But we have as yet been unable to unite properly against our two most potent enemies: communism and Zionism." In his final chapter, Hussein welcomes Syria's breakaway from "Nasserite imperialism."

The End of the Imperial Japanese Navy, by Masanori Ito, with Roger Pineau (translated by Andrew Y. Kuroda and Roger Pineau) (Norton $3.95): Anyone fascinated by stories of men and warships doing battle on the high seas should read this authentic account of the slow death of Japan's powerful fleet from 1942 to 1945. The most gripping chapters are those concerned with the battle for Leyte Gulf, the biggest and most decisive naval engagement in the annals of war. The Americans won a crushing victory. But on both sides there were mistakes that will be analyzed as long as anybody cares about World War II. Admiral William Halsey fell for a Japanese decoy plan and endangered the American operation on Leyte. Admiral Takao Kurita, thus handed a golden opportunity, muffed it. The end of the Japanese navy, although it was not clear in 1944, probably sounded the death knell of big surface engagements between capital ships.

The Uses of Ineptitude or How Not to Want to Do Better, by Nicholas Samstag (Ivan Obolensky $3.50): This is a serious book of good advice on how to get off the treadmill and enjoy life. Samstag sees Americans as trying too hard in too many directions, striving after goals they can't reach or just striving from force of habit, resulting in what he calls "omnistrain." To get rid of omnistrain may require the pruning of some favorite ambitions like trying to get ahead on the job or to better one's golf score, but Samstag says the effort to get rid of futile efforts is well worth while.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks advanced for the second straight week, closing Friday at 219.8 from 216.8 a week earlier. Led by industrials and food the commodity index moved higher for the second week in a row, closing today at 163.1 from 162.3 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto)

DOW JONES UP 11.38

Stock Prices Climb Over Second Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid continued doubt about prospects for an income tax cut, the stock market last week put together its second straight weekly advance.

Even as reports came toward the end of the week that prospects for a tax reduction had dimmed considerably, the market managed to nudge ahead.

As trading closed for the week, stock prices scored their sixth rise in seven sessions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 3.00 to 219.80.

Even so, the market closed below its highest figure for the week in both averages. This was reached on Tuesday when the Dow industrials came within a couple of points of the significant 600 level. A considerable amount of stock is believed to be for sale around the 600 area in the Dow, and Wall Streeters say that it may take some doing for the market to chew its way through this overhanding supply.

On Wednesday, the financial community had to assess some good economic news—that unemployment had dropped in mid-July to a 28-month low. This left Wall Street with rather mixed feelings because it has been hoping for a prompt tax cut and news like this, it was felt, might tend to remove the economic basis for a reduction in taxes. President Kennedy has said he will make his decision after he gets the economic reports for July.

As July ended on Tuesday, the market had established a pretty good recovery for the month, approximately 5 per cent, based on the AP average.

Brokers commented that the public was showing signs of some renewed interest in the market and this was further demonstrated by lively trading in a number of moderately-priced issues which seemed to give promise of capital gains.

Volume for the week rose to 16,890,595 shares from 13,914,661 the week before.

When the market rose above the 590 level in the Dow industrials on Monday it constituted what Street technicians called a short-term chart breakout on the upside, as it topped a previous recovery peak. This, in itself, brought in additional buying, brokers said.

On the bond market, the more distant government maturities advanced for the week. Some of the nearer maturities were unchanged to somewhat lower.

In corporate activity on the New York Stock Exchange, volume was only $21.72 million par value. Prices generally were mixed to a shade lower.

Influences Show Bearish Trend In Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Influences in the grain futures market were nearly all bearish last week and prices maintained an almost steady downward trend on the Board of Trade.

Net changes were small, though, except in rye and old crop soybeans, where setbacks were broad. Losses ran to almost four cents in the usually rapidly shifting rye deliveries and to about six cents in August soybeans, where speculative trade has been active lately. Elsewhere, declines were limited largely to major fractions of a cent.

The only genuinely bullish influence of the week was in the form of heat export business on Friday. It was the most substantial in several weeks and amounted to more than 10 million bushels. Brokers said it lifted that category of sales to about the level of a year ago.

August soybeans, which speculators had said showed the best promise of a broad advance just now, came under steady and heavy pressure instead. The talk of a probable tigth supply before the end of the crop year faded as brokers heard reports of more frequent sales by the government from surplus stocks.

Mill buying steadied wheat from time to time but dealers said that type of demand was becoming thinner.

Tax Cutting Issue Gets Mystery Air

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The income tax cut issue took on the suspense of a "whodunit" during the week.

The developing question was whether the July economic statistics will cause President Kennedy to ask Congress to slice taxes immediately instead of next year as he had promised earlier.

Time of decision is little more than a week away.

The first, and one of the most important, indicators — the job situation—came out, and its improvement was interpreted as tending to reduce the possibilities of a quick tax cut.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg reported the number of unemployed declined by 450,000 in the last month. This cut the unemployment rate to 5.3 per cent of the work force, lowest since May 1960.

Both employment and unemployment showed an improvement of about 1.1 million over a year ago.

Goldberg, who is believed to be among the Kennedy advisers urging a tax cut now, said the figures were encouraging.

Kennedy stood pat on his announced intention to wait until mid-August to make a decision. He wants to see reports on retail sales, expenditures and production.

He told his news conference that he wasn't satisfied with current conditions because, "There is still a gap between what we are going and what we could do, based on our manpower and on our plant capacity."

The business outlook was being widely debated. On the optimistic side was the First National City Bank of New York, the nation's third-largest bank. It said, "The weight of the evidence available does not support the view that a recession is at hand."

Reports on several phases of the economy painted a rather spotty picture. They included:

Sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in June totaled $67.4 billion, a drop of $1 billion from May. Retail sales were off nearly 2 per cent.

The annual rate of construction activity declined from $62.5 billion in June to $61.7 billion in July.

Manufacturing and trade inventories increased by $300 million to $97.7 billion between May and June.

Consumer instalment purchases increased by $318 million in July but this was slower than the June pace of $413 million.

Corporate earnings reports continued to flood out of directors' meetings, and indications were that second-quarter profits would be close to the record peacetime rate of the two preceding quarters.

Steel firms, however, did not fare well in the second quarter. U.S. Steel Corp., for example, reported its earnings of $40.2 million were below the $55.8 million of the 1962 first quarter and the $59 million of the 1961 second quarter. Nevertheless, Big Steel declared its usual 75-cent quarterly dividend although the earnings amounted to only 63 cents a share.

Steel production during the week rose for the third consecutive week but amounted to only about 50 per cent of capcity. Output of 2,504,000 tons was 7.6 per cent above the previous week.

Automakers cut back sharply on production during the week to change over to 1963 models. Only Ford and General Motors built cars. Output was estimated at 114,000 passenger cars, compared with 136,341 the previous week.

In July, domestic auto manufacturers built 589,001 cars, a 70 per cent increase over July 1961 and 25,000 more than in June.

Briefly around the business scene: About 1.5 million Americans traveled overseas in 1961 while 624,000 persons from abroad visited this country . . . Chrysler Corp. received a $222.6 million contract to build boosters and equipment for the Saturn space vehicle.

Twenty - one new location were staked in six parishes while 33 rigs were reported actively drilling and testing in 10 prishes, eight each in Tensas and LaSalle.

LaSalle Parish is tops in new locations with five while Catahoula and Union have four, Morehouse and Ouachita three each and Tensas two. One location in Catahoula and one in Tensas are Wildcats.

In addition to the sixteen active wells in Tensas and LaSalle, three are active in Catahoula, six in Concordia, one in Franklin, one in Grant, two in Ouachita, two in Union, one in Rapides and one in Richland.

Four of the active Concordia wells were wildcats, while there were three wildcats in LaSalle, three in Tensas, two in Union and one in Franklin.

There were no re - completions last week and 11 wells were abandoned.

The number of locations was reported as 71, of which 42 were drilling. There were 142 inactive locations.

Cook's report listed these other details on the week's completions, new locations and active rigs.

Cotton Futures Prices Go Down In Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures prices drifted downward last week, declining 5 cents to $1.35 a bale.

The trend was sparked by profit taking after a run-up in prices at the end of the preceding week, and reports indicating the 1962 crop may be larger than expected.

Although the first official forecast of the crop won't come until next week, a leading spot cotton house issued an estimate of 14,850,000 bales.

This estimate put probable harvested acreage at 15.8 million, suggesting a lower than usual abandonment of growing acreage because of weather and weed influences, together with an unusually high per acre yield of 450 pounds.

The 1961 crop amounted to 14,318,000 bales, with a per acre yield of 438 pounds.

The New York Cotton Exchange service bureau estimated exports for the week ended Tuesday at 193,000 bales, compared with 99,000 a week earlier and 67,000 in the comparable 1961 week.

For the season ended July 31, exports were put at 4,946,000 bales against 6,532,000 in the preceding season. However, the bureau said it might have to revise the figure upward.

MISSISSIPPI DRILLING

Oil Field Is Opened For Adams County

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A new a triple completion of its West oil field has been opened up in Adams County.

The new Wildcox sand find by Calto-Gulmon results from their wildcat, the Drane No. 3, in section 58, 5 north, 1 west, in the southeastern part of the county.

The well pumped 129 barrels of oil daily from perforations at 6,701-03 feet. It is located one mile south of the Deerfield field.

In Jones County, about 5 miles southeast of Ellisville, Larco Drilling Co. and O. D. Brame were below 13,100 feet in their closely-watched wildcat, the Walker No. 1 in section 8-7n-11w. It has logged several small oil shows of undetermined commerical worth in the Paluxy formation. The contract depth is 15,000 feet, sufficient to test the Rodessa formation.

Skelly Oil is below 2,800 feet in its Marion County wildcat, The Stringer No. 1, sec. 20-2n-13e, scheduled to go 12,800 feet. It is about 2 miles north of the Dexter field and 4 miles southeast of the Knoxo field.

In the northeast Mississippi hardrock country, W. R. Fairchild and Associates are below 2,400 feet in their Chickasaw County wildcat, the U.S.A. No. 1, sec. 28-13s-4e, a 4,700-foot venture. The test is 14 miles northwest of the Muldon gas field.

In the recently-found deep reservoir of the Yellow Creek field in Wayne County, Sun Oil is making a triple completion of its West No. 1, sec. 13-9n-8w. A perforation at 11,972-92 feet flowed 472 barrels per day. A zone at 12,304-26 feet flowed 145 barrels per day and a zone at 11,381-88 feet is under test.

The Yellow Creek field until year was producing entirely from the Eutaw formation at 5,000 feet.

Field drilling during the past week saw two new oilers completed.

At Junction City in Clarke County, Socony Mobil completed its Alexander-Mayo unit No. 1, sec. 23-2n-16e, as a dual producer.

A sand at 3,097-3,150 feet pumped 150 barrels daily and a sand at 3,654-3,816 pumped 38 barrels daily.

In the Lazy Creek field of Pike County, Smith, Best, Lee and Ladner finaled their Felder No. 3, sec. 9-4n-8e, pumping 120 barrels daily from 10,721-33 feet.

At Dexter in Walthall County, Chesley Pruet Drilling Co. is completing the Reagan unit No. 2, sec. 11-1n-12e. The well is flowing 220 barrels of oil daily from perforations at 9,692-9,708 feet.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Count On Books Misses Standard

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

At the close of each month we make a tabulation of the books added during the month and the books removed during the same period. This figure is added to the total for the previous month and that gives us the actual count as to the number of books in the collection. On August first the book collection consisted of 76,105 books. This total is almost exactly 25,000 books short of what we should have to meet the national standards. Our goal is to reach the figure of 101,000 books by January first 1965.

We have five months and two years in which to accomplish it. Building up a book collection is a slow process, but our gain has been steady over the years. On January first 1948, when the library first became tax supported, the book collection consisted of 52,823 books. Each year there has been a gain.

In 1958 the total gain was 4,185 books. In 1959 it was 7,115. In 1960 the gain consisted of 6,323 books and in 1961 of 5,619. Already this year we have gained more than 5,000 books and hope to gain at least 2,000 more before the first of the year.

There are gaps in our collection that need to be filled. We need many more children's books than we have and there are new books constantly being published which we wish to add. Our progress is steady and we hope in a few years to have the books which the public needs to fill the demands for recreational and serious reading.

Sometimes people do not understand why they have to wait for popular books. We just cannot buy enough copies of a book for every person in the Parish to read it at the same time. As of today we have 132 people in the Parish waiting to read Mrs. Chennault's book "A Thousand Springs."

The library purchased 12 copies of this book. If all of our patrons would cooperate with the library and return it as soon as they read the book, we could fill these requests in 13 weeks. Please if you get this book from the library, read it and return it at once. Don't lend it to a friend. This is not fair to the people who are on the waiting list at one of the libraries. I have ordered 12 more copies of the book from an agency that rents books to libraries in an effort to relieve the situation, but the best help we can have is from you.

Several interesting books have been added during the past week. A valuable book for college students is "Study Abroad" which lists all sorts of opportunities in the educational field. A perfectly lovely book is "Japanese Women's Folk Costumes" which should be extremely valuable. Do you want to cook the easy way? Try the no cooking cookbook by Lillian Langseth. Another lovely book of interest to collectors is "Chinese Jade Throughout the Ages" by Stanley Charles Nott, while still another unusual and beautiful book is "The World of Japanese Dolls" written by the staff of the Japanese doll school.

Coin collectors will want to see "The History of the Gold Sovereign" by Sir Geoffrey Duveen. A fascinating book in the field of architecture is "Pioneers of modern design from William Morris to Walter Gropius" by Nikolaus Pevsner. For the executive a valuable new book is "Executive Skills by Roger M. Bellows.

CONCERT

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — It will refresh all Bach fanciers to hear an emotionally uncomplicated, almost a naive, approach to the music of their favorite composer. Such an approach belonged to Robert Gerle, violin, and Albert Fuller, harpsichord, in playing the six sonatas for that duo of instruments (Decca-168).

They seem to have nothing in mind except the musicianly task of producing the music as it was conceived by its creator.

To the ears of many who have become accustomed to a more aggressive and a more personalized projection of Bach, this kind of playing may seem rather pedestrian. No reason why it should. Gerle's violin tone is exquisite; he commands it with virtuoso ease and assurance. Fuller's harpsichord playing is impeccably correct.

From dusty archives have been taken three of Handel's cantatas in the Italian style he knew so well and handled so brilliantly, for performance by a chamber orchestra directed (from the harpsichord) by Raymond Leppard and by Helen Watts, a contralto of vocal richness and much emotional savvy for 18th century emotions (L'Oiseau-Lyre-60046).

These cantatas represent the very young Handel when he was a Saxon youth getting Italianized musically in Italy. They're verveful and generally provocative, which make them delightful.

One of the most telling Handel interpreters of our day, George Szell, has recorded the two Handel works most familiar to present - day audiences — the modern suites made from "The Water Music" and "The Royal Fireworks' Music. He conducted the London Symphony Orchestra and while he had nothing unusual to add to the interpreting he interpreted with utmost effectiveness (London-62-36).

For pleasant listening you're referred to the four horn concertos of Mozart played by Alan Civil, a hornist of both skill and style, and the Philharmonic Orchestra with Otto Klemperer conducting. There's nothing profound about this music but it is engaging (Angel-35689).

POPULAR

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whenever jazz fans talk about trombonists they inevitably get to Kid Ory or George Brunis.

Sentimentalists consider Ory as a sort of a Sir Winston Churchill of jazz. Brunis is, like Kid Ory, a great tailgate trombone player and many consider him the finest of the white sidemen of jazz.

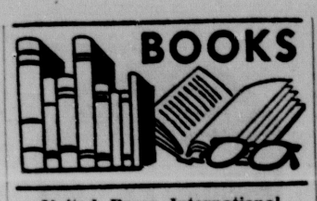

"King of the Tailgate Trombone" by George Brunis (Commodore FL 30,015) should be in every jazz collector's library. This superb LP contains some of the sides Brunis made in the 1940's with Pee Wee Russell, Eddie Condon, Edmond Hall, Max Kainsky and Wild Bill Davison.

Brunis, in the midst of such a formidable group, had to establish himself. And those who hear this record will feel that he did.

Another great old timer's work may be heard on "Ted Weems' Golden Hits" (Mercury SR 607-08). Weems, one of the best of the famed big band leaders, has played back in stereo most of the numbers he popularized, such as "Oh, Mona," "Someboy Stole My Gal" and "You're the Cream in My Coffee." "Nola" is conspicuously missing and so is the undisputed king of the whistlers, Elmo Tanner. But Allen Reynolds, the whistler on "Heartaches" and three other numbers, has his own style and many of Weems' fans won't feel slighted. The arrangements, orchestral work and sound reproduction are excellent.

Movie sound - track addicts probably will flip over "My Geisha" (RCA Victor LSO - 1070). The musical score was written for this Steve Parker production by Franz Waxman, who got some help from Puccini in the "Butterfly" sequences. This is one of the best movie soundtracks.

Selected Singles — "The Twist to End All Twists" by Robby Lawrence (M-G-M K13081), "Caravan of Lonely Men" by Johnny Hallyday (Philips 40043), "Porgy" by Dakota Station (Capitol 4790), "I'll Come Running Back to You" by Roy Hamilton Epic 5-9520), "The Girl That I Love" by Dino Matthews (Dot 16365).

United Press International Uneasy Lies the Head, (Bernard Geis, $4.95): The autobiography of Jordan's King Hussein. His story more than justifies the title. Hussein became king 10 years ago at age 17 and has survived an average of one attempt a year on his life ever since. He blames several of them on President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic with occasional connivance of Communist agents. "I am not ashamed to say," he writes, "that at times I felt even death itself would be welcome relief. But then, one had responsibilities and one could never abandon them."

Hussein depicts the Arabs as victims of "disheartening and deceitful policies of the West" and laments that "we have been able to do nothing but divide ourselves further. There was a time when we could unite, in spirit at least, against the imperialist enemy. But we have as yet been unable to unite properly against our two most potent enemies: communism and Zionism." In his final chapter, Hussein welcomes Syria's breakaway from "Nasserite imperialism."

The End of the Imperial Japanese Navy, by Masanori Ito, with Roger Pineau (translated by Andrew Y. Kuroda and Roger Pineau) (Norton $3.95): Anyone fascinated by stories of men and warships doing battle on the high seas should read this authentic account of the slow death of Japan's powerful fleet from 1942 to 1945. The most gripping chapters are those concerned with the battle for Leyte Gulf, the biggest and most decisive naval engagement in the annals of war. The Americans won a crushing victory. But on both sides there were mistakes that will be analyzed as long as anybody cares about World War II. Admiral William Halsey fell for a Japanese decoy plan and endangered the American operation on Leyte. Admiral Takao Kurita, thus handed a golden opportunity, muffed it. The end of the Japanese navy, although it was not clear in 1944, probably sounded the death knell of big surface engagements between capital ships.

The Uses of Ineptitude or How Not to Want to Do Better, by Nicholas Samstag (Ivan Obolensky $3.50): This is a serious book of good advice on how to get off the treadmill and enjoy life. Samstag sees Americans as trying too hard in too many directions, striving after goals they can't reach or just striving from force of habit, resulting in what he calls "omnistrain." To get rid of omnistrain may require the pruning of some favorite ambitions like trying to get ahead on the job or to better one's golf score, but Samstag says the effort to get rid of futile efforts is well worth while.

GOTHIC STRUCTURE

Cathedral Worth Visit To Cologne

By RALPH VILLERS

COLOGNE (UPI) — If Cologne, so badly damaged during World War II, had not been rebuilt, and all its hundreds of thousands of inhabitants had moved away, the city still would offer one of the most rewarding visits possible anywhere in the world.

The reason simply: Cologne Cathedral.

This overwhelming Gothic structure was started in 1248 when Cologne was a northern crossroads for Jerusalem - bound pilgrims.

Almost miraculously, it escaped with what could be described as minor damage considering that the area about it was about 93 per cent destroyed during the wartime bombings.

The Cathedral with its twin, 510-foot spires, pokes above the city and into view long before you arrive at city center by train. But even the preview is deceptive, especially stepping out of the Central Raolroad Station unprepared for the massive monument to Cologne's long religious tradition.

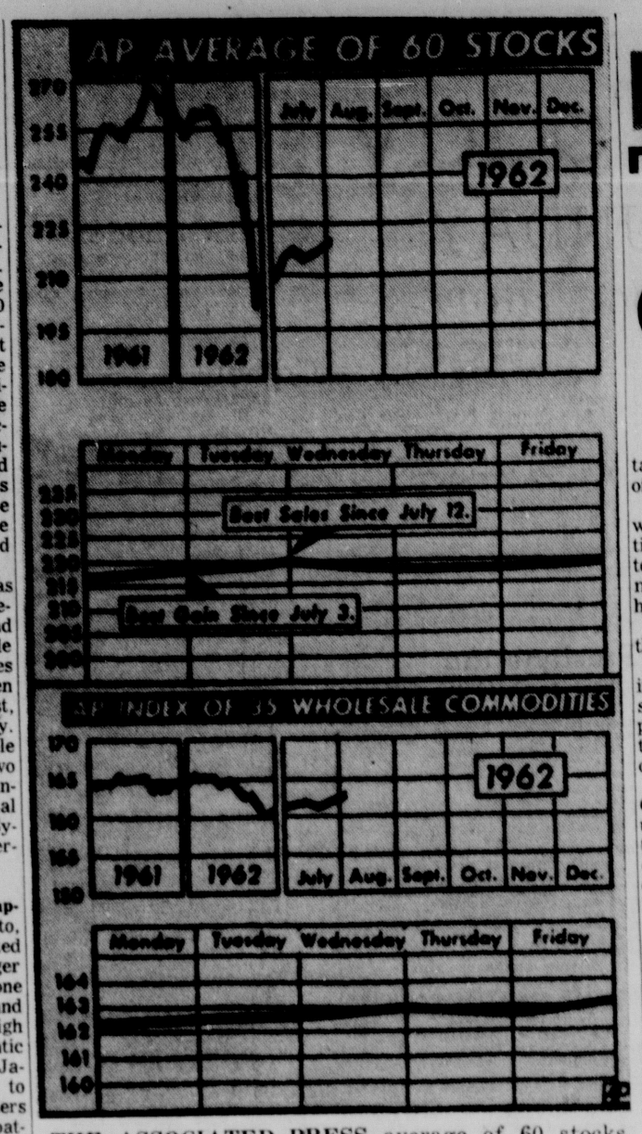

Restoration work inside and outside the Cathedral has been going on since the war. But an impression of damage still remains on an outside front corner, where the massive and richly carved stone has not been — and may never be — replaced.

Inside, bland replacements mark destroyed stained glass windows, but fortunately more were saved than lost and the richness of the blues, greens and deep reds filter the outside light into a state of reverent beauty.

Part of the inspiration to start the Cathedral in the 13th Century — and to continue building until 1880 — was the city's devotion to what are believed the remains of the Three Magi, brought here from Milan in 1164, and now contained in a rich gold and silver casket in a shrine behind the high altar.

The central, and possibly most beautiful, of the stained glass windows recounts the worship of the Three Kings in medieval hues.

In the Chapel of the Crows is found the Gero Crucifix, which dates from about 970, and is the oldest intact carved crucifix north of the Alps.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks advanced for the second straight week, closing Friday at 219.8 from 216.8 a week earlier. Led by industrials and food the commodity index moved higher for the second week in a row, closing today at 163.1 from 162.3 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto)

DOW JONES UP 11.38

Stock Prices Climb Over Second Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid continued doubt about prospects for an income tax cut, the stock market last week put together its second straight weekly advance.

Even as reports came toward the end of the week that prospects for a tax reduction had dimmed considerably, the market managed to nudge ahead.

As trading closed for the week, stock prices scored their sixth rise in seven sessions.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week advanced 11.38 to 596.38.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 3.00 to 219.80.

Even so, the market closed below its highest figure for the week in both averages. This was reached on Tuesday when the Dow industrials came within a couple of points of the significant 600 level. A considerable amount of stock is believed to be for sale around the 600 area in the Dow, and Wall Streeters say that it may take some doing for the market to chew its way through this overhanding supply.

On Wednesday, the financial community had to assess some good economic news—that unemployment had dropped in mid-July to a 26-month low. This left Wall Street with rather mixed feelings because it has been hoping for a prompt tax cut and news like this, it was felt, might tend to remove the economic basis for a reduction in taxes. President Kennedy has said he will make his decision after he gets the economic reports for July.

As July ended on Tuesday, the market had established a pretty good recovery for the month, approximately 5 per cent, based on the AP average.

Brokers commented that the public was showing signs of some renewed interest in the market and this was further demonstrated by lively trading in a number of moderately-priced issues which seemed to give promise of capital gains.

Volume for the week rose to 16,890,595 shares from 13,914,661 the week before.

When the market rose above the 590 level in the Dow industrials on Monday it constituted what Street technicians called a short-term chart breakout on the upside, as it topped a previous recovery peak. This, in itself, brought in additional buying, brokers said.

On the bond market, the more distant government maturities advanced for the week. Some of the nearer maturities were unchanged to somewhat lower.

Influences Show Bearish Trend In Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Influences in the grain futures market were nearly all bearish last week and prices maintained an almost steady downward trend on the Board of Trade.

Net changes were small, though, except in rye and old crop soybeans, where setbacks were broad. Losses ran to almost four cents in the usually rapidly shifting rye deliveries and to about six cents in August soybeans, where speculative trade has been active lately. Elsewhere, declines were limited largely to major fractions of a cent.

The only genuinely bullish influence of the week was in the form of heat export business on Friday. It was the most substantial in several weeks and amounted to more than 10 million bushels. Brokers said it lifted that category of sales to about the level of a year ago.

August soybeans, which speculators had said showed the best promise of a broad advance just now, came under steady and heavy pressure instead. The talk of a probable tigth supply before the end of the crop year faded as brokers heard reports of more frequent sales by the government from surplus stocks.

Mill buying steadied wheat from time to time but dealers said that type of demand was becoming thinner.

Tax Cutting Issue Gets Mystery Air

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The income tax cut issue took on the suspense of a "whodunit" during the week.

The developing question was whether the July economic statistics will cause President Kennedy to ask Congress to slice taxes immediately instead of next year as he had promised earlier.

Time of decision is little more than a week away.

The first, and one of the most important, indicators — the job situation—came out, and its improvement was interpreted as tending to reduce the possibilities of a quick tax cut.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg reported the number of unemployed declined by 450,000 in the last month. This cut the unemployment rate to 5.3 per cent of the work force, lowest since May 1960.

Both employment and unemployment showed an improvement of about 1.1 million over a year ago.

Goldberg, who is believed to be among the Kennedy advisers urging a tax cut now, said the figures were encouraging.

Kennedy stood pat on his announced intention to wait until mid-August to make a decision. He wants to see reports on retail sales, expenditures and production.

He told his news conference that he wasn't satisfied with current conditions because, "There is still a gap between what we are going and what we could do, based on our manpower and on our plant capacity."

The business outlook was being widely debated. On the optimistic side was the First National City Bank of New York, the nation's third-largest bank. It said, "The weight of the evidence available does not support the view that a recession is at hand."

Reports on several phases of the economy painted a rather spotty picture. They included:

Sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in June totaled $67.4 billion, a drop of $1 billion from May. Retail sales were off nearly 2 per cent.

The annual rate of construction activity declined from $62.5 billion in June to $61.7 billion in July.

Manufacturing and trade inventories increased by $300 million to $97.7 billion between May and June.

Consumer instalment purchases increased by $318 million in July but this was slower than the June pace of $413 million.

Corporate earnings reports continued to flood out of directors' meetings, and indications were that second-quarter profits would be close to the record peacetime rate of the two preceding quarters.

Steel firms, however, did not fare well in the second quarter. U.S. Steel Corp., for example, reported its earnings of $40.2 million were below the $55.8 million of the 1962 first quarter and the $59 million of the 1961 second quarter. Nevertheless, Big Steel declared its usual 75-cent quarterly dividend although the earnings amounted to only 63 cents a share.

Steel production during the week rose for the third consecutive week but amounted to only about 50 per cent of capcity. Output of $,504,000 tons was 7.6 per cent above the previous week.

Automakers cut back sharply on production during the week to change over to 1963 models. Only Ford and General Motors built cars. Output was estimated at 114,000 passenger cars, compared with 136,341 the previous week.

In July, domestic auto manufacturers built 589,001 cars, a 79 per cent increase over July 1961 and 25,000 more than in June.

Briefly around the business scene About 1.5 million Americans traveled overseas in 1961 while 624,000 persons from abroad visited this country . . . Chrysler Corp. received a $222.6 million contract to build boosters and equipment for the Saturn space vehicle.

Cotton Futures Prices Go Down In Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures prices drifted downward last week, declining 5 cents to $1.35 a bale.

The trend was sparked by profit taking after a run-up in prices at the end of the preceding week, and reports indicating the 1962 crop may be larger than expected.

Although the first official forecast of the crop won't come until next week, a leading spot cotton house issued an estimate of 14,850,000 bales.

This estimate put probable harvested acreage at 15.8 million, suggesting a lower than usual abandonment of growing acreage because of weather and weed influences, together with an unusually high per acre yield of 450 pounds.

The 1961 crop amounted to 14,318,000 bales, with a per acre yield of 438 pounds.

The New York Cotton Exchange service bureau estimated exports for the week ended Tuesday at 193,000 bales, compared with 99,000 a week earlier and 67,000 in the comparable 1961 week.

For the season ended July 31, exports were put at 4,946,000 bales against 6,532,000 in the preceding season. However, the bureau said it might have to revise the figure upward.

MISSISSIPPI DRILLING

Oil Field Is Opened For Adams County

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A new oil field has been opened up in Adams County.

The new Wildcox sand find by Calto-Gulmon results from their wildcat, the Drane No. 3, in section 58, 5 north, 1 west, in the southeastern part of the county.

The well pumped 129 barrels of oil daily from perforations at 6,701-03 feet. It is located one mile south of the Deerfield field.

In Jones County, about 5 miles southeast of Ellisville, Larco Drilling Co. and O. D. Brame were below 13,100 feet in their closely-watched wildcat, the Walker No. 1 in section 8-7n-11w. It has logged several small oil shows of undetermined commerical worth in the Paluxy formation. The contract depth is 15,000 feet, sufficient to test the Rodessa formation.

Skelly Oil is below 2,800 feet in its Marion County wildcat, The Stringer No. 1, sec. 20-2n-13e, scheduled to go 12,800 feet. It is about 2 miles north of the Dexter field and 4 miles southeast of the Knoxo field.

In the northeast Mississippi hardrock country, W. R. Fairchild and Associates are below 2,400 feet in their Chickasaw County wildcat, the U.S.A. No. 1, sec. 28-13s-4e, a 4,700-foot venture. The test is 14 miles northwest of the Muldon gas field.

In the recently-found deep reservoir of the Yellow Creek field in Wayne County, Sun Oil is making a triple completion of its West No. 1, sec. 13-9n-8w. A perforation at 11,972-92 feet flowed 472 barrels per day. A zone at 12,304-26 feet flowed 145 barrels per day and a zone at 11,381-88 feet is under test.

The Yellow Creek field until year was producing entirely from the Eutaw formation at 5,000 feet.

Field drilling during the past week saw two new oilers completed.

At Junction City in Clarke County, Socony Mobil completed its Alexander-Mayo unit No. 1, sec. 23-2n-16e, as a dual producer.

A sand at 3,097-3,150 feet pumped 150 barrels daily and a sand at 3,654-3,816 pumped 38 barrels daily.

In the Lazy Creek field of Pike County, Smith, Best, Lee and Ladner finaled their Felder No. 3, sec. 9-4n-8e, pumping 120 barrels daily from 10,721-33 feet.

At Dexter in Walthall County, Chesley Pruet Drilling Co. is completing the Reagan unit No. 2, sec. 11-1n-12e. The well is flowing 220 barrels of oil daily from perforations at 9,692-9,708 feet.

Camera Notes

By BILL JOHNSON

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—J. Sol Wrenn Jr. is a man who believes in wading right in when there's a job to do. Matter of fact, not too long ago he waded in up to his armpits to get pictures of snakes swimming by.

The snakes didn't seem to mind and Wrenn got his pictures — a sequence in an 18-minute color documentary film on Virginia's Dismal Swamp.

Wrenn is a professional photographer who works for the Virginia Department of Education in the production end of a development which has spread into nearly every classroom since the end of World War II — audio-visual education. He and three other members of the department's Film Production Service have turned out films ranging from biographies of James Monroe and Robert E. Lee to industrial arts and vocational rehabilitation.

UNIQUE

"We are unique in the field," says J. E. Oglesby, head of the service. "New York City and Florida have recently set up similar operations, but we've been in business since 1947. In other states, films are made by the extension divisions of the universities."

In the 15 years since the first camera turned, the service has produced nearly 50 motion pictures, dozens of film strips, hundreds of slides and numerous tape recordings.

Although the films are intended primarily for Virginia use, many find their way into classrooms in other states and even in foreign countries. The most ambitious project, a three - part series on the elementary school which runs 67 minutes, has been used in every state.

FILMOGRAPH

"The Character of Lee," a black and white study of the Confederate general done in the filmograph technique — the use of old photographs and other graphic materials on motion picture film — was recently completed for the Virginia Civil War Commission.

"The idea was not to show history as such," Oglesby says, "but rather to provide an insight into the character of Lee. We kept it in his mood and day. Our technical people informed us that Lee did not have a Southern accent, so for the narrator we had to find a person whose voice seemed best."

Ideas for films come from various sources, from other state agencies, from other divisions in the Education Department, and even from teachers throughout the state.

Once the service feels a particular idea would make a good film, authority to begin work must be given by the governor and the state superintendent of public instruction.

The writing, editing, filming and sound is handled by the service. Commercial laboratories process the film.

A modern sound mixer takes narration, background music and sound effects from four separate tapes and blends them onto one. This is then sent to the processor, which prints it on the film as an optical sound track.

"We have found that a 15-to-20-minute film is best for classroom use," Oglesby says. "That gives the teacher time to prepare the class, show the film and then follow up with additional material."

CAN'T HODGE PODGE

A film to be good can't be just a hodge-podge of random scenes. A key must be found to tie it together and water was the key to one of the service's most successful films, on the state's natural wonders.

The film opens with a scene of the ocean pounding on the shore while the voice of the narrator explains that water is the universal agent. Each scene depicting a natural wonder uses the water theme — how water cuts through limestone layers to produce caverns; how water made Natural Bridge, the water in Dismal Swamp, and how water cut the scenic passes through the mountains.

Oglesby figures that the state is getting a bargain through the service.

"We can make a 10-minute color and sound film for about $700," he says. "To have it done commercially would cost about $12,000.

THIS CLOSE-UP study of a day lily in a local garden was taken by Richard Greene on 35 millimeter film.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice Farmer,

"I have done all my own sewing for 40 years, but your column has made me feel young again. It's nice to know that so many young women are sewing again. I have to sew to get clothes that fit.

"My worst problem is that I have round shoulders and the dresses don't fit right at the shoulder and are too long in front. Can you help me with this fitting problem that lots of women have when they get older?"

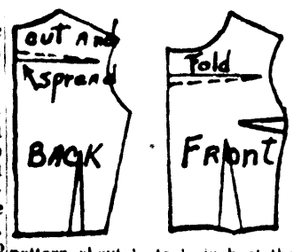

MRS. C.V.W.

ROUND SHOULDERS

Dear Mrs. C.V.W.:

This is a very common problem. I think the illustrations should help you alter your pattern before you cut your garment.

Slash the pattern BACK about 4 inches below the shoulder, from the center back to within an inch of the armhole. Next, spread the pattern about ¼ to ½ inch at the center back, depending on the amount needed for you. It may be necessary to take a small dart at the back neckline for a better fit.

You must now change the bodice front. Because you are rounded in back, the bodice front will be too long. Make a fold in your pattern FRONT about 4 inches below the shoulder. Your fold will be the same amount you have spread the back. This will shorten the pattern where necessary and should give you a much nicer fit.

SMOOTH IRONING

"When you put a new cover on your ironing board, (or a clean one), wet it and wring it out fairly dry and then put it on before it dries. It will shrink slightly as it dries and fit perfectly, without a wrinkle." — Mrs. Cletus Derouen, New Iberia, La., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing board for this helpful suggestion.

"Dear Eunice Farmer,

"Here is an easy way to shorten a permanent pleated skirt from the waistline, and still have it fit the waistband. Take a piece of seam tape the exact size of the waistband and pin it just below the new cutting line. This will hold your pleats in place. You may proceed to cut off the excess fabric and replace your waistband with very little effort."

CHIFFON SHEATH

"Dear Eunice,

"I intend to make a sheath dress of chiffon this fall. Please give me a few hints to give me courage."

Mrs. W. T. R.

Dear Mrs. W.T.R.

I hope you are an experienced steamstress. Chiffon takes plenty of skill and know-how. Today, our loveliest ready-made garments are made with 2 or 3 layers of chiffon. This is especially important for sheath dresses.

Clip the selvage before laying the pattern on chiffon. If your cutting surface is slick, lay a sheet over it so the fabric won't slide. Use sharp pins and sharp scissors to keep the cut edges straight. Place identical layers together and baste several times. These bastings must be done on a FLAT surface so they will come out identical. Don't over-fit chiffon or cause any pull or strain.

After all sections have been basted together, machine stitch like one piece, using silk thread, a slightly looser tension, and a very fine machine needle. Make French seams wherever possible and put the slide fastener in by hand. The results of a professional looking chiffon dress will boost your morale to the limit and make you forget any frustrations you experience during construction. Remember, chiffon is a year round type fabric.

Please send your questions and sewing tips to Sew Simple, in care of Monroe Morning World.

Stamp News

Bulan Bahasa Kebangsaan which means "National Language Month" in Malaya is being honored by the Federation of Malaya with three new postage stamps in triangular design. Each stamp will feature a Palmyra palm leaf and the motto "Bahasa Jiwa Bangsa" — Language is the Life of the Nation.

The 10 sen is Purple and brown; the 20 sen is Green and brown; the 50 sen is Red and brown.

The U.S. Post Office Department has relaxed its recent ruling which stated that request for first-day covers must be received five days in advance of the issuance date. This rule has been modified temporarily so that requests may be received up to the first day of issuance.

One of the reasons for this relaxation is that the Post Office Department has been late with its advance notices on the dates of issuance for new United States stamps. The guess in many quarters is that the Post Office Department was awaiting Congressional action on the proposal for a 5 cent rate for surface mail and it was necessary to wait to find out whether the new commemoratives would be 4 cent or 5 cent stamps. It is believed that as soon as the new rate would go into effect the five-day ruling will again be announced.

Ethiopia has issued a new stamp honoring the second anniversary of the presence of the Ethiopian contingent for the United Nations Forces in the Congo. The new stamp simultaneously honors the 70th anniversary of the birth of Emperor Haile Sellassie. The Ethiopian brigade left for the Congo on July 10, 1960, and was completely on duty by July 22. The central design of the stamp depicts an Ethiopian soldier outlined against a map of the Congo. In the upper right hand corner is a vignette portrait of King Haile Sellassie. The words "Collective Security" appear at the upper level.

Belgium has issued its new semi-postals featuring birds at the Antwerp Zoo. Illustrated on the stamps are the following birds: Rock Cock; Red Lory; Senelgelese Turaco; Short-beeked Toucon; Great Bird of Paradise, and Congolese Peacock.

A new pamphlet entitled "Astronomy on Stamps" has been written by Alphonse P. Mayernik. It lists approximately 500 stamps based on astronomical subjects. Mayernik omitted allegorical issues which had merely astronautical representations or symbols such as a star and crescent. He also omitted rocket and astronautical stamps which do not include celestial bodies.

WALKED FAR TO MOM

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—When a teen-ager ran away one night from a lakeside boys' camp for delinquents, Kentucky welfare officials searched vainly for him for two days.

Then, shoes torn and feet blistered, the boy showed up 225 miles away at his much stricter former training institution.

"Hi, mom," he told a house parent. "I've come back home."

Officials let him stay.

Many Things Offer Color

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Mr. or Mrs. Gardener, your landscape can be colorful and interesting the year around if you plan wisely. Keep in mind not only blooms but foliage, fruit, seed and branches as well.

It is possible to have continuous color in your landscape. Do not select plants because of their flowering habits along. The mimosa, crape myrtle, golden rain, nandinas, and numerous other plants have excellent displays of seed pod, good fall color and branching as well as vivid blooms. Plan to use different plants that will give some color the year round. Often the home grounds become almost bleak after the spring blooming. Non living or structural materials such as fences, screens, plant containers, garden furniture, rocks, pools and surfacing materials add a permanent color and enrichment in the landscape. Plan carefully and achieve color.

STABILITY OF CHAIRS

There's more to selecting a dining room set than simple picking out an attractive grouping. If you intend to really use the furniture, the chairs should be comfortable. Since chairs are built for people of average height and weight and few of us are truly average, there's only one way to judge a chair. That's to sit in it.

Pull the chair up to the table. Do your legs fit underneath? Does the chair support your body in a comfortable relaxed position? Could you sit in it for a long time without feeling cramped?

Here are some things you should look for according to our house furnishing specialist, Mrs. Jessie Mae Hill. The height of the chair should permit your feet to rest comfortably on the floor. The seat should be about 16 inches in depth. If you're tall, or long from knee to hip, you may prefer a deeper seat. Be sure you fit far enough back in the chair so that your back is supported. The chair seat should be wide enough so you can move easily without falling off or feeling that you might.

The seat of the chair should be shaped to fit the body. Saddle shape and molded plastic seats usually fit better than flat seats. But too deep a scoop may confine you to one spot and become uncomfortable. Watch for this especially in some ultra modern chairs.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Blue Ribbon Show Given

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Congratulations to the Garden of Eden Garden Club of Bastrop, for the Blue Ribbon Show presented by members of the club, with their president, Mrs. J. E. Jackson, for the T.V. and Garden Center last week.

Mrs. Guy Ludwig, Fifth District Louisiana Garden Club Flower Show judge, judged this lovely show which consisted of seven arrangements — all rating blue ribbon scores.

There was, also, an array of beautiful horticulture specimens which presented a show within itself.

Mrs. J. E. Jackson used the brown dried dock for the massed line design, an assymetrical triangle, in a wooden compote of natural brown color. The main flower in this design was the lime yellow marigolds which were placed within this triangle design, massed at the base, forming the focal area.

The foliage of the marigolds was used as a filler. The color combination was very striking. This was a large arrangement that would be so suitable for the church entrance or sanctuary. The judge commented that Mrs. Jackson had given this design good height by the clever use of her line material and the marigolds. The blue ribbon score was 92.

RED FOLIAGE

Mrs. W. J. Eubanks used the red barberry foliage for her line material in a massed - vertical design. The container was a soft green pottery urn. The only flower used was the placement of three large orange - red zinnias within the vertical line a very dramatic color combination.

The judge commented that better unity between the zinnias and the barberry could have been achieved had the arranger used a broad leaf near the base as a background for the zinnias. She suggested the red or green canna foliage. The score of 90 gave this design a blue ribbon.

A symmetrical triangel design was made by Mrs. W. Clifton Beasley who used rose - red celosia and cerese glad buds to form the over all line in a white milk glass compote. The flowers in this design were the cerese glad and the lovely pink and white rubrum lilies. Just lovely for the guest bedroom or the small console table. The judge scored this a blue ribbon with grade of 90.

OVAL DESIGN

Mrs. Clifton Beasley also made a massed oval design, free-standing arrangement, suitable for the tea table. She used daylilies only in colors ranging from light creamy yellow into bronze and gold. The container was a combination of two crystal bowls, one large bowl with a smaller compote placed in it's center, forming a fountain - type container. This was a very decorative arrangement, and caused quite a bit of comment from visitors at the center this past week. It was a real eye-catcher. The judge's scoring for this was 92.

Mrs. David Ogden made lazy crescent design using clipped pine for the line in a low green bowl. The golden glow (rudbeckia laciniata) was used as a filler and the main flower within this line, massed at the central or focal area. Violet foliage was used in front to break the line of the containers. This design would be perfect for a low table or used beneath a mirror. The judge remarked that it showed excellent workmanship, very beautifully executed. It rated 92, a blue ribbon score.

BLUE RIBBONS

Mrs. Fred Smith made two similar designs, using the lovely Hogarth line in both. She seemed to compete with herself and ran a close race because both rated blue ribbons, scoring the highest in the show. One was made with the English ivy as the line in a silver compote container. The pink (apple blossom) dahlia was used within the line. Dusty Miller was used as a filler, just perfect with the silver container. This arrangement was elegant on a round table mirror edged in silver. The judge scored this 98. She remarked that this was a very ingenius and subtle combination of flower container and base.

In the second Hogarth Mrs. Smith used Burford holly for the line in a lovely antique silver pitcher that had been placed on another round table mirror edged in ornate silver design. The dahlias used were yellow - edged with pink. The filler of Rose-of-Montana was used, creating unity within the design. It was just elegant in every way. This design scored 95.

The horticulture exhibit contained the lovely magnolia grandiflora, the Rubrum lilies, Lord George dahlia, and daylilies. The daylily varieties were "Wine Eye," "Summer Love, a seedling", "Golden Galleon," "Lime seedling," "Goldie Phillips", and "Summer Love". A very unusual collection of daylilies at this time of year.

Thanks and "Congratulations go to this club for such an outstanding show.

Another garden club will exhibit next Wednesday. The Home Gardener Club of which Mrs. S. W. Raby is president will bring us the Garden Center and T.V. show. Be watching and come visit the Garden Center. I'll be looking for you.

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Behold the lowly turtle, he can't get anywhere without sticking his neck out."

This adage is inscribed on a drawing of a tortoise hanging in the New York office of Benjamin Osher.

Now president and chairman of the board of an enterprise with six divisions and plants, offices and research facilities in Tennessee, Puerto Rico, Canada, New York and Philadelphia, Osher got his start by sticking his neck out.

He founded Kleer-Vu industries with an initial investment of $70 and has turned it into a firm with annual sales of around $3 million.

Kleer-Vu manufactures a variety of plastic accessories for industrial use and is making advances in the field of ultrasonics, inaudible high frequency sound energy, and its application in manufacturing and packaging operations.

DEVELOPS COVERS

When he founded the company in 1942, Osher, a native New Yorker and graduate of New York University, was working in a wartime shipyard. He noted that the charts and blueprints with which he worked became smudged, creased and unreadable, so he developed protective plastic covers for them.

At first, Osher worked at home, with the help of his wife, Anne. Their first order was for $4,000 worth of plastic protectors. Together they packed, labeled and shipped orders.

Because of wartime shortages, Oscar had a difficult time getting the acetate sheeting he needed for his plastic covers. He learned that the Hollywood cartoon studios used plastic film on which to draw their characters and he arranged to buy used and discarded sheets. These he cleaned up and reused for covers.

NO SHORT CUT

Osher likes to tell his five children that the secret of success is nothing but "hard work. There is no short cut."

"You must learn as much as you can and keep informed," he says.

The biennial canterburybells are little grown here in the south, but they are very worthwhile for a big show of bloom just before hot weather rushes us from winter into summer. In this connection, it is wise to plant them where they can have some shade for at least part of the day. In England, I have marvelled at how much shade they could take. Planted now, they will make fine plants for next spring's blooming. Unless they are growing in a shady spot, canterburybells will die off as soon as they have finished blooming. At best, the same plants will not last but two seasons, so it is wise to let them seed themselves or plant seeds every year for the next.

Camera Notes

By BILL JOHNSON

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—J. Sol Wrenn Jr. is a man who believes in wading right in when there's a job to do. Matter of fact, not too long ago he waded in up to his armpits to get pictures of snakes swimming by.

The snakes didn't seem to mind and Wrenn got his pictures — a sequence in an 18-minute color documentary film on Virginia's Dismal Swamp.

Wrenn is a professional photographer who works for the Virginia Department of Education in the production end of a development which has spread into nearly every classroom since the end of World War II — audio-visual education. He and three other members of the department's Film Production Service have turned out films ranging from biographies of James Monroe and Robert E. Lee to industrial arts and vocational rehabilitation.

UNIQUE

"We are unique in the field," says J. E. Oglesby, head of the service. "New York City and Florida have recently set up similar operations, but we've been in business since 1947. In other states, films are made by the extension divisions of the universities."

In the 15 years since the first camera turned, the service has produced nearly 50 motion pictures, dozens of film strips, hundreds of slides and numerous tape recordings.

Although the films are intended primarily for Virginia use, many find their way into classrooms in other states and even in foreign countries. The most ambitious project, a three - part series on the elementary school which runs 67 minutes, has been used in every state.

FILMOGRAPH

"The Character of Lee," a black and white study of the Confederate general done in the filmograph technique — the use of old photographs and other graphic materials on motion picture film — was recently completed for the Virginia Civil War Commission.

"The idea was not to show history as such," Oglesby says, "but rather to provide an insight into the character of Lee. We kept it in his mood and day. Our technical people informed us that Lee did not have a Southern accent, so for the narrator we had to find a person whose voice seemed best."

Ideas for films come from various sources, from other state agencies, from other divisions in the Education Department, and even from teachers throughout the state.

Once the service feels a particular idea would make a good film, authority to begin work must be given by the governor and the state superintendent of public instruction.

The writing, editing, filming and sound is handled by the service. Commercial laboratories process the film.

A modern sound mixer takes narration, background music and sound effects from four separate tapes and blends them onto one. This is then sent to the processor, which prints it on the film as an optical sound track.

"We have found that a 15-to-20-minute film is best for classroom use," Oglesby says. "That gives the teacher time to prepare the class, show the film and then follow up with additional material."

CAN'T HODGE PODGE

A film to be good can't be just a hodge-podge of random scenes. A key must be found to tie it together and water was the key to one of the service's most successful films, on the state's natural wonders.

The film opens with a scene of the ocean pounding on the shore while the voice of the narrator explains that water is the universal agent. Each scene depicting a natural wonder uses the water theme — how water cuts through limestone layers to produce caverns; how water made Natural Bridge, the water in Dismal Swamp, and how water cut the scenic passes through the mountains.

Oglesby figures that the state is getting a bargain through the service.

"We can make a 10-minute color and sound film for about $700," he says. "To have it done commercially would cost about $12,000.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice Farmer,

"I have done all my own sewing for 40 years, but your column has made me feel young again. It's nice to know that so many young women are sewing again. I have to sew to get clothes that fit.

"My worst problem is that I have round shoulders and the dresses don't fit right at the shoulder and are too long in front. Can you help me with this fitting problem that lots of women have when they get older?"

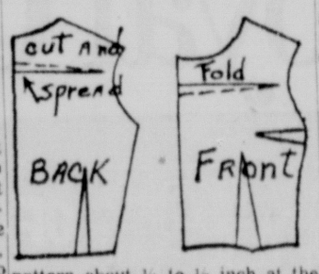

MRS C.V.W.

ROUND SHOULDERS

Dear Mrs. C.V.W.:

This is a very common problem. I think the illustrations should help you alter your pattern before you cut your garment.

Slash the pattern BACK about 4 inches below the shoulder, from the center back to within an inch of the armhole. Next, spread the pattern about ¼ to ½ inch at the center back, depending on the amount needed for you. It may be necessary to take a small dart at the back neckline for a better fit.

You must now change the bodice front. Because you are rounded in back, the bodice front will be too long. Make a fold in your pattern FRONT about 4 inches below the shoulder. Your fold will be the same amount you have spread the back. This will shorten the pattern where necessary and should give you a much nicer fit.

SMOOTH IRONING

"When you put a new cover on your ironing board, (or a clean one), wet it and wring it out fairly dry and then put it on before it dries. It will shrink slightly as it dries and fit perfectly, without a wrinkle." — Mrs. Cletus Derouen, New Iberia, La., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing board for this helpful suggestion.

"Dear Eunice Farmer,

"Here is an easy way to shorten a permanent pleated skirt from the waistline, and still have it fit the waistband. Take a piece of seam tape the exact size of the waistband and pin it just below the new cutting line. This will hold your pleats in place. You may proceed to cut off the excess fabric and replace your waistband with very little effort."

CHIFFON SHEATH

"Dear Eunice,

"I intend to make a sheath dress of chiffon this fall. Please give me a few hints to give me courage."

Mrs. W. T. R.

Dear Mrs. W.T.R.:

I hope you are an experienced steamstress. Chiffon takes plenty of skill and know-how. Today, our loveliest ready-made garments are made with 2 or 3 layers of chiffon. This is especially important for sheath dresses.

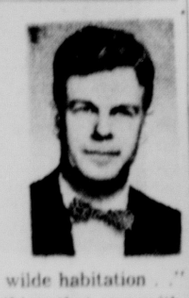

Clip the selvage before laying the pattern on chiffon. If your cutting surface is slick, lay a sheet over it so the fabric won't slide. Use sharp pins and sharp scissors to keep the cut edges straight. Place identical layers together and baste several times. These bastings must be done on a FLAT surface so they will come out identical. Don't over-fit chiffon or cause any pull or strain.

After all sections have been basted together, machine stitch like one piece, using silk thread, a slightly looser tension, and a very fine machine needle. Make French seams wherever possible and put the slide fastener in by hand. The results of a professional looking chiffon dress will boast your morale to the limit and make you forget any frustrations you experience during construction. Remember, chiffon is a year round type fabric.

Please send your questions and sewing tips to Sew Simple, in care of Monroe Morning World.

Stamp News

Bulan Bahasa Kebangsaan which means "National Language Month" in Malaya is being honored by the Federation of Malaya with three new postage stamps in triangular design. Each stamp will feature a Palmyra palm leaf and the motto "Bahasa Jiwa Bangsa" — Language Is the Life of the Nation.

The 10 sen is Purple and brown; the 20 sen is Green and brown; the 50 sen is Red and brown.

The U.S. Post Office Department has relaxed its recent ruling which stated that request for first-day covers must be received five days in advance of the issuance date. This rule has been modified temporarily so that requests may be received up to the first day of issuance.

One of the reasons for this relaxation is that the Post Office Department has been late with its advance notices on the dates of issuance for new United States stamps. The guess in many quarters is that the Post Office Department was awaiting Congressional action on the proposal for a 5 cent rate for surface mail and it was necessary to wait to find out whether the new commemoratives would be 4 cent or 5 cent stamps. It is believed that as soon as the new rate would go into effect the five-day ruling will again be announced.

Ethiopia has issued a new stamp honoring the second anniversary of the presence of the Ethiopian contingent for the United Nations Forces in the Congo. The new stamp simultaneously honors the 70th anniversary of the birth of Emperor Haile Sellassie. The Ethiopian brigade left for the Congo on July 10, 1960, and was completely on duty by July 22. The central design of the stamp depicts an Ethiopian soldier outlined against a map of the Congo. In the upper right hand corner is a vignette portrait of King Haile Sellassie. The words "Collective Security" appear at the upper level.

Belgium has issued its new semi-postals featuring birds at the Antwerp Zoo. Illustrated on the stamps are the following birds. Rock Cock; Red Lory; Senelgelese Turaco; Short-beeked Toucon; Great Bird of Paradise, and Congolese Peacock.

A new pamphlet entitled "Astronomy on Stamps" has been written by Alphonse P. Mayernik. It lists approximately 500 stamps based on astronomical subjects. Mayernik omitted allegorical issues which had merely astronautical representations or symbols such as a star and crescent. He also omitted rocket and astronautical stamps which do not include celestial bodies.

Many Things Offer Color

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Mr. or Mrs. Gardener, your landscape can be colorful and interesting the year around if you plan wisely. Keep in mind not only blooms but foliage, fruit, seed and branches as well.

It is possible to have continuous color in your landscape. Do not select plants because of their flowering habits along. The mimosa, crape myrtle, golden rain, nandinas, and numerous other plants have excellent displays of seed pod, good fall color and branching as well as vivid blooms. Plan to use different plants that will give some color the year round. Often the home grounds become almost bleak after the spring blooming. Non living or structural materials such as fences, screens, plant containers, garden furniture, rocks, pools and surfacing materials add a permanent color and enrichment in the landscape. Plan carefully and achieve color.

SITABILITY OF CHAIRS

There's more to selecting a dining room set than simple picking out an attractive grouping. If you intend to really use the furniture, the chairs should be comfortable. Since chairs are built for people of average height and weight and few of us are truly average, there's only one way to judge a chair. That's to sit in it.

Pull the chair up to the table. Do your legs fit underneath? Does the chair support your body in a comfortable relaxed position? Could you sit in it for a long time without feeling cramped?

Here are some things you should look for according to our house furnishing specialist, Mrs. Jessie Mae Hill. The height of the chair should permit your feet to rest comfortably on the floor. The seat should be about 16 inches in depth. If you're tall, or long from knee to hip, you may prefer a deeper seat. Be sure you fit far enough back in the chair so that your back is supported. The chair seat should be wide enough so you can move easily without falling off or feeling that you might.

The seat of the chair should be shaped to fit the body. Saddle shape and molded plastic seats usually fit better than flat seats. But too deep a scoop may confine you to one spot and become uncomfortable. Watch for this especially in some ultra modern chairs.

Jewish Population In U.S. 5 Million

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The American Jewish year book for 1962, published this week, estimates the Jewish population of the United States at 5,510,000.

About 42 per cent of America's Jews live in New York City and its suburbs, the year book reports. There are more Jews in the New York area (2,339,000) than in Israel (1,936,000).

Other facts and figures from the year book published jointly by the American Jewish Committee and the Jewish Publication Society.

There are currently more than 4,000 Jewish temple and synagogue congregations in the United States. At the turn of the century, there were 600.

Alaska has the smallest Jewish population of any state — 245 persons. California ranks second to New York with 572,850, and Pennsylvania is third with 454,130.

World Jewish population now totals about 12.5 million. The United States has more Jews than any other country. The Soviet Union ranks second with 2,345,000, with Israel in third place.

American Protestants contributed more than $170 million to foreign missions last year, according to a survey conducted by the Interdenominational Foreign Missions Association.

The survey shows that U.S. protestant bodies are currently maintaining more than 28,000 missionaries around the world. The Southern Baptist convention has the largest contingent — 1,468.

Other major missionary-sending bodies are the Seventh Day Adventists, with 1,450; the United Presbyterians, 1,269; the Methodist Church, 1,146; and the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 860.

Leaders of major Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches in 80 countries will assemble in Paris next Tuesday (Aug. 7) for a 10-day meeting of the central committee of the World Council of Churches.

The central committee is the top policy-making body of the World Council, which represents 197 denominations with some 300 million members. It will consider a number of problems of joint concern to the churches, including the nuclear arms race, the need for more theological seminaries in Asia and Africa, and ways to stimulate more grass roots participation in the Christian Unity movement.

The committee also will act on an invitation from the Catholic Church for the World Council to send official observers to the forthcoming Vatican Council in Rome.

The Most Rev. Arthur Michael Ramsey, Archbishop of Canterbury and head of the Church of England, went to Moscow this week to pay a courtesy call on the head of the Russian Orthodox Church, Patriarch Alexei. It was the first time an Archbishop of Canterbury had visited Russia.

At the world conference of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in San Francisco this week, charges were made by Negro leaders that the church's racial policies are designed to reduce Negro-white contacts "to the barest minimum."

A layman's organization headed by Prof. Frank W. Hale of Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio, called for "full integration" of 50,000 Negro Adventists into the life of the church, including non-discriminatory admission to its schools.

Adventist world president Reuben R. N. Figuhr replied that the church "believes in the integration of all peoples regardless of race" and is moving to eliminate racial barriers. A Negro elder, Frank L. Peterson of Washington, D.C., was elected one of the four general vice presidents of the church.

More than 100,000 persons swarmed into the little town of Palmyra, N.Y., this week to witness the 25th annual performance of the Mormon Church's pageant at Hill Cumorah.

The pageant, with a cast of 300 performers, depicts scenes from the Book of Mormon. Hill Cumorah is the place where, according to Mormon tradition, the prophet Joseph Smith discovered the golden tablets containing the Book of Mormon.

Catholic schools in Goulburn, Australia, have reopened after a one-week "strike" to protest the government's refusal to give them financial aid. The strike was originally scheduled to last for six weeks, but was terminated by vote of the parents after Catholic leaders said it already had achieved its purpose of alerting the nation to the church school's plea for government assistance.

Ex-GI Deported From Philippines

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines on Saturday deported American industrialist Harry S. Stonehill, 45, officially called a menace to state security and a participant in corruption that President Diosdado Macapagal is trying to wipe out.

The wealthy ex-GI from Chicago left for Sydney, where he is to take another plane Sunday for San Francisco.

Congress had surrendered Stonehill for expulsion in what a committee called "the higher interest of the nation" after a brief tussle between executive and legislative authorities about jurisdiction in his case.

Stonehill, who changed his name from Steinberg, issued a parting statement.

"I have come to love the country during the 17 years that I stayed here. I found friends among the people. I shall treasure this the rest of my life. In all sincerity, I can state that I modestly contributed to the well-being and economic development of this country, in more specific terms, to the employment of thousands of Filipinos," he said.

It was the end of the line here for Stonehill, who built a multi-million-dollar business empire on tobacco, oil, glass and real estate in the Philippines after World War II.

His American business associate Robert Brooks—similarly condemned and called an undesirable alien—had already been booted out. Leaving behind his wife and five children, Brooks flew to Tokyo.

"I'm sorry, no comment," Brooks told newsmen in a stop-over at Tokyo.

Macapagal issued orders Friday for the ouster of both after the deportation board ruled them guilty of such charges as bribery of public officials, economic sabotage, violation of banking laws, blackmail, and tax evasion. He said they would be sent to the United States and never permitted to return.

Stonehill was turned over to police for transfer to the immigration detention center.

His wife, Philippine-born, is not subject to deportation.

The deportation orders came after five months of hearings.

The Stonehill case has rocked the nation repeatedly. Most Manila papers front-paged the story almost daily.

Developments have included the alleged murder of the government's key witness, Menhart Spielman, dismissal of the secretary of justice who began the prosecution and the ouster last week of two other Cabinet members allegedly involved with Stonehill.

Congressmen May Hike Pay For Themselves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sentiment is building up among Congress members to vote themselves a pay raise.

The noval argument being advanced stems from a provision in a pending measure to give salary boosts to postal employes and classified civil service workers.

The bill, due for passage this year, says that the highest annual pay of classified, or civil service, employes shall at no time exceed the annual salary of a member of Congress.

Senators and representatives now receive annual pay of $22,500, plus nontaxable expense accounts and other remuneration.

The figure frequently mentioned in congressional cloakrooms is $30,000 a year plus expense accounts, postage, etc., for the lawmakers, although some members feel that $35,000 would be more appropriate.

Until 1955, congressional pay amounted to $15,000 per year, which consisted of $12,500 in actual salary and $2,500 in nontaxable expense allowances.

Minister Says China Making Atomic Progress

GENEVA (AP) — Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi said in an interview published here Saturday that Red China has made great progress in developing a nuclear bomb.

He declined to go into detail, but claimed Red China was not far behind other countries.

The interview was taped for an Italian-language radio station before Chen Yi's recent departure from Geneva where he attended the 14-nation conference on Laos. It was published by the Swiss Telegraph Agency this morning.

Chen Yi said China possesses powerful organizations for the research mainly of the peaceful uses of nuclear energy, but also concerning the manufacture of the atomic bomb.

"We do this because the imperialists will consider us weak and despicable if we do not possess atomic bombs. All this of course is a matter of time, but we have made great progress in this field," he said.

British Believe Plague Spread Threat Is Over

LONDON (AP) — British health authorities expressed confidence Saturday night they have contained the threat of a spread in pneumonic plague—the medieval Black Death—which killed a germ war scientist earlier this week.

"It is a million-to-one shot against anyone else developing the disease now that preventive measures have been taken," said Dr. Frederick Lishman, medical officer of health for the Salisbury area.

It is in this bleak west of England region that Britain's principal germ war research establishment is situated.

Scientist George Bacon picked up pneumonic plague there.

Bacon, 44, died of the disease two days ago and set off a scare that the plague, which wiped out three quarters of Europe's population in the 14th century, might be loose.

Kennedy Adds West Trip Stop

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy has added an overnight stop in Yosemite National Park to the Western swing he is making the weekend of Aug. 17.

Kennedy will land at Castle Air Force Base at Merced, Calif., on Aug. 17 and fly by helicopter to the floor of the picturesque Yosemite Valley late in the afternoon or early in the evening.

He is to see that night the famed firefall from Glacier Point, glowing, sparking embers are tumbled a thousand feet down the face of a 3,000 foot cliff.

West Plans Squeeze Play On Katanga

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. strategists expect an international squeeze play on seccessionist Moise Tshombe to being shortly aimed at bringing Katanga finally and firmly within a unified Congo.

Informants said that diplomatic experts from Britain, France, Belgium and the United States, agreed in discussions here this week on a number of steps which have been referred to their home governments for approval.

The basic idea is to offer both a lure to Tshombe to enter the Congo fold and mounting pressure against him if he doesn't.

A first step is expected to be issuance of public statements by interested governments throughout the world declaring the need for Congo unification and, directly or indirectly, calling for serious unity negotiations by Tshombe with central Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula.

The U.S. ambassador to the Congo, Edmund A. Gullion, who took part in the Washington talks, left for Leopoldville reportedly encouraged over the prospects for a reversal in the recent deterioration of the Congo situation.

In the U.S. view, integration of mineral-rich Katanga into the Congo is vital to prevent disorder in the new central African land. Katanga produces much of the area's revenue.

Proposed lures for Tshombe include prospect of a high-ranking, well-paying post in the central government, a wide amount of independence for Katanga within a Congolese federal system, and the appeal of patriotism.

Union Miniere, the mining corporation in Katanga in which Belgian and British businessmen have a large interest, is Katanga's principal revenue source.

The United Nations still figures importantly in the plans concerning the Congo. U.S.-supplied experts are to go to Leopoldville soon to help draw up a proposed federal constitution.

While there is a disavowal by the Western diplomats of any intent to apply force against Tshombe, through the United Nations or otherwise, the possibility of forceful activity remains. The United Nations still has peacekeeping troops in the Congo and Acting Secretary-General U Thant has said the U.N. force would protect Union Miniere against reprisals if it stopped paying taxes to the Katanga government.

The interview was taped for an Italian-language radio station before Chen Yi's recent departure from Geneva where he attended the 14-nation conference on Laos. It was published by the Swiss Telegraph Agency this morning.

Chen Yi said China possesses powerful organizations for the research mainly of the peaceful uses of nuclear energy, but also concerning the manufacture of the atomic bomb.

"We do this because the imperialists will consider us weak and despicable if we do not possess atomic bombs. All this of course is a matter of time, but we have made great progress in this field," he said.

British Believe Plague Spread Threat Is Over

LONDON (AP) — British health authorities expressed confidence Saturday night they have contained the threat of a spread in pneumonic plague—the medieval Black Death—which killed a germ war scientist earlier this week.

"It is a million-to-one shot against anyone else developing the disease now that preventive measures have been taken," said Dr. Frederick Lishman, medical officer of health for the Salisbury area.

It is in this bleak west of England region that Britain's principal germ war research establishment is situated.

Scientist George Bacon picked up pneumonic plague there.

Bacon, 44, died of the disease two days ago and set off a scare that the plague, which wiped out three quarters of Europe's population in the 14th century, might be loose.

Kennedy Adds West Trip Stop

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy has added an overnight stop in Yosemite National Park to the Western swing he is making the weekend of Aug. 17.

Kennedy will land at Castle Air Force Base at Merced, Calif., on Aug. 17 and fly by helicopter to the floor of the picturesque Yosemite Valley late in the afternoon or early in the evening.

He is to see that night the famed firefall from Glacier Point, glowing, sparking embers are tumbled a thousand feet down the face of a 3,000 foot cliff.

West Plans Squeeze Play On Katanga

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. strategists expect an international squeeze play on seccessionist Moise Tshombe to being shortly aimed at bringing Katanga finally and firmly within a unified Congo.

Informants said that diplomatic experts from Britain, France, Belgium and the United States, agreed in discussions here this week on a number of steps which have been referred to their home governments for approval.

The basic idea is to offer both a lure to Tshombe to enter the Congo fold and mounting pressure against him if he doesn't.

A first step is expected to be issuance of public statements by interested governments throughout the world declaring the need for Congo unification and, directly or indirectly, calling for serious unity negotiations by Tshombe with central Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula.

The U.S. ambassador to the Congo, Edmund A. Gullion, who took part in the Washington talks, left for Leopoldville reportedly encouraged over the prospects for a reversal in the recent deterioration of the Congo situation.

In the U.S. view, integration of mineral-rich Katanga into the Congo is vital to prevent disorder in the new central African land. Katanga produces much of the area's revenue.

Proposed lures for Tshombe include prospect of a high-ranking, well-paying post in the central government, a wide amount of independence for Katanga within a Congolese federal system, and the appeal of patriotism.

Union Miniere, the mining corporation in Katanga in which Belgian and British businessmen have a large interest, is Katanga's principal revenue source.

The United Nations still figures importantly in the plans concerning the Congo. U.S.-supplied experts are to go to Leopoldville soon to help draw up a proposed federal constitution.

While there is a disavowal by the Western diplomats of any intent to apply force against Tshombe, through the United Nations or otherwise, the possibility of forceful activity remains. The United Nations still has peacekeeping troops in the Congo and Acting Secretary-General U Thant has said the U.N. force would protect Union Miniere against reprisals if it stopped paying taxes to the Katanga government.

Chicago Trips Yanks 2-1 When Stafford Pitch Hits Batter In 9th

Hurler Beans Smith With Bases Loaded

CHICAGO (AP) — With the bases loaded in the ninth inning, Bill Stafford's pitch hit Al Smith to force in the decisive run for a 2-1 Chicago White Sox victory over the New York Yankees Saturday.

It was a weird windup to a game in which the Sox left 16 men stranded and, until the final inning, Stafford and Frank Baumann were locked in a pitcher's battle that gripped a Comiskey Park crowd of 36,468—largest of the season.

Charley Maxwell led off the ninth with a single and Mike Hershberger went in to run for him. Floyd Robinson then hit to right, the ball bouncing over the wall for a ground rule double, and Hershberger stopping at third. Joe Cunningham was intentionally passed to load the bases.

Smith then fouled off the first pitch. Stafford's next delivery hit him in the back, forcing in Hershberger.

It snapped the Yankees' four-game winning streak and the Sox' three-game losing string.

As a brisk in-blowing wind choked off the Yankee home run attempts, lefty Baumann held the American League front runners to five singles in boosting his record to 4-3 and getting his first decision of the season over New York. He struck out two, walked one and retired the side in the last three innings.

The score had been deadlocked 1-1 from the third inning on. In the third, the Yankees grouped three of their hits. Stafford singled, went to second on Bobby Richardson's drive to left and scored on Roger Maris' lone single to right.

INSURANCE OPEN

Wall Shoots 66 For Meet Lead

BY LOU BLACK

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Art Wall Jr., a great golfer in 1959, showed signs of making a comeback Saturday by furing a 66 for a 54-hole total of 201, 12-under-par, in the $35,000 Insurance City Open Golf Tournament.

With one more round to go, he was two strokes in front of Paul Harney, Friday's leader, and Jerry Steelsmith. The 38-year-old Wall, who also was in front on opening day, has compiled rounds of 65-70-66, over the par-71, 6,515-yard Wethersfield Country Club course.

Art, apparently recovered from a series of injuries and ailments that has plagued him since he was PGA golfer of the year three years ago, hit 16 greens, missing the second and ninth, collected six birdies and a bogey.

He birdied the first, a 12-footer; the fourth, a 30-footer; the sixth, a downhill 12-footer; the 13th, a 30-footer, the 14th, where he two putted; and the 15th, an 8-footer. Wall bogied the seventh for the second day in a row, undershooting for the third straight day.

Wall made a valuable save on the ninth, where he caught a trap with his drive, blasted out, and canned a 10-footer for a par 3. He required 30 putts.

Harney took a par-71 after back-to-back 66s which had given him a two-stroke margin at the half way mark. Steelsmith, who was two strokes off the pace Friday, shot a 69 to go along with his back-to-back 67s.

Bob Goalby, 69-69-66, and Jack Burke, 70-64-70, were also in a contending position at 204. Bunched at 205 were Gene Littler, Bruce Crampton and Howie Johnson. Hard by at 206 were Julius Boros and Al Geiberger.

Clutch Single Gives Giants Winning Run

BY JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Harvey Kuenn's seventh-inning clutch single drove in the winning run Saturday as the San Francisco Giants beat Pittsburgh 6-5 in a game in which the lead changed hand five times.

With the Pirates leading 5-4, Felipe Alou singled to lead off the seventh. He reached second on a passed ball and third on a sacrifice.

Orsino beat out a squeeze bunt, scoring Alou.

An infield out put Orsino on second. Then Dark announced right-handed hitting Don Larsen as pinch hitter for starter and winner Jack Sanford (14-6). When Murtaugh brought in right-hander Elroy Face, the Giants sent in left-hander Willie McCovey to swing, so Face intentionally walked McCovey.

That brought up Kuenn.

Bob Skinner homered in the top of the seventh, his 14th of the campaign, with Bill Virdon on base, putting the Pirates ahead 5-4.

Merchants Team Enters State Softball Meet

Monroe will send another team to the Louisiana State Amateur Softball Tournament this year, with hopes of improving on last summer's performance.

The team, called the Merchants of Monroe, Saturday released a 15-man roster for the meet to be held in Alexandria Aug. 17-19 and announced the first practice date.

Last year the locals were knocked out of competition in the double elimination affair after two games.

First practice date in the comeback attempt is Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. on Selman Field.

Here is the team roster.

Pitchers Angelo Danna, Danny Sullivan, Bob Betz and Ronnie May.

Catchers Guy Gannaway, Ike McMullen and George Fruge.

Outfielders Red Holley, Billy Sanford, Billy Gimler and C. J. Fontana.

Infielders Son Woods, Donald Stewart, Carl Inzina and Ray Cook.

Carry Back Totes Big Load To Win

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Carry Back, toting a crushing 130 pounds, put on one of his patented stretch runs and won the $57,400 Whitney Stakes by two lengths at Saratoga Saturday.

Mrs. Catherine Price's stretch-running son of Saggy, the favorite, swept from four lengths back at the three-quarter pole, overhauled the front-running Crozier in the last eighth of a mile and won driving under smart handling by Johnny Sellers.

Garwol was third, four lengths further back.

Carry Back, spotting from eight to 20 pounds to nine opponents, paid $5.20, $3.60 and $2.90. His share of the purse was $37,310, increasing his all-time total to $1,128,150. Only two horses have ever earned more money—Round Table ($1,749,869) and Nashua ($1,288,569).

Carry Back, whose other major triumphs this year came in the Monmouth and the Metropolitan Handicap, toured the 1⅛ miles on the fast track in 1 minute, 50 seconds.

Two notable absentees from the Whitney were Kelso, horse of the year in 1960-61, and Beau Purple, winner of the Suburban and the Brooklyn handicaps. Kelso, who won the 1961 Whitney, suffered a colic attack early in the week. Beau Purple is being rested for a fall campaign.

Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, under only 111 pounds, forced the pace in the race named for the Whitney family, then tired.

Carry Back, rated fifth on the rail, swept past Crozier with ease from the three-sixteenths pole to the wire. It was one of his better performances. The others were badly strung out at the wire.

Sellers, who replaced the suspended Johnny Rotz, had a reunion with Carry Back. It was the first time Sellers had been up on Carry Back since he finished third in the New Orleans Handicap March 3.

George D. Widener's Yorktown, carrying 122 pounds, wound up a dismal ninth after a sluggish start. He was the third choice. Crozier was the second choice at 5 to 2.

JIM WIECHERS of Los Altos, Calif., jumps for joy as he sinks a putt for a birdie on the ninth hole in the final round of the USGA National Amateur Golf Tourney at Grosse Pointe, Michigan, Saturday. NATIONAL JUNIOR TITLE

Long-Ball Golfer Putts To Victory

GROSSE POINTE, Mich. (UPI) — Long ball hitting Jim Wiechers was just as powerful on the greens Saturday and won the National Junior Golf Championship by whipping California high school teammate Jim Sullivan, 4 and 3, at Lochmoor Club in a match interrupted three times by rain.

Wiechers, of Los Altos, won the first three holes with a par birdie and eagle and his margin never slipped lower than two-up the rest of the way as he became the 15th champion of the United States Golf Association.

The 17-year-old, 6-1, 200 pound Wiechers outdistanced Sullivan, also 17, and from Sacramento from nearly every tee and he counted four birdies and the eagle in his two under par round.

Driving put Sullivan in trouble often. Although Wiechers said that Sullivan, who was his classmate at San Jose's Bellarmine High School, usually hits the ball farther than he does, Sullivan couldn't get his tee shots up in the air.

Wiechers eliminated defending champion Charles McDowell of Virginia Beach, Va., 2 and 1 in the morning semi-finals and Sullivan won the last four holes with pars for a two-up victory over 15-year-old Bob Carson of Long Beach, Calif.

New Orleans Wins South Legion Title

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New Orleans won the south Louisiana American Legion junior baseball tournament Saturday as Henry Winters blanked Baton Rouge 5-0.

Winters, a Louisiana State freshman, hurled a 5-hitter. He was named the most valuable player in the south Louisiana playoff.

Davis' Clout Produces 2 Dodger Runs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Willie Davis produced the deciding runs with his 15th homer as the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-3 before 27,625 Saturday.

The Dodgers, who have beaten Chicago nine times in 11 meetings this season, stayed five games ahead of the second-place San Francisco Giants, who defeated Pittsburgh.

Right-hander Stan Williams got credit for the victory, his 10th in 17 decisions, but it took a superb relief performance by Ron Perranoski to save him in the seventh inning.

Williams had a 4-2 lead when he was removed with none out in the seventh after Don Landrum was passed and Ken Hubbs doubled. Ron Santo, the first man to face Perranoski, hit a grounder to short and Maury Wills fired the ball to catcher Johnny Roseboro, who caught Landrum between third and home and tagged him out.

Chicago Trips Yanks 2-1 When Stafford Pitch Hits Batter In 9th

Hurler Beans Smith With Bases Loaded

CHICAGO (AP) — With the bases loaded in the ninth inning, Bill Stafford's pitch hit Al Smith to force in the decisive run for a 2-1 Chicago White Sox victory over the New York Yankees Saturday.

It was a weird windup to a game in which the Sox left 16 men stranded and, until the final inning, Stafford and Frank Baumann were locked in a pitcher's battle that gripped a Comiskey Park crowd of 36,468—largest of the season.

Charley Maxwell led off the ninth with a single and Mike Hershberger went in to run for him. Floyd Robinson then hit to right, the ball bouncing over the wall for a ground rule double, and Hershberger stopping at third. Joe Cunningham was intentionally passed to load the bases.

Smith then fouled off the first pitch. Stafford's next delivery hit him in the back, forcing in Hershberger.

It snapped the Yankees' four-game winning streak and the Sox' three-game losing string.

As a brisk in-blowing wind choked off the Yankee home run attempts, lefty Baumann held the American League front runners to five singles in boosting his record to 4-3 and getting his first decision of the season over New York. He struck out two, walked one and retired the side in the last three innings.

The score had been deadlocked 1-1 from the third inning on. In the third, the Yankees grouped three of their hits. Stafford singled, went to second on Bobby Richardson's drive to left and scored on Roger Maris' lone single to right.

Clutch Single Gives Giants Winning Run

BY JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Harvey Kuenn's seventh-inning clutch single drove in the winning run Saturday as the San Francisco Giants beat Pittsburgh 6-5 in a game in which the lead changed hand five times.

With the Pirates leading 5-4, Felipe Alou singled to lead off the seventh. He reached second on a passed ball and third on a sacrifice.

Orsino beat out a squeeze bunt, scoring Alou.

An infield out put Orsino on second. Then Dark announced right-handed hitting Don Larsen as pinch hitter for starter and winner Jack Sanford (14-6). When Murtaugh brought in right-hander Elroy Face, the Giants sent in left-hander Willie McCovey to swing, so Face intentionally walked McCovey.

That brought up Kuenn.

Bob Skinner homered in the top of the seventh, his 14th of the campaign, with Bill Virdon on base, putting the Pirates ahead 5-4.

Merchants Team Enters State Softball Meet

Monroe will send another team to the Louisiana State Amateur Softball Tournament this year, with hopes of improving on last summer's performance.

The team, called the Merchants of Monroe, Saturday released a 15-man roster for the meet to be held in Alexandria Aug. 17-19 and announced the first practice date.

Last year the locals were knocked out of competition in the double elimination affair after two games.

First practice date in the comeback attempt is Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. on Selman Field.

Here is the team roster:

Pitchers: Danna, Danny Sullivan, Bob Betz and Ronnie May;

Catchers: Guy Gannaway, Ike McMullen and George Fruge;

Outfielders: Red Holley, Billy Sanford, Billy Gimler and C. J. Fontana;

Infielders: Son Woods, Donald Stewart, Carl Inzina and Ray Cook.

Carry Back Totes Big Load To Win

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Carry Back, toting a crushing 130 pounds, put on one of his patented stretch runs and won the $57,400 Whitney Stakes by two lengths at Saratoga Saturday.

Mrs. Catherine Price's stretch-running son of Saggy, the favorite, swept from four lengths back at the three-quarter pole, overhauled the front-running Crozier in the last eighth of a mile and won driving under smart handling by Johnny Sellers.

Garwol was third, four lengths further back.

Carry Back, spotting from eight to 20 pounds to nine opponents, paid $5.20, $3.60 and $2.90. His share of the purse was $37,310, increasing his all-time total to $1,128,150. Only two horses have ever earned more money—Round Table ($1,749,869) and Nashua ($1,288,569).

Carry Back, whose other major triumphs this year came in the Monmouth and the Metrpolitan Handicap, toured the 1⅛ miles on the fast track in 1 minute, 50 seconds.

Two notable absentees from the Whitney were Kelso, horse of the year in 1960-61, and Beau Purple, winner of the Suburban and the Brooklyn handicaps. Kelso, who won the 1961 Whitney, suffered a colic attack early in the week. Beau Purple is being rested for a fall campaign.

Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, under only 111 pounds, forced the pace in the race named for the Whitney family, then tired.

Carry Back, rated fifth on the rail, swept past Crozier with ease from the three-sixteenths pole to the wire. It was one of his better performances. The others were badly strung out at the wire.

Sellers, who replaced the suspended Johnny Rotz, had a reunion with Carry Back. It was the first time Sellers had been up on Carry Back since he finished third in the New Orleans Handicap March 3.

George D. Widener's Yorktown, carrying 122 pounds, wound up a dismal ninth after a sluggish start. He was the third choice. Crozier was the second choice at 5 to 2.

Davidson Gets Texans Past Dallas, 13-3

ATLANTA (AP) — Veteran Cotton Davidson hurled touchdown passes to Frank Jackson and rookie Henry Cambridge Saturday night to give the Dallas Texans a 13-3 comeback victory over the Oakland Raiders in Atlanta's first American Football League exhibition game.

Twins Grab 2nd; Beat Detroit, 4-2

DETROIT (AP) — The Minnesota Twins packed all their runs into one burst in the first inning and nipped the Detroit Tigers 4-3 Saturday behind the clutch relief pitching of Lee Stange.

Stange pitched scoreless ball over the last 7 1-3 innings as the Twins mastered the Tigers for the ninth time in 10 meetings.

The rookie right-hander came on in the second after the Tigers whittled away all but one run of the Twins' early 4-0 advantage. Stange picked up his third victory, allowing just six hits in his long rescue stint.

The Twins batted Don Mossi out with their first-inning extra base two runs. Lenny Green had a double and Bob Allison a triple before Mossi departed.

The Tigers scored twice off Jackie Collum in the first on Steve Boros' sacrifice fly and Norm Cash's single. They scored again in the second on Rocky Colavito's bases-loaded walk before Stange put out the fire.

NATIONAL JUNIOR TITLE

Long-Ball Golfer Putts To Victory

GROSSE POINTE, Mich. (UPI) — Long ball hitting Jim Wiechers was just as powerful on the greens Saturday and won the National Junior Golf Championship by whipping California high school teammate Jim Sullivan, 4 and 3, at Lochmoor Club in a match interrupted three times by rain.

Wiechers, of Los Altos, won the first three holes with a par birdie and eagle and his margin never slipped lower than two-up the rest of the way as he became the 15th champion of the United States Golf Association.

The 17-year-old, 6-1, 200 pound Wiechers outdistanced Sullivan, also 17, and from Sacramento from nearly every tee and he counted four birdies and the eagle in his two under par round.

Driving put Sullivan in trouble often. Although Wiechers said that Sullivan, who was his classmate at San Jose's Bellarmine High School, usually hits the ball farther than he does, Sullivan couldn't get his tee shots up in the air.

Wiechers eliminated defending champion Charles McDowell of Virginia Beach, Va., 2 and 1 in the morning semi-finals and Sullivan won the last four holes with pars for a two-up victory over 15-year-old Bob Carson of Long Beach, Calif.

New Orleans Wins South Legion Title

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — New Orleans won the south Louisiana American Legion junior baseball tournament Saturday as Henry Winters blanked Baton Rouge 5-0.

Winters, a Louisiana State freshman, hurled a 5-hitter. He was named the most valuable player in the south Louisiana playoff.

Davis' Clout Produces 2 Dodger Runs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Willie Davis produced the deciding runs with his 15th homer as the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-3 before 27,625 Saturday.

The Dodgers, who have beaten Chicago nine times in 11 meetings this season, stayed five games ahead of the second-place San Francisco Giants, who defeated Pittsburgh.

Right-hander Stan Williams got credit for the victory, his 10th in 17 decisions, but it took a superb relief performance by Ron Perranoski to save him in the seventh inning.

Williams had a 4-2 lead when he was removed with none out in the seventh after Don Landrum was passed and Ken Hubbs doubled. Ron Santo, the first man to face Perranoski, hit a grounder to short and Maury Wills fired the ball to catcher Johnny Roseboro, who caught Landrum between third and home and tagged him out.

The All Stars

Hoyle Granger, the outstanding player in the All-Star grid classic in Baton Rouge Thursday night is also a mystery man.

What the 208-pound fullback from Oberlin can do on the gridiron is no mystery. Granger passed up all rushers Thursday in grinding out 116 yards in 18 carries, an effort that led the West squad to a surprise 13-13 tie with the favored East team.

What is a mystery is who Granger will be playing his wares for in college.

Nobody knows where the talented ball - toter will attend, except perhaps Granger himself.

But the game had other less enigmatic stars.

Ken Cormier and George Haynes paced the East squad's rushing, Cormier with 50 yards on 11 gallops and Haynes with 70 on 17. Cormier, who was a talented tailback for Jennings last fall, quarterbacked the East T-formation. Haynes is from Clinton. Both are ticketed for Louisiana State.

The passing leader was West quarterback Billy Laird from Woodlawn. He completed five of five tosses for 53 yards, with three of them coming on the last touchdown drive that tied the score. Laird is headed for Louisiana Tech.

Laird's favorite target in high school, end Wayne Davis, wasn't there, so he teamed up with Northeast State prospect Sherrill Smith from Springhill. Smith, a 195-pound end, snared three tosses for 38 yards. No one else caught more than one.

Singled out as East defensive stars by one sportswriter were end Eddie Banker of Jennings, defensive cornerback Billy Leach of Covington and tackle David Pouche from Baton Rouge. Banker has signed with LSU, Leach with Alabama.

Heralded as West defensive standouts were tackle Phil Johnson from Fair Park, Tallulah, tackle Don Hodge, halfback Tommy Robertson of North Caddo and halfback Claude Patrick of Holly Ridge.

An Old Tale

Perhaps the eve of football season is a little late to be writing about a college baseball campaign last spring. But then, maybe it's never to late to rectify a wrong.

If any player in Gulf States Conference baseball was under publicized and for the most part unrewarded this spring it was little George Woodson. Yet the smallish, blond - haired left-handed from Lousiana Tech was the best pitcher in the league.

A lot of people talked about Woodson last spring. Their opinion seemed to be unanimous. Opponents called him the toughest hurler they had faced. His teammates hated to hit against him worse than any pitcher on his club. Coaches and sports publicists chimed in their praise.

This is a lot to say in a league that boasted pitchers like Roland Oubre and Bob Hardy from Southeastern, Bob Bischoff from McNeese, Northeast's Bob Rachel and teammates Sonny Parker and Charlie Fuller.

But it was true.

Woodson had one relatively bad day. That was against McNeese when he came on in relief in a lost cause and gave up five hits and two earned runs in two innings.

The rest of the season he was pure murder. The Amity, Arkansas sophomore chalked up a 5-1 overall record and was never tagged for more than four hits in any other game. His 1.72 ERA in conference play was second best in the league.

At the beginning of the season Tech Coach Berry Hinton didn't let any hurler do more than a brief stint. In the non - conference games beginning the campaign he pitched three innings in relief against Henderson State, two against Delta, and got his first win on a five-inning start against Ouachita.

From that point on, Woodson finished every game he started.

His lone loss was a 4-3 decision to McNeese in which he allowed four hits and one earned run.

His best effort was a one-hitter against Northwestern. He pitched three shutouts and defeated Southeastern once and Northeast twice on four-hitters.

Woodson's 4-1 GSC record was topped only by Hickman of McNeese, who had a 3-0 standard.

The season upped Woodson's two - year record at Tech to 10 victories and two defeats.

How is that for a pitcher who wasn't even counted on at all at the start of the season?

Woodson, who had been putting himself through school cutting pulpwood during the summer, hurt his back after the 1961 season. Hinton worked with Woodson to get the back in shape again, but he wasn't at all certain before the season opened how it would turn out. He admitted that he might have to depend largely on his seniors, Parker and Fuller.

The way it turned out however, Woodson as the cream of the league.

To The Majors

Lanny Johnson, Little All-American basketball star from Northeast State, has been invited to the Chicago Packers training camp for a tryout starting August 25. Johnson, who led Northeast to its first Gulf Conference championship last winter, says he'll probably make the trip.

Grand Slam Gives Braves 2 Tilt Sweep

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tommy Aaron's grand slam homer with two out in the ninth boosted the Milwaukee Braves to a 7-3 victory and a sweep of a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Phils Saturday after southpaw Bob Hendley breezed to a 6-2 triumph in the opener.

Aaron, the rookie kid brother of the Braves' Hank, unloaded against reliever Jack Baldschun, lining a drive against the wind into the bleachers in left after the Phils had loaded the bases with an intentional walk to Lee Maye. The homer by Aaron, his fourth of the season, capped a Braves comeback triggered by Philadelphia fielding lapses.

Milwaukee tied the game in the eighth with a pair of runs against Chris Short, who contributed to his own downfall. Short permitted a hit by Hank Aaron when he failed to cover first on an infield tap.

Black Sheep Takes Ridan In Upset Win

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Black Sheep, the California invader, scored a smashing upset in the $116,250 American Derby Saturday with a terrific stretch spurt for a one-length victory over the odds-on favorite, Ridan, before 30,125 at Arlington Park.

Ridden by the 54-year-old Johnny Longden, C. R. Mac Stable's Black Sheep erased what appeared to be an apparent triumph by the 1-5 favored Ridan by charging ahead of the big colt at the 16th pole of the mile and one-quarter race.

Third was Spring Hill Farm's Jam Tootin, while fourth in the six-horse field was Wallet Lifter, whose early duel with Ridan apparently took a lot off the favorite.

Black Sheep, a battling chestnut colt, whose previous top 1962 feats were victories in San Vicente and Cinema Handicaps, returned $14.60, $3.20 and $2.20.

Ridan, who finished some nine lengths ahead of Jam Tootin, paid $2.20 and $2.20, while Jam Tootin's show price was $2.40.

Ridan, ridden by Avelino Gomez, who July 14 rode Ridan to an Arlington Classic triumph, apparently had only the fast-stepping Wallet Lifter to conquer in Saturday's run over a fast track.

It was Wallet Lifter and Ridan running one-two from the start until they straightened out in the final turn and Ridan surged into the lead.

But at the same time Longden, the nation's winningest jockey, was going to work on Black Sheep which had been running a distant third most of the race.

Black Sheep came tearing out of the final turn to not only pass the fading Wallet Lifter, but also barged abreast of the wearying Ridan. As they reached the 16th pole, Black Sheep steadily inched ahead and within the final 15 strides clearly whipped the heavy favorite.

Hughes Elected Vidalia League's New President

VIDALIA (Special) — Conway Hughes was elected president of the Vidalia Little Boys Baseball League at the annual election of officers held Thursday night.

Elected as first vice-president was W. E. Campbell; Louis Evans was named second vice-president; G. A. Shamp, secretary, G. S. Smith, treasurer and Benny Daigre was re-elected as player agent for the new season.

William W. "Bill" Chisholm, outgoing president of the league said he wished to express his sincere appreciation to the officials of the league, parents, team managers, the players and everyone who made the past season the most successful and outstanding of it's four year history in Vidalia. He also expressed the opinion that next season should prove to be more fruitful than the past one.

Two very successful tournaments were held in Vidalia during the past season, the Bi-District Tournament and the Miss-Lou tournament.

AGAIN THIS FALL

La. Tech Faces Tough Grid Foes

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech will play only an eight-game grid schedule this fall, but the opponents are about as tough as any found in the so-called "small college" field.

The Techmen open the campaign later than usual this fall, meeting loop foe McNeese State here Sept. 29. McNeese will have already played two games before meeting the Bulldogs.

However, the extra time will enable Tech coaches to get some younger players who must see action ready for collegiate combat.

After the opener, Tech travels to Lafayette to meet the up and coming downstate Southwestern eleven. The Canines return home for an Oct. 13 clash with highly-rated Arlington State and then collide with Northwestern State at the state fair in Shreveport Oct. 20.

Tennessee Tech, always strong, comes to Ruston Oct. 27 and then the Techsters face Southeastern in the annual Tech homecoming tilt Nov. 3.

Coach Joe Aillet's crew closes out the campaign with two road games, facing Northeast State in Monroe Nov. 10, and the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg Nov. 17.

One need look no further than the 1961 records to guage the caliber of Tech opponents. Six of the eight foes won seven or more games, including Southeastern (9-1), Southern Mississippi (8-2), McNeese State (7-2), Arlington State (7-3), Northwestern State (7-3), and Tennessee Tech (7-3). Northeast State (3-7) and USL (2-8) are expected to be vastly improved over last year.

MOVE TO NEW ORLEANS POSSIBLE

Guesses On AFL Expansion Have Dallas Changing Cities

NEW ORLEANS (A) — The guessing game is on again about American Football League expansion—or realignment. The latest twist is a report the Dallas Texans will move to New Orleans.

The pro football loop—starting its third season this fall—has been dropping hints about expansion, but has taken no official action. At a league meeting in Boston earlier this summer, New Orleans and Atlanta bid for spots but the AFL owners deferred action.

In a report from Chicago Saturday, executive sports Editor Cro Duplantier of the New Orleans States-Item said he has learned there is a strong possibility this city's entry into the AFL will be by franchise transfer rather than expansion.

"The likeliest prospect for the transfer: The talent-rich Dallas Texans, who had five of their a new signees on the All-Star squad," wrote Duplantier.

Wealthy Dallas oilman Lamar Hunt, one of the AFL founders and currently the president of the league, is the owner of the Texans. But he has been running into trouble trying to buck the older National Football League's Dallas entry.

Hunt visited New Orleans shortly before the Boston meeting and told newsmen he would vote to add the city to the league in 1963 if it could guarantee 20,000 advance season ticket sales and adequate stadium facilities.

Hunt—in Atlanta for an exhibition game between his Texans and the Oakland Raiders—said he had no plans to shift his team to New Orleans. "They must be talking about the Cowboys moving," said Hunt.

There have been indications the AFL might take further action on expansion—or franchise shifts—at a Sept. 1 meeting. At least the backers of the New Orleans bid think so. They've set up a downtown office to sell tickets for the 1963 season.

David Dixon has been the only person identified in the group seeking the New Orleans franchise. Several months ago he said he would reveal other members of the group within a week, but he hasn't done so.

Rumors have been circulating in New Orleans since the Boston AFL meeting that Hunt might have a shift for his Texans to this city in mind.

Duplantier quoted an unnamed NFL executive as saying he understood 1962 would be the last season for the Hunt AFL club in Dallas. The NFL man, continued Duplantier, said nothing officially would be announced about any such shift for some time since the Texans are currently conducting a 1962 ticket drive.

Plans to bring pro football to New Orleans may be influenced by the turnout for the Aug. 18 AFL exhibition game here between the Houston Oilers and the Boston Patriots. Backers of the exhibition game—who say they are not associated with the move to gain a franchise—report a brisk ticket sale and expect to have a near capacity crowd in the 32,000-seat City Park Stadium.

Grand Slam Gives Braves 2 Tilt Sweep

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tommy Aaron's grand slam homer with two out in the ninth boosted the Milwaukee Braves to a 7-3 victory and a sweep of a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Phils Saturday after southpaw Bob Hendley breezed to a 6-2 triumph in the opener.

Aaron, the rookie kid brother of the Braves' Hank, unloaded against reliever Jack Baldschun, lining a drive against the wind into the bleachers in left after the Phils had loaded the bases with an intentional walk to Lee Maye. The homer by Aaron, his fourth of the season, capped a Braves comeback triggered by Philadelphia fielding lapses.

Milwaukee tied the game in the eighth with a pair of runs against Chris Short, who contributed to his own downfall. Short permitted a hit by Hank Aaron when he failed to cover first on an infield tap.

The All Stars

Hoyle Granger, the outstanding player in the All-Star grid classic in Baton Rouge Thursday night is also a mystery man.

What the 208-pound fullback from Oberlin can do on the gridiron is no mystery. Granger passed up all rushers Thursday in grinding out 116 yards in 18 carries, an effort that led the West squad to a surprise 13-13 tie with the favored East team.

What is a mystery is who Granger will be playing his wares for in college.

Nobody knows where the talented ball - toter will attend, except perhaps Granger himself.

But the game had other less enigmatic stars.

Ken Cormier and George Haynes paced the East squad's rushing, Cormier with 50 yards on 11 gallops and Haynes with 70 on 17. Cormier, who was a talented tailback for Jennings last fall, quarterbacked the East T-formation. Haynes is from Clinton. Both are ticketed for Louisiana State.

The passing leader was West quarterback Billy Laird from Woodlawn. He completed five of five tosses for 53 yards, with three of them coming on the last touchdown drive that tied the score. Laird is headed for Louisiana Tech.

Laird's favorite target in high school, end Wayne Davis, wasn't there, so he teamed up with Northeast State prospect Sherrill Smith from Springhill. Smith, a 195-pound end, snared three tosses for 38 yards. No one else caught more than one.

Singled out as East defensive stars by one sportswriter were end Eddie Banker of Jennings, defensive cornerback Billy Leach of Covington and tackle David Pouche from Baton Rouge. Banker has signed with LSU, Leach with Alabama.

Heralded as West defensive standouts were tackle Phil Johnson from Fair Park, Tallulah tackle Don Hodge, halfback Tommy Robertson of North Caddo and halfback Claude Patrick of Holly Ridge.

An Old Tale

Perhaps the eve of football season is a little late to be writing about a college baseball campaign last spring. But then, maybe it's never to late to rectify a wrong.

If any player in Gulf States Conference baseball was under publicized and for the most part unrewarded this spring it was little George Woodson. Yet the smallish, blond - haired left-handed from Louisiana Tech was the best pitcher in the league.

A lot of people talked about Woodson last spring. Their opinion seemed to be unanimous. Opponents called him the toughest hurler they had faced. His teammates hated to hit against him worse than any pitcher on his club. Coaches and sports publicists chimed in their praise.

This is a lot to say in a league that boasted pitchers like Roland Oubre and Bob Hardy from Southeastern, Bob Bischoff from McNeese, Northeast's Bob Rachel and teammates Sonny Parker and Charlie Fuller.

But it was true.

Woodson had one relatively bad day. That was against McNeese when he came on in relief in a lost cause and gave up five hits and two earned runs in two innings.

The rest of the season he was pure murder. The Amity, Arkansas sophomore chalked up a 5-1 overall record and was never tagged for more than four hits in any other game. His 1.72 ERA in conference play was second best in the league.

At the beginning of the season Tech Coach Berry Hinton didn't let any hurler do more than a brief stint. In the non - conference games beginning the campaign he pitched three innings in relief against Henderson State, two against Delta, and got his first win on a five-inning start against Ouachita.

From that point on, Woodson finished every game he started.

His lone loss was a 4-3 decision to McNeese in which he allowed four hits and one earned run.

His best effort was a one-hitter against Northwestern. He pitched three shutouts and defeated Southeastern once and Northeast twice on four-hitters.

Woodson's 4-1 GSC record was topped only by Hickman of McNeese, who had a 3-0 standard.

The season upped Woodson's two - year record at Tech to 10 victories and two defeats.

How is that for a pitcher who wasn't even counted on at all at the start of the season?

Woodson, who had been putting himself through school cutting pulpwood during the summer, hurt his back after the 1961 season. Hinton worked with Woodson to get the back in shape again, but he wasn't at all certain before the season opened how it would turn out. He admitted that he might have to depend largely on his seniors, Parker and Fuller.

The way it turned out however, Woodson as the cream of the league.

To The Majors

Lanny Johnson, Little All-American basketball star from Northeast State, has been invited to the Chicago Packers training camp for a tryout starting August 25. Johnson, who led Northeast to its first Gulf Conference championship last winter, says he'll probably make the trip.

Black Sheep Takes Ridan In Upset Win

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Black Sheep, the California invader, scored a smashing upset in the $116,250 American Derby Saturday with a terrific stretch spurt for a one-length victory over the odds-on favorite, Ridan, before 30,125 at Arlington Park.

Ridden by the 54-year-old Johnny Longden, C. R. Mac Stable's Black Sheep erased what appeared to be an apparent triumph by the 1-5 favored Ridan by charging ahead of the big colt at the 16th pole of the mile and one-quarter race.

Third was Spring Hill Farm's Jam Tootin, while fourth in the six-horse field was Wallet Lifter, whose early duel with Ridan apparently took a lot off the favorite.

Black Sheep, a battling chestnut colt, whose previous top 1962 feats were victories in San Vicente and Cinema Handicaps, returned $14.60, $3.20 and $2.20.

Ridan, who finished some nine lengths ahead of Jam Tootin, paid $2.20 and $2.20, while Jam Tootin's show price was $2.40.

Ridan, ridden by Avelino Gomez, who July 14 rode Ridan to an Arlington Classic triumph, apparently had only the fast-stepping Wallet Lifter to conquer in Saturday's run over a fast track.

It was Wallet Lifter and Ridan running one-two from the start until they straightened out in the final turn and Ridan surged into the lead.

But at the same time Longden, the nation's winningest jockey, was going to work on Black Sheep which had been running a distant third most of the race.

Black Sheep came tearing out of the final turn to not only pass the fading Wallet Lifter, but also barged abreast of the wearying Ridan. As they reached the 16th pole, Black Sheep steadily inched ahead and within the final 15 strides clearly whipped the heavy favorite.

Hughes Elected Vidalia League's New President

VIDALIA (Special) — Conway Hughes was elected president of the Vidalia Little Boys Baseball League at the annual election of officers held Thursday night.

Elected as first vice-president was W. E. Campbell; Louis Evans was named second vice-president; G. A. Shamp, secretary, G. S. Smith, treasurer and Benny Daigre was re-elected as player agent for the new season.

William W. "Bill" Chisholm, outgoing president of the league said he wished to express his sincere appreciation to the officials of the league, parents, team managers, the players and everyone who made the past season the most successful and outstanding of it's four year history in Vidalia. He also expressed the opinion that next season should prove to be more fruitful than the past one.

Two very successful tournaments were held in Vidalia during the past season, the Bi-District Tournament and the Miss-Lou tournament.

AGAIN THIS FALL

La. Tech Faces Tough Grid Foes

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech will play only an eight-game grid schedule this fall, but the opponents are about as tough as any found in the so-called "small college" field.

The Techmen open the campaign later than usual this fall, meeting loop foe McNeese State here Sept. 29. McNeese will have already played two games before meeting the Bulldogs.

However, the extra time will enable Tech coaches to get some younger players who must see action ready for collegiate combat.

After the opener, Tech travels to Lafayette to meet the up and coming downstate Southwestern eleven. The Canines return home for an Oct. 13 clash with highly-rated Arlington State and then the state fair in Shreveport Oct. 20.

Tennessee Tech, always strong, comes to Ruston Oct. 27 and then the Techsters face Southeastern in the annual Tech homecoming tilt Nov. 3.

Coach Joe Aillet's crew closes out the campaign with two road games, facing Northeast State in Monroe Nov. 10, and the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg Nov. 17.

One need look no further than the 1961 records to guage the caliber of Tech opponents. Six of the eight foes won seven or more games, including Southeastern (9-1), Southern Mississippi (8-2), McNeese State (7-2), Arlington State (7-3), Northwestern State (7-3), and Tennessee Tech (7-3). Northeast State (3-7) and USL (2-8) are expected to be vastly improved

Hunting Prospects Ahead

Louisiana sportsmen will have longer hunting seasons this year and if the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service adopts the recommendations of the Mississippi Flyway even the duck season will be an improvement.

The Louisiana Wild Life & Fishers Commission, which dispatched a troop of delegates to the flyway council meeting at St. Louis this week, is moving forward this year with longer seasons on doves, quail, and deer, just to name a few.

Dove hunters, who will open the season September 1 (election day), will get a three-split season, thanks to a framework handed down by the federal wildlife agency.

While the quail season is 10 days longer, the state commission extended the split deer season in the big hunting areas until January 10.

Deer hunters will get an extra weekend, which is a bonus for Louisiana's growing deer population. Ouachita even comes in for more deer hunting.

But the big question is the duck season — a decision that will be made by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

The Mississippi Flyway Council, composed of all state wildlife agencies located in the Mississippi Flyway, adopted resolutions sponsored by the Louisiana delegation for a 40-day season with a four-duck limit.

This is in bold contrast to the early 19½-day season and three duck limit that Louisiana got last year. It also comes as a surprise in view of the gloomy reports issued by the government on the reduction of waterfowl production in the Canada nesting grounds.

Surveys of the Canadian picture have not been completed while Louisiana's chief waterfowl spokesman, assistant director Richard Yancey, insists that a limited duck season does little to help the problem in Canada.

With the federal government meeting with the flyway council representatives Tuesday in Washington, the Louisiana commmission chairman, E. R. McDonald Sr. of Newllton, urges sportsmen to contact their congressmen for help in getting the government to accept the flyway recommendations.

The Louisiana commission did a fine job of going to bat for the duck hunter at St. Louis as the council recommendation for the duck season included a framework of October 1-January 15.

If this framework is granted, then the commission should heed its own biologists for a late duck season for Louisiana. An early season, regardless of its length, does not benefit most of the duck hunters of the state.

The Hunting Seasons

The Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission this week released a complete report on the hunting seasons upcoming. All but the deer season have been printed by this newspaper earlier, but in the interest of those sportsmen who may have missed it, we are repeating the seasons, as follows:

DOVES Sept 1-16, Oct 13-28 and Dec 7-Jan 13. Daily bag limit, 12, possession limit 24.

RAILS, GALLINULES, Oct. 6-Nov. 24, inclusive. Daily bag and possession limit 15 in the aggregate or singly, except Sora for which the bag and possession limit is 25.

SNIPE Dec 15-Jan 13, inclusive. Daily bag and possession limit 8.

WOODCOCK Dec 7-Jan 15 inclusive. Daily bag limit 4, possession 8.

QUAIL, Nov. 22-Feb 25, inclusive. Daily bag limit 10; possession limit 20.

The Little Man's Corner

Summer's heat poured it on, but the little men made news afield regardless.

Having been gone for almost three months, our Little Man news dropped off. So this week we're short of news. We have a few, but not many.

From this day on, if you make a catch, fishing or hunting, contact the correspondent in your area, or call us, and we'll be more than happy to include your story in this corner.

We also urge the area correspondents to resume their reporting of the Little Men who make news afield.

Meantime, from Lake Providence, Gassaway has been a good fishing spot. Lawrence Walker of Lake Providence landed 21 white perch. His mother, Mrs. M. E. Walker, got the limit. And Jimmy McIntyre of Lake Providence, joined by two other fishermen, caught 13 bass on the Blue Worm.

At Old River in East Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Bonnett of Oak Grove got 20 white perch while T. W. Hancock of Oak Grove landed 23 bream.

E. C. and J. D. Walker of Epps got the limit of white perch and Henry Bernard of Darnell got the limit of bream. Ray Daniels of Mer Rouge caught 15 bass and Dan Brown, Delhi, the limit of bream.

Fishing the River Chute near Lake Providence, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Foutz caught 16 white perch and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Coleman landed 45 bream.

AMONG GRID COACHES

Wilkinson Best In Win Column

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma ranks supreme among college football coaches at 46.

The special consultant to President Kennedy's Youth Fitness Council not only has the best record in his profession but also can claim two pupils among the elite.

The only "80 per center" in major college ranks, Wilkinson has guided 15 Sooner clubs to 129 victories, 24 losses and four ties (.843).

Nearly 50 points behind at 795 is runnerup John Vaught of Mississippi with a 120-31-7 record.

An Associated Press rating of the top 25 coaches based on more than 60 games reveals Dan Devine of Missouri is in third place. Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Paul Bryant of 1961 national champion Alabama, Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd, Bob Blackman of Dartmouth, Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, Ralph (Shug) Jordan of Auburn and Duke's Bill Murray round out the first 10.

Already Wilkinson proteges Darrell Royal and Jack Mitchell are firmly entrenched in the select circle and another — Jim Owens of Washington — appears headed that way.

At Texas, one time Oklahoma halfback quarterback Royal has climbed to 11th while returning the Longhorns to prominence. Mitchell, a former Wilkinson field general has earned the No. 21 berth at Kansas. Oddly, each now annually opposes his teacher.

The Wilkinson trademark of success is clearly stamped on three Oklahoma teams acclaimed best in the land, an all-time record of 47 consecutive victories by the Sooners (1953-57) and a string of 13 Big Eight Conference titles, 1947-59.

Assuming command at Ole Miss the same time Wilkinson became Oklahoma head coach, Vaught has steered the Rebels to four Southeastern Conference titles and as many second finishes. The former All America guard from Texas Christian can measure the degree his lessons have been absorbed by the fact Ole Miss has drawn eight bowl assignments in the past 10 years.

In a year Tennessee folks have dedicated to the memory of the late Gen. Bob Neyland, it is fitting that three of his prize students are in the top 25. Besides Dodd, there is present Tennessee mentor Bowden Wyatt, who played end, and ex-tailback Phil Dickens, now at Indiana.

At an even higher ration than the 7 to 4 margin on the playing field, linemen have excelled in the coaching profession. Wilkinson, who spent two-thirds of his varsity career at Minnesota playing guard, and Vaught are prize illustrations.

Of the top 20 coaches 14 played in the line, five were backs while Blackman could not play varsity ball because of polio.

Bryant heads a five-man delegation of ex-ends, including Rip Engel of Penn State, Wyatt, John Yovicsin of Harvard and Holy Cross' Dr. Eddie Anderson — the senior member of his trade em barking on his 37th year.

Here is major college coaching's top 25 based on more than 60 games (percentages figured without ties):

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — First baseman Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants broke into organized baseball as a third baseman.

Smith said the Dixie World Series will maintain tournament headquarters at two locations — Northeast Louisiana State College where the contending teams will be housed and given full use of the Northeast cafeteria with adult supervision at all times, and a "sub-headquarters" will be established at Penn Hotel.

Twin Cities automobile dealers are providing transportation for visiting officials, and "hosts" guides will be assigned to every visiting team to help them in their trips in and around town during their visit.

Dr. William Spencer, Dr. A. B. Gregory, and Dr. Claude Smith have been named official tournament officials, and Mrs. Mary Hodge, R.N., will supervise the first aid room at Northeast State, and first aid facilities will also be available at the ball park.

Tournament competition is scheduled from Monday, Aug. 20, through Aug. 25. The first day's games are Louisiana champion vs. Mississippi, 1 p.m.; South Carolina vs. Virginia; Georgia, 3 p.m.; Alabama vs. Florida, 6 p.m.; Tennessee vs. West Monroe, 8 p.m. West Monroe, as the host city, conducted its Dixie Host Tournament this week with South All-Stars winning to join with the Louisiana champions in giving this state two contenders.

The Louisiana champion will be determined in the state tournament that opened Saturday at Ferriday and will be concluded this week.

Hunting Prospects Ahead

Louisiana sportsmen will have longer hunting seasons this year and if the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service adopts the recommendations of the Mississippi Flyway even the duck season will be an improvement.

The Louisiana Wild Life & Fishers Commission, which dispatched a troop of delegates to the flyway council meeting at St. Louis this week, is moving forward this year with longer seasons on doves, quail, and deer, just to name a few.

Dove hunters, who will open the season September 1 (election day), will get a three-split season, thanks to a framework handed down by the federal wildlife agency.

While the quail season is 10 days longer, the state commission extended the split deer season in the big hunting areas until January 10.

Deer hunters will get an extra weekend, which is a bonus for Louisiana's growing deer population. Ouachita even comes in for more deer hunting.

But the big question is the duck season — a decision that will be made by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service.

The Mississippi Flyway Council, composed of all state wildlife agencies located in the Mississippi Flyway, adopted resolutions sponsored by the Louisiana delegation for a 40-day season with a four-duck limit.

This is in bold contrast to the early 19½-day season and three duck limit that Louisiana got last year. It also comes as a surprise in view of the gloomy reports issued by the governnment on the reduction of waterfowl production in the Canada nesting grounds.

Surveys of the Canadian picture have not been completed while Louisiana's chief waterfowl spokesman, assistant director Richard Yancey, insists that a limited duck season does little to help the problem in Canada.

With the federal government meeting with the flyway council representatives Tuesday in Washington, the Louisiana commmission chairman, E. R. McDonald Sr. of Newllton, urges sportsmen to contact their congressmen for help in getting the government to accept the flyway recommendations.

The Louisiana commission did a fine job of going to bat for the duck hunter at St. Louis as the council recommendation for the duck season included a framework of October 1-January 15.

If this framework is granted, then the commission should heed its own biologists for a late duck season for Louisiana. An early season, regardless of its length, does not benefit most of the duck hunters of the state.

The Hunting Seasons

The Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission this week released a complete report on the hunting seasons upcoming. All but the deer season have been printed by this newspaper earlier, but in the interest of those sportsmen who may have missed it, we are repeating the seasons, as follows:

DOVES. Sept. 1-16; Oct. 13-28; and, Dec. 7-Jan. 13. Daily bag limit, 12, possession limit, 24.

RAILS, GALLINULES. Oct. 6-Nov. 24, inclusive. Daily bag and possession limit 15 in the aggregate or singly, except Sora for which the bag and possession limit is 25.

SNIPE. Dec. 15-Jan. 13, inclusive. Daily bag and possession limit 8.

WOODCOCK. Dec. 7-Jan. 15, inclusive. Daily bag limit 4, possession 8.

QUAIL. Nov. 22-Feb. 25, inclusive. Daily bag limit 10; possession limit 20.

SQUIRREL. Oct. 6-Jan. 10, inclusive. Daily bag limit 8, possession limit 16.

Rabbit. Oct. 6-Feb. 15, inclusive. Daily bag limit 8, possession limit 16.

BEAR. Dec. 26-30, inclusive. In Northeast Louisiana, the season will be open for those parts of East Carrroll and Madison lying east of Bayou Macon from the Arkansas line to U. S. 80 and north of U.S. 80 from Bayou Macon to the Mississippi River. Bag limit 1 person. The killing of cub bear is prohibited.

TURKEY. April 6-21, inclusive. Bag 1 gobbler per season. Open in parts of Union, Morehouse, Madison, Franklin, Catahoula, Concordia and Tensas.

DEER. A special archery season will be held Oct. 1-15, a pre-gun season. The archery season shall pertain to all areas open for regular deer seasons, including all game management areas in Northeast Louisiana. Archers can take two bucks for the season, but the two-buck limit applies to all hunters. An archer killing two deer cannot legally kill two during the gun season.

Here are the deer seasons for areas in Northeast Louisiana:

8 days, with or without dogs, Nov. 23-25; Dec. 26-30. Parts of Union, Caliborne, Bienville, Lincoln, Jackson, Ouachita and Richland parishes.

This includes the Russell Sage Wildlife Management Area in Lafourche Swamp, plus the D'Arbonne Swamp area in Ouachita and Union.

15 days, with or without dogs, Nov. 23-30, and Dec. 26-Jan. 1.

Parts of Winn, Jackson, Caldwell, Ouachita, Franklin, Catahoula, and LaSalle parishes. In Ouachita Parish, this includes the hill country next to Jackson.

21 days, with or without dogs, Nov. 23-Dec. 2, and Dec. 26 to Jan. 5.

Parts of Claiborne, Union, Lincoln, Jackson, Winn, Bienville, Red River and Webster Parishes.

More details on the specific areas will be carried later.

Now, the big deer hunting areas, like Tensas and Madison, will have a 34 day season, with or without dogs, Nov. 23-Dec. 10, Dec. 26-Jan. 10, which means that the Louisiana deer hunter will have more days in which to get his limit of two bucks.

The 34-day season covers most of Caldwell, LaSalle, Union, Morehouse, West Carroll, East Carroll, Madison, Richland, Franklin, Tensas, Catahoula, and Concordia.

Tensas Parish, at the request of its Police Jury, will have a 16-day season on any deer, including doe deer. This season will be held the last 16 days of the season, or from December 26 to January 10.

Here are the seasons for the game management areas:

JACKSON - BIENVILLE. Nov. 23-25, bucks only; Nov. 26 up to 28, any deer, or until 425 deer are killed during both periods. Squirrel and rabbit Oct. 6-14, and Dec. 8-16.

UNION. Deer. Nov. 23-25, bucks only; Nov. 26 up to 28, or until 60 deer are killed for both periods. Squirrel, rabbit Oct. 6-Nov. 11.

EAST CARROLL. Deer Nov. 23-25, bucks only; Nov. 26 up to 28, or until 125 deer are killed in both periods. Squirrel, rabbit Oct. 6-Nov. 11.

CALDWELL. Deer. — Nov. 23-27, bucks only. Squirrel, rabbit — Oct. 6-28.

CHICAGO MILLS. Deer — Nov. 23-25, bucks only; Nov. 26 up to 28, or until 1,000 deer are killed for both periods. Squirrel, rabbit, Oct. 6-28. Turkey — April 6-21.

Locally, the Russell Sage Wildlife Management Area will have an 8-day deer season, Nov. 23-25, Dec. 26-30. All other state-wide seasons, like rabbits and squirrels and waterfowl, will apply to the Russell Sage area.

The Little Man's Corner

Summer's heat poured it on, but the little men made news afield regardless.

Having been gone for almost three months, our Little Man news dropped off. So this week we're short of news. We have a few, but not many.

From this day on, if you make a catch, fishing or hunting, contact the correspondent in your area, or call us, and we'll be more than happy to include your story in this corner.

We also urge the area correspondents to resume their reporting of the Little Men who make news afield.

Meantime, from Lake Providence, Gassaway has been a good fishing spot. Lawrence Walker of Lake Providence landed 21 white perch. His mother, Mrs. M. E. Walker, got the limit. And Jimmy McIntyre of Lake Providence, joined by two other fishermen, caught 13 bass on the Blue Worm.

At Old River in East Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Bonnett of Oak Grove got 20 white perch while T. W. Hancock of Oak Grove landed 23 bream.

E. C. and J. D. Walker of Epps got the limit of white perch and Henry Bernard of Darnell got the limit of bream. Ray Daniels of Mer Rouge caught 15 bass and Dan Brown, Delhi, the limit of bream.

Fishing the River Chute near Lake Providence, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Foutz caught 16 white perch and Mr. and Mrs. Morrris Coleman landed 45 bream.

Wilkinson Best In Win Column

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma ranks supreme among college football coaches at 46.

The special consultant to President Kennedy's Youth Fitness Council not only has the best record in his profession but also can claim two pupils among the elite.

The only "80 per center" in major college ranks, Wilkinson has guided 15 Sooner clubs to 129 victories, 24 losses and four ties (.843).

Nearly 50 points behind at .795 is runnerup John Vaught of Mississippi with a 120-31-7 record.

An Associated Press rating of the top 25 coaches based on more than 60 games reveals Dan Devine of Missouri is in third place. Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Paul Bryant of 1961 national champion Alabama, Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd, Bob Blackman of Dartmouth, Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, Ralph (Shug) Jordan of Auburn and Duke's Bill Murray round out the first 10.

Already Wilkinson proteges Darrell Royal and Jack Mitchell are firmly entrenched in the select circle and another — Jim Owens of Washington — appears headed that way.

At Texas, one-time Oklahoma halfback - quarterback Royal has climbed to 11th while returning the Longhorns to prominence. Mitchell, a former Wilkinson field general, has earned the No. 21 berth at Kansas. Oddly, each now annually opposes his teacher.

The Wilkinson trademark of success is clearly stamped on three Oklahoma teams acclaimed best in the land, an all-time record of 47 consecutive victories by the Sooners (1953)57) and a string of 13 Big Eight Conference titles, 1947-59.

Assuming command at Ole Miss the same time Wilkinson became Oklahoma head coach, Vaught has steered the Rebels to four Southeastern Conference titles and as many second finishes. The former All America guard from Texas Christian can measure the degree his lessons have been absorbed by the fact Ole Miss has drawn eight bowl assignments in the past 10 years.

In a year Tennessee folks have dedicated to the memory of the late Gen. Bob Neyland, it is fitting that three of his prize students are in the top 25. Besides Dodd, there is present Tennessee mentor Bowden Wyatt, who played end, and ex-tailback Phil Dickens, now at Indiana.

At an even higher ration than the 7-to-4 margin on the playing field, linemen have excelled in the coaching profession. Wilkinson, who spent two-thirds of his varsity career at Minnesota playing guard, and Vaught are prize illustrations.

Of the top 20 coaches, 14 played in the line, five were backs while Blackman could not play varsity ball because of polio.

Bryant heads a five-man delegation of ex-ends, including Rip Engel of Penn State, Wyatt, John Yovicsin of Harvard and Holy Cross' Dr. Eddie Anderson — the senior member of his trade embarking on his 37th year.

Here is major college coaching's top 25 based on more than 60 games (percentages figured without ties):

Warden Says Budget Slash Is 'Crippling'

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Warden Victor Walker said Saturday the State Penitentiary budget slash of $750,000 would, among other things, cripple the vital inmate screening process.

In a State-Times interview, he said "It's going to shoot it to Hell."

During the past 10 years, a system of screening and classifying inmates according to mental ability, background and attitudes—common to most modern correctional and penal units—has been in effect.

The Angola budget will be among those reviewed by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' new 17-man budget committee when it begins work Monday.

Chairman Chester Green of the State Board of Institutions said Thursday he felt the budget cut could be worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The penitentiary at Angola still will have "a semblance of an admission unit," the warden said, "with one classification officer instead of three."

But Walker said lack of proper classification could lead to trouble eventually with the prison dormitories "because we will make mistakes in the custodial placement of prisoners because of lack of information."

Also, he commented, control of inmates might be more difficult because of the lack of enough classification officers to provide prisoner counseling.

This activity is a safety valve, the warden said. It was not a matter of coddling, he added, but of letting a man with personal problems "talk himself out."

Report Lost Plane Found Unconfirmed

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Search planes Saturday failed to see any signs of the Royal Nepal Airlines DC3 missing since Wednesday on a flight from Katmandu to New Delhi with 10 persons aboard, including two Americans, civil aviation authorities reported.

They said the search will continue Sunday.

A spokesman said that another report from the Indian-Nepal border that the plane had been found with all aboard safe could not be immediately confirmed.

According to a report telephoned here by the district magistrate of Bahraich in Utter Pradesh State, which borders on Nepal, the transport made a forced landing just inside of Nepal about 300 miles east of New Delhi.

The magistrate said the report was relayed to him by a revenue agent in the area. He said that a two - man ground party had been sent into the area along the frontier but that it would take at least three days to reach the reported site of the landing and return. There are no direct communications to the area, a low marshy jungle region which is noted for its malaria and tigers.

The spokesman emphasized that the information was second hand and that an aerial search showed nothing. Previous reports that the plane had been sighted were not substantiated.

The two Americans were identified as Sidney B. Jacques, 51, and Oscar Curtis Holder, 50, both foreign service officers on an inspection tour of U.S. aid missions aboard.

RETURN THIS WEEK

Hero Welcomes Await Texas GIs

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—You'd think the 49th Armored Division soldiers won a war from the celebrations on tap when they return home next week.

President Kennedy called up the Texas National Guard outfit last Oct. 15 when the Berlin crisis looked like it might get rough.

In all, nearly 150,000 civilians were called to active military duty.

That gave the United States time to strengthen its forces by draft and enlistments until even with next week's demobilization the regular forces now are 200,000 men stronger than before the Berlin troubles.

Kennedy told the 49th this week: "When the free world needed increased military strength to meet its challenges, you responded."

Among other outfits called up was the 32nd National Guard Division of Wisconsin, parts of which got a big welcome home Saturday after training at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The 49th Armored trained at Ft. Polk, La.

Wichita Falls, Tex., may put on the biggest show. It is trying to line the homecoming route through three counties with flags and bunting. Air raid sirens will sound, and an Air Force band will play for the Army.

The Navy will play for the Army, too—a Corpus Christi sailor band traveling halfway across Texas for the Tyler homecoming.

Mt. Pleasant will set all the church bells chiming, bands will play and flags will fly.

Dallas will usher its units into a spanking new armory built while the 49th was away from home.

Parades will be held almost everywhere.

Gov. Price Daniel will execute a bit of symbolism at Austin, presenting the unit there with a state flag to mark the division's return to state control.

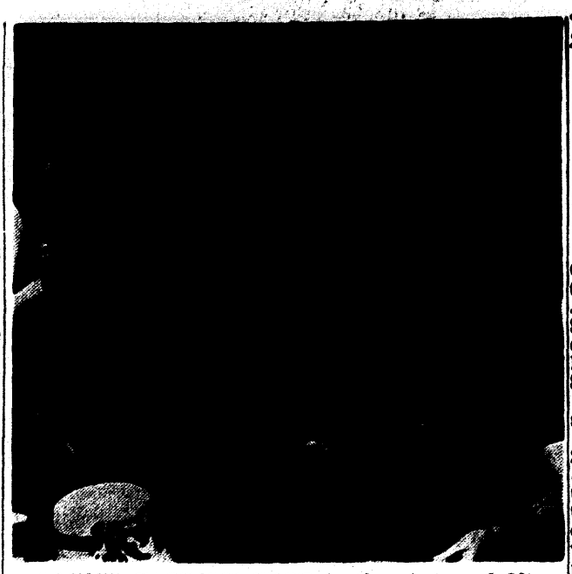

More than 14,000 officers and men of the division will return.

Forgotten in the homecoming will be the gripes which made headlines in March when up to 700 dissatisfied soldiers protested loudly that there no longer was a need for their enforced service. Spokesmen said only a hard core of 10 or 12 men caused the trouble.

One soldier, Pfc. Bernis Owen, 23, of Seadrift, Tex., was sentenced to six months of hard labor for disrespectful utterances about his commanding officers during the protests. But President Kennedy ordered him released after he served three weeks.

Soviet Atomic Scientist Dies

MOSCOW (AP)—Dr. Nathan A. Yavlinsky, a Soviet atomic scientist, died in an accident last week, Pravda reported Saturday.

A back-page death notice said Yavlinsky, head of a laboratory at the Kurchatov Atomic Energy Institute, died July 28. It gave no details of what it called his tragic death.

The physicist was one of 12 men who received a Lenin Prize in 1958 for thermonuclear research.

The black-bordered death notice was inserted in the newspaper by the State Committee for the Use of Atomic Energy. There was no explanation of the delay in reporting his death.

RUNOFF CONTESTS

Supreme Court Race Heads List

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Bunkie City Judge James N. Lee's bid to unseat veteran Chief Justice John Fournet of the Louisiana Supreme Court heads a slim list of runoff contests for the second Democratic primary in Louisiana Sept. 1.

All congressional races were settled in the first primary.

Fournet of Jennings ran only 2,000 votes ahead of Lee in the July 28 first primary in the state's third supreme court district. A third candidate, Vance Thompson of Alexandria, polled some 6,000 votes, leaving Fournet short of a majority.

Other key runoff contests will be for state board of education from the 5th congressional district and sheriff of St. Bernard Parish.

In the board of education race, first primary leader W. E. Whetstone will meet John Mulhearn. Both are from Monroe. Whetstone polled more than 15,000 votes in the first primary to 8,000-plus for Mulhearn. Two other candidates had more than 11,500 votes between them.

The spotlight was on St. Bernard Parish this week, as the FBI looked into charges going out of an alleged slowdown in registration for the second primary. Supporters of John F. (Jack) Rowley charged Valentine Riess, first primary leader and parish police jury president, as trying to keep independent voters from registering.

Riess polled 5,109 votes to 4,780 for Rowley, son of former sheriff C. P. (Dutch) Rowley. The election was caused by the death of Dr. Nicholas P. Trist. Riess is backed by the Trist organization.

Sidney Torres, parish clerk of court, polled 2,286 votes. He has endorsed Rowley.

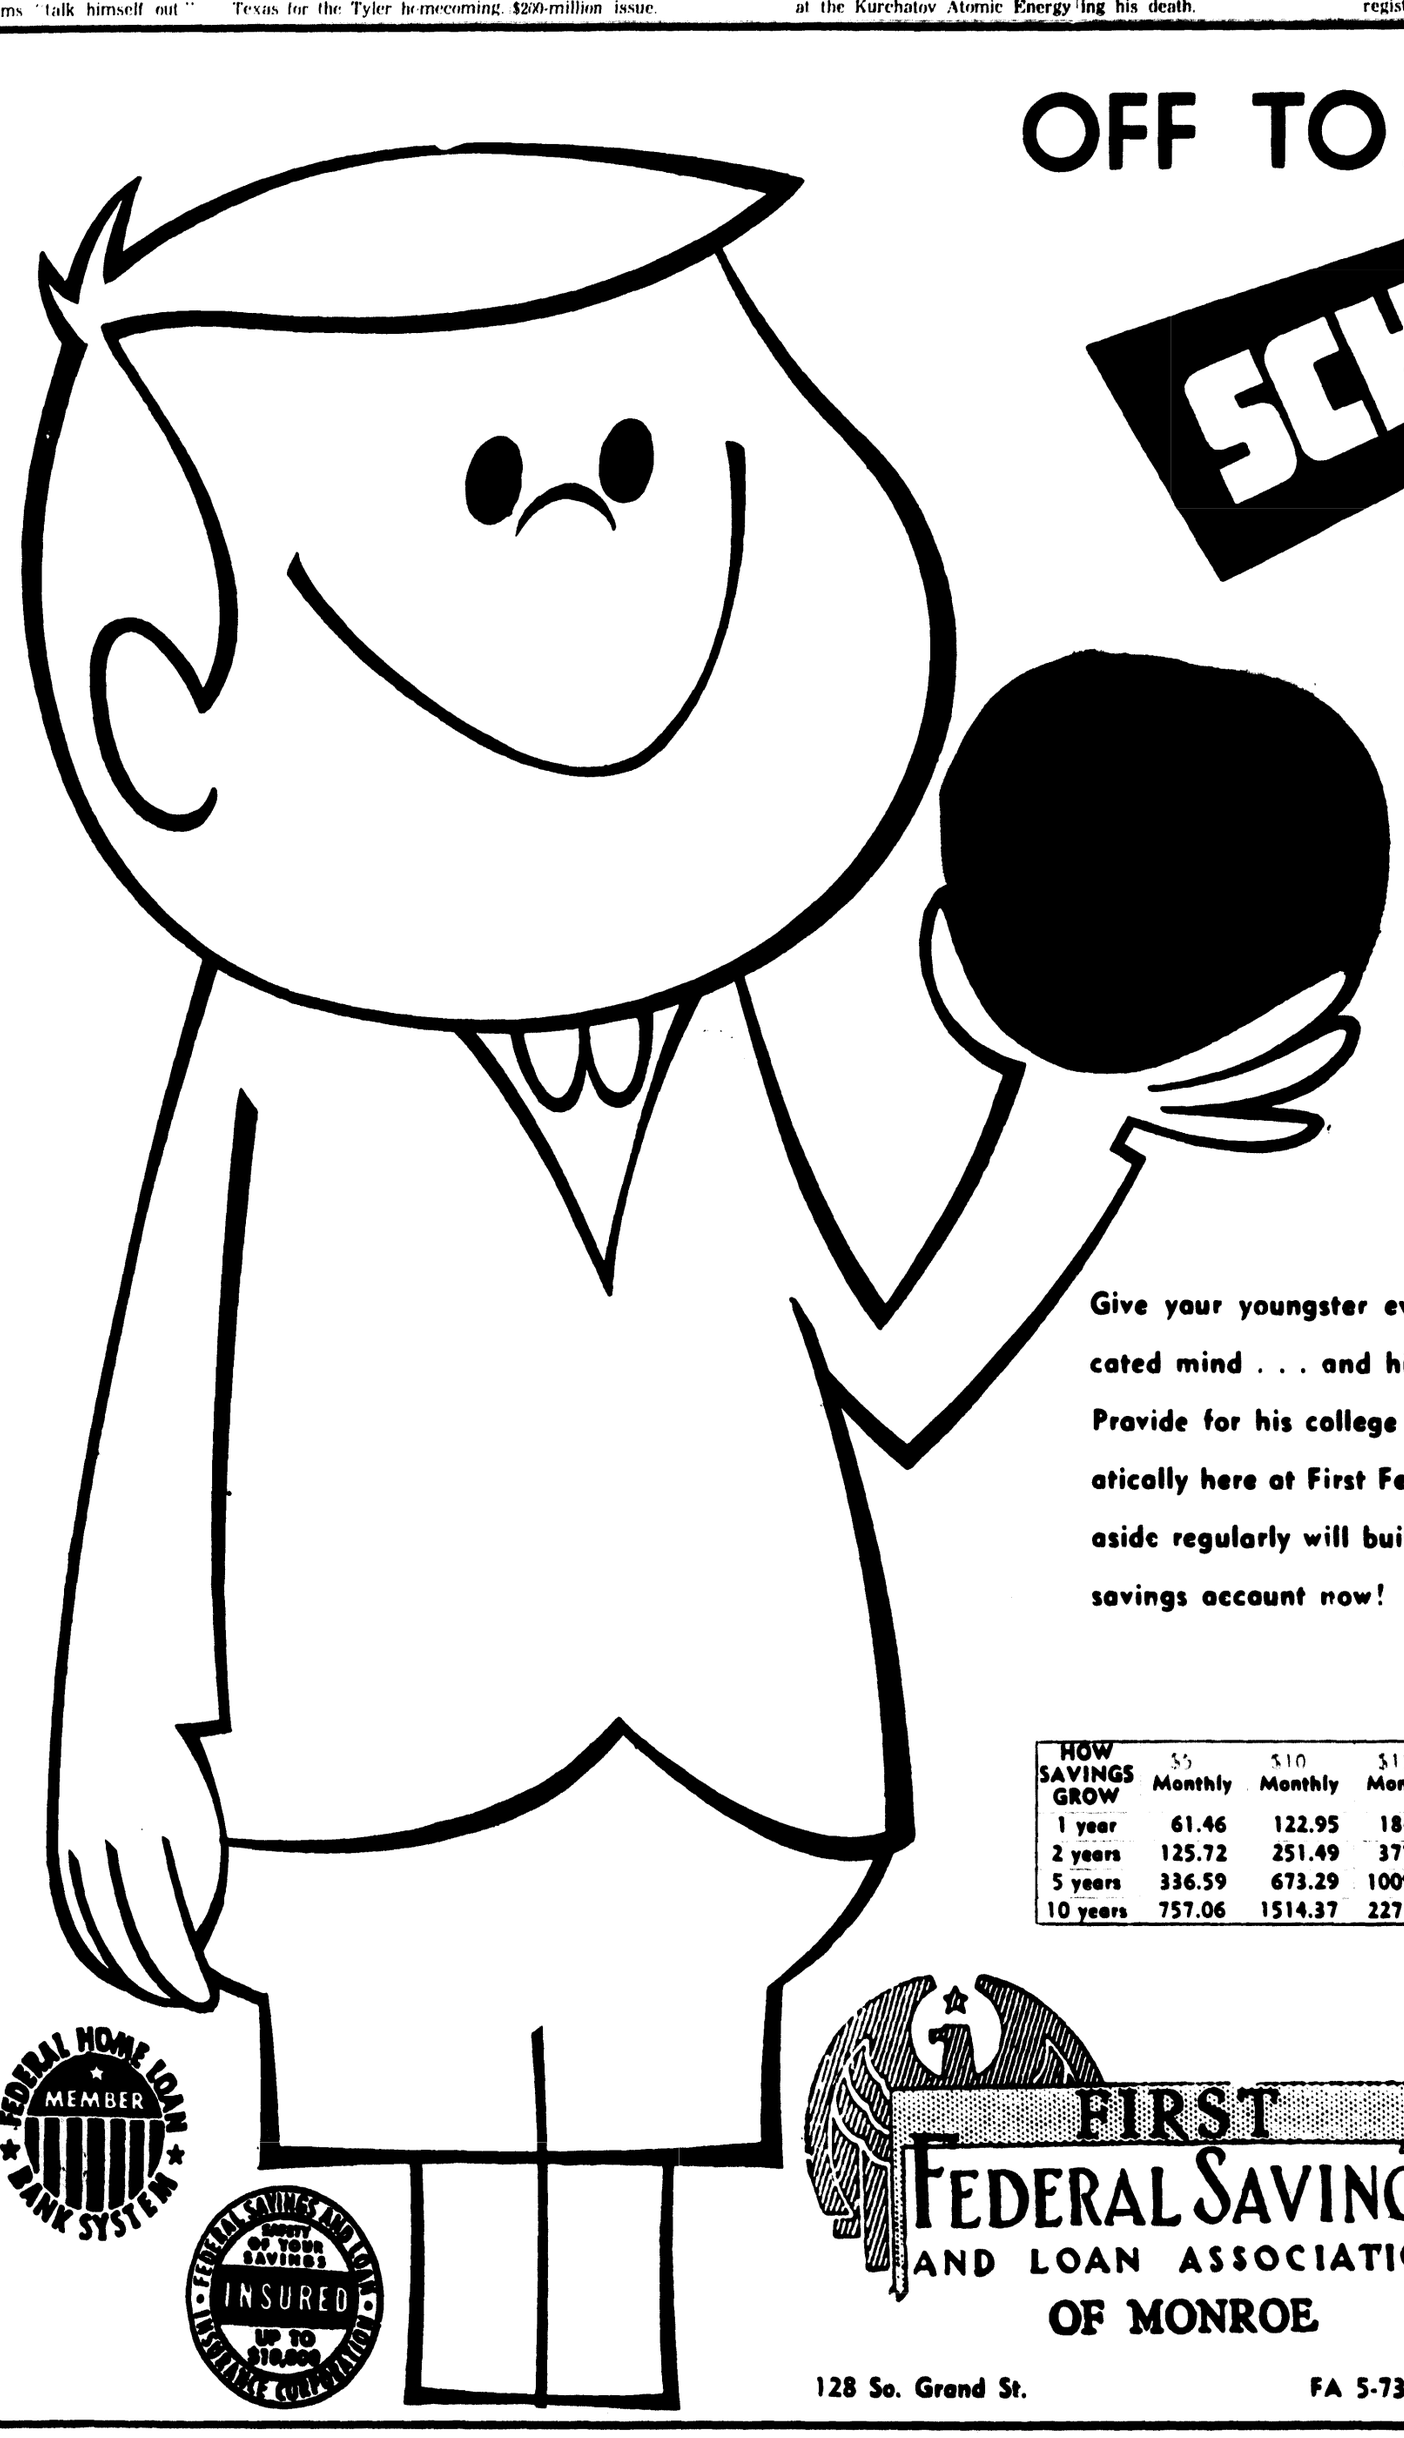

In New Orleans, a hot second primary fight is going on for traffic court judge. Judge David MacHauer is opposed by Joseph Bossetta, who led in the first primary, 39,534 to 37,694. Three other candidates polled more than 18,000 votes. One, James O. Brooks, endorsed Bossetta Tuesday.

Polling in the second primary is expected to be especially light, since the election falls two days before Labor Day.

Overturned Gas Truck Holds Up Train, Traffic

BIG STONE GAP, Va. (UPI)—An overturned gasoline tanker truck held up a railroad train and traffic on U.S. 23 here Saturday for about four hours.

Kenneth Bolling of Bristol, driver of the truck, said the big tanker overturned when he swerved to avoid hitting a Southern Railway freight train at a railroad crossing shrouded in fog.

RUNOFF CONTESTS

Supreme Court Race Heads List

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Bunkie City Judge James N. Lee's bid to unseat veteran Chief Justice John Fournet of the Louisiana Supreme Court heads a slim list of runoff contests for the second Democratic primary in Louisiana Sept. 1.

All congressional races were settled in the first primary.

Fournet of Jennings ran only 2,000 votes ahead of Lee in the July 28 first primary in the state's third supreme court district. A third candidate, Vance Thompson of Alexandria, polled some 6,000 votes, leaving Fournet short of a majority.

Other key runoff contests will be for state board of education from the 5th congressional district and sheriff of St. Bernard Parish.

In the board of education race, first primary leader W. E. Whetstone will meet John Mulhearn. Both are from Monroe. Whetstone polled more than 15,000 votes in the first primary to 8,000-plus for Mulhearn. Two other candidates had more than 11,500 votes between them.

The spotlight was on St. Bernard Parish this week, as the FBI looked into charges groing out of an alleged slowdown in registration for the second primary. Supporters of John F. (Jack) Rowley charged Valentine Riess, first primary leader and parish police jury president, as trying to keep independent voters from registering.

Riess polled 5,109 votes to 4,780 for Rowley, son of former sheriff C. P. (Dutch) Rowley. The election was caused by the death of Dr. Nicholas P. Trist. Riess is backed by the Trist organization.

Sidney Torres, parish clerk of court, polled 2,356 votes. He has endorsed Rowley.

In New Orleans, a hot second primary fight is going on for traffic court judge. Judge David MacHauer is opposed by Joseph Bossetta, who led in the first primary, 39,534 to 37,684. Three other candidates polled more than 18,000 votes. One, James O. Brooks, endorsed Bossetta Tuesday.

Polling in the second primary is expected to be especially light, since the election falls two days before Labor Day.

Overturned Gas Truck Holds Up Train, Traffic

BIG STONE GAP, Va. (UPI)—An overturned gasoline tanker truck held up a railroad train and traffic on U.S. 23 here Saturday for about four hours.

Kenneth Bolling of Bristol, driver of the truck, said the big tanker overturned when he swerved to avoid hitting a Southern Railway freight train at a railroad crossing shrouded in fog.

Warden Says Budget Slash Is 'Crippling'

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Warden Victor Walker said Saturday the State Penitentiary budget slash of $750,000 would, among other things, cripple the vital inmate screening process.

In a State-Times interview, he said "It's going to shoot it to Hell."

During the past 10 years, a system of screeming and clasifying inmates according to mental ability, background and attitudes—common to most modern correctional and penal units—has been in effect.

The Angola budget will be among those reviewed by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' new 17-man budget committee when it begins work Monday.

Chairman Chester Green of the State Board of Institutions said Thursday he felt the budget cut could be worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The penitentiary at Angola still will have "a semblance of an admission unit," the warden said, "with one classification officer instead of three."

But Walker said lack of proper classification could lead to trouble eventually with the prison dormitories "because we will make mistakes in the custodial placement of prisoners because of lack of information."

Also, he commented, control of inmates might be more difficult because of the lack of enough classification officers to provide prisoner counseling.

This activity is a safety valve, the warden said. It was not a matter of coddling, he added, but of letting a man with personal problems "talk himself out."

Report Lost Plane Found Unconfirmed

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Search planes Saturday failed to see any signs of the Royal Nepal Airlines DC3 missing since Wednesday on a flight from Katmandu to New Delhi with 10 persons aboard, including two Americans, civil aviation authorities reported.

They said the search will continue Sunday.

A spokesman said that another report from the Indian-Nepal border that the plane had been found with all aboard safe could not be immediately confirmed.

According to a report telephoned here by the district magistrate of Bahraich in Utter Pradesh State, which borders on Nepal, the transport made a forced landing just inside of Nepal about 300 miles east of New Delhi.

The magistrate said the report was relayed to him by a revenue agent in the area. He said that a two - man ground party had been sent into the area along the frontier but that it would take at least three days to reach the reported site of the landing and return. There are no direct communications to the area, a low marshy jungle region which is noted for its malaria and tigers.

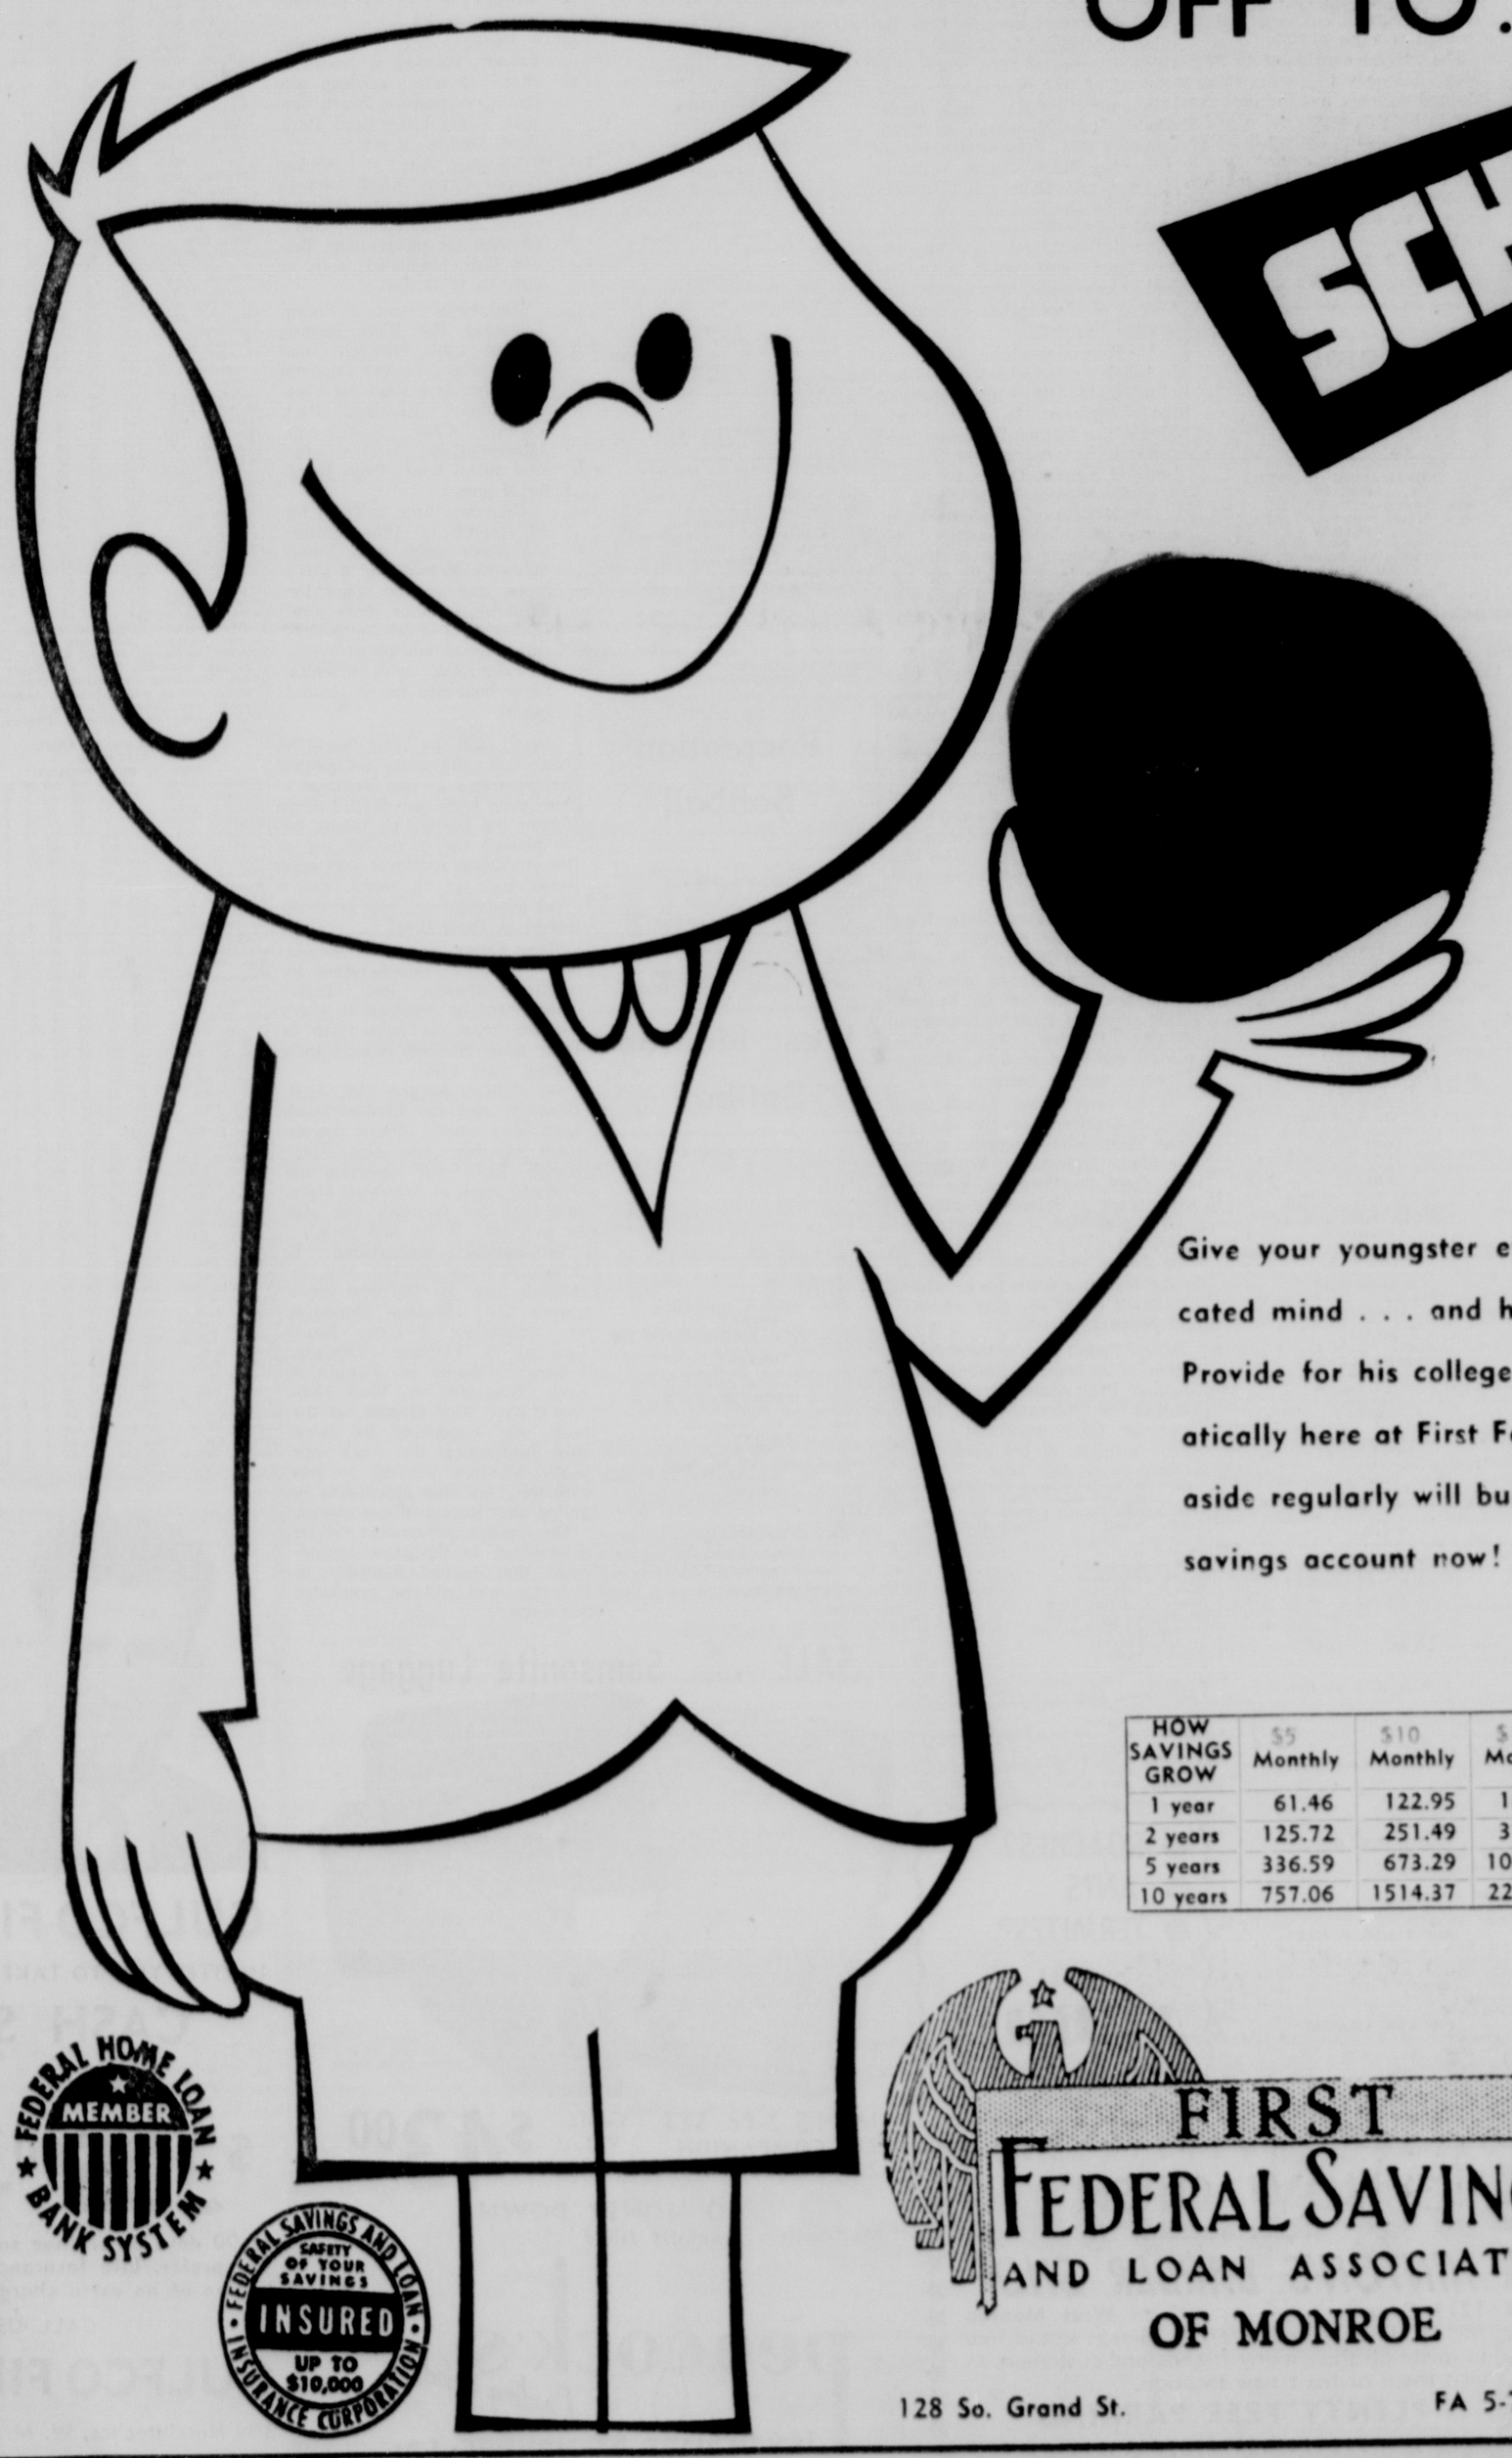

The spokesman emphasized that the information was second hand and that an aerial search showed nothing. Previous reports that the plane had been sighted were not substantiated.

The two Americans were identified as Sidney B. Jacques, 51, and Oscar Curtis Holder, 50, both foreign service officers on an inspection tour of U.S. aid missions aboard.

'Sidewalk Cafe' Can Add Novel Touch To Home

Ever consider adding a "sidewalk cafe" to your home? The idea, if properly executed, will be both novel and functional.

The sidewalk cafe is really a pass-through — a serving counter between interior and exterior of the house — topped with a gaily colored canopy. Wrought iron or wooden chairs will provide comfortable seating.

The step-saving pass-through should be cut between wall studs with the opening measuring between 18 to 24 inches vertically. The counter should be surfaced with a durable material such as ceramic tile that is easily cleaned and can't be burned or scratched. Real tile now comes in more than 250 shades, plus a wide variety of sizes and patterns, so it can be matched or blended with the canopy you choose for your sidewalk cafe.

Stripes will add gaiety to your canopy and brighten the entire room. The canopy should be hung in such a way that it can be detached easily for cleaning.

Long Lasting

Zinnias will last longer if most of their leaves are removed. Spraying their leaves, and those of chrysanthemums, will make them last longer. Remove leaves when they wilt.

A New Touch

Instead of the usual central flower arrangement on a buffet, console or chest, flank a mirror or picture on the wall with a pair of candy dishes or crystal compotes filled with flowers. Or, try centering a silver coffee service between a pair of silver nut dishes with low dainty flower arrangements in one or more colors, says the Society of American Florists. You'll be pleasantly surprised by the results.

5 Rules Guide Students On Wardrobe Selection

Surveys have shown that when a student's appearance improves, study habits, grades, behavior and popularity improve also.

Every teen ager can be neat and well dressed, and it doesn't require a lot of money.

"Carefully - chosen clothes are important because they give the teen ager self - assurance and poise," according to Morse Gevanthor, style expert. "Remember that 'best dressed' and 'most dressed' are not the same."

Here are five rules to guide teen agers — both boys and girls — in selecting the right wardrobe and staying on top of the best dressed list.

Plan your wardrobe: Note the occasions in your life that influence your clothes selection, such as school, church, sports and dates. Determine how many outfits you need for each occasion.

List the clothes you now have and rate each item by its condition — good, fair or old. Line up your ideal wardrobe with the list of clothes you have and you have a wardrobe plan.

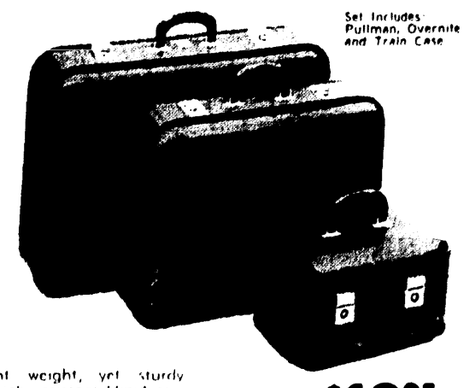

Have a wardrobe of interchangeables, such as blouses, skirts, sweaters, shirts and slacks that look well together. This will make your wardrobe go further and seem larger.

To stretch your wardrobe budget, buy clothes with a double purpose. A classic style wash and wear raincoat will be equally at home at school or on a date. An all-weather top coat with a zip in lining will also span the seasons.

Tack a color chart on the inside of your clothes closet. It will keep you from reaching for the wrong accessory and will remind you to buy clothes that are color keyed to the rest of your wardrobe.

Dress appropriately for the occasion. For church functions, boys should wear jackets and girls should wear gloves and higher heeled shoes.

Assorted Car Coats Score With Fashion-Wise Coed

There's one fashion gals have borrowed from the boys that they have no intention of relinquishing and that's the very popular short, or shorter long coat for outer wear!

This fashion — affectionately referred to as the sports car coat, the campus coat, the stadium coat, navy-type "pea coat" — or just plain, "old-faithful" — has become a standard requirement for the school-going set!

Whether cord or corduroy, new canvas or traditional poplin, loden or combed cotton, melton cloth or bulk knit, the 1962 models are gaily lined, often in pile, real or like-real fur, warm plaid or quilted taffeta!

They are waterproof, weatherproof and often completely resistant to all types of stains.

Raccoon is till one of the most popular trims for casual coats, short or long — and it's being worn with a great enthusiasm as in the Twenties!

In addition, fake fur is used as trims in clever likeness of such classic furs as otter, beaver, sheared lamb and wolf.

Many styles have foam laminated interiors which make them a lightweight and buoyant fashion.

Mint Butter

Who said vegetables are dull? Impossible when mint butter is added to fresh carrots and peas and almond butter to green beans. To ¼ cup melted butter, add 1 tablespoon fresh mint leaves. To ¼ cup melted butter, add 2 tablespoons chopped salted almonds and 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Drew HD Club Plans Picnic At Bernstein Park

Present were Mrs. B. F. Henry, Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Strozier, Mrs. Pauline Jowers, Mrs. Northcutt, Mrs. Jewell Crocker, Mrs. V. C. Brister, Mrs. R. O. Moss, and Mrs. Marilyn Coaker.

MRS. JIM BROWN

Brown-Williamson Vows Solemnized In Tallulah

First Baptist Church in Tallulah was scene of a candlelight ceremony Saturday, July 28 at 6:30 p.m. which united in marriage Miss Ginny Williamson and Jim Brown. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cordes Earl Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melvin Brown, all of Tallulah. Rev. Oster R. Daniels performed the double ring ceremony.

Tiers of white cathedral candles in ivy - entwined candelabra extended across the choir loft forming a background for giant fans fashioned of maline and bouquets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and woodwardia fern at the base of each. Single white candles in satin rosettes marked alternating pews. Candles were lighted by Roy Hammett Jr. and Mike Duplissey.

Nuptial music was provided by Frank McKay, who accompanied Mrs. Tommy Wixon as she sang "Whither Thou Goest," and at conclusion of the vows, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted by her father who gave her in marriage wore a gown of Venice lace and bouquet taffeta. The lace bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves and the voluminous skirt of taffeta extended into a chapel train with a large flat bow in back. Her circular veil of illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and small iridescent pendants. She carried a nosegay of featured carnations and lilies of the valley centered by a white orchid.

Miss Juanita Reppond, maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Dick Brown, Mrs. C. L. Keene, Miss Mary Jane King, Miss Louanna Brown and Miss Sonya Bowden wore identical gowns of aqua silk organza, styled with bateau necklines and bell shaped skirts. Their headdresses were large roses of matching organza and brief circular veils. They wore matching slippers and carried white lace fans, centered with white glamellias.

Mr. Brown attended his son as best man and groomsmen were Dick Brown, C. L. Keene, Billy Foster, William H. King and Bobby Ashley. Ushers were Bruce Faught, Don Shows and Lee Cummings.

Mrs. Williamson was wearing a pale pink silk organza gown with white orchid corsage and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of brown lace with beige accessories and a yellow orchid.

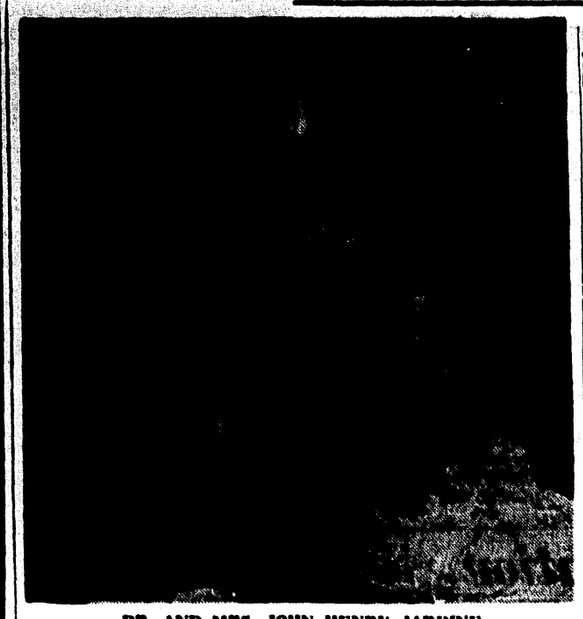

Following the exchange of vows Mr. and Mrs. Williamson entertained in the reception hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with white net over taffeta, was centered with an arrangement of white stock, glamellias and greenery. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Bill Duplissey, Miss Penny Meredith, Mrs. Ronnie McNabb and Miss Dorothy Gilfoil. At another table Miss Pam Roan and Miss Carolyn Wroten served the wedding cake, and Miss Kathy Young registered the guests. Rice bags were distributed from silver trays by Misses Charlynne King, Joy Hammett and Landa Duplissey.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast the bride was wearing a white silk shantung suit with kelly green shoes and bag a white pillbox hat and the orchid from her bouquet.

Both are graduates of Tallulah high school and are students at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston where they will reside.

Submerge Blossoms

Heavy flowers, such as dahlias and peonies, require more water to keep them fresh than smaller flowers. Submerging the entire arrangement, flowers and all, in water for a few minutes each day helps to prolong beauty of the flowers. Do not submerge such flowers as iris, delphinums, and orchids, for they waterspot, the Society of American Florists say.

Assorted Car Coats Score With Fashion-Wise Coed

There's one fashion gals have borrowed from the boys that they have no intention of relinquishing and that's the very popular short, or shorter long coat for outer wear!

This fashion — affectionately referred to as the sports car coat, the campus coat, the stadium coat, navy-type "pea coat" — or just plain, "old-faithful" — has become a standard requirement for the school-going set!

Whether cord or corduroy, new canvas or traditional poplin, loden or combed cotton, melton cloth or bulk knit, the 1962 models are gaily lined, often in pile, real or like-real fur, warm plaid or quilted taffeta!

They are waterproof, weatherproof and often completely resistant to all types of stains.

Raccoon is till one of the most popular trims for casual coats, short or long — and it's being worn with a great enthusiasm as in the Twenties!

In addition, fake fur is used as trims in clever likeness of such classic furs as otter, beaver, sheared lamb and wolf.

Many styles have foam laminated interiors which make them a lightweight and buoyant fashion.

Mint Butter

Who said vegetables are dull? Impossible when mint butter is added to fresh carrots and peas and almond butter to green beans. To ¼ cup melted butter, add 1 tablespoon fresh mint leaves. To ¼ cup melted butter, add 2 tablespoons chopped salted almonds and 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Brown-Williamson Vows Solemnized In Tallulah

First Baptist Church in Tallulah was scene of a candlelight ceremony Saturday, July 28 at 6:30 p.m. which united in marriage Miss Ginny Williamson and Jim Brown. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cordes Earl Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melvin Brown, all of Tallulah. Rev. Oster R. Daniels performed the double ring ceremony.

Tiers of white cathedral candles in ivy - entwined candelabra extended across the choir loft forming a background for giant fans fashioned of maline and bouquets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and woodwardia fern at the base of each. Single white candles in satin rosettes marked alternating pews. Candles were lighted by Roy Hammett Jr. and Mike Duplissey.

Nuptial music was provided by Frank McKay, who accompanied Mrs. Tommy Wixon as she sang "Whither Thou Goest," and at conclusion of the vows, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted by her father who gave her in marriage wore a gown of Venice lace and bouquet taffeta. The lace bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves and the voluminous skirt of taffeta extended into a chapel train with a large flat bow in back. Her circular veil of illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and small iridescent pendants. She carried a nosegay of featured carnations and lilies of the valley centered by a white orchid.

Miss Juanita Reppond, maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Dick Brown, Mrs. C. L. Keene, Miss Mary Jane King, Miss Louanna Brown and Miss Sonya Bowden wore identical gowns of aqua silk organza, styled with bateau necklines and bell shaped skirts. Their headdresses were large roses of matching organza and brief circular veils. They wore matching slippers and carried white lace fans, centered with white glamellias.

Mr. Brown attended his son as best man and groomsmen were Dick Brown, C. L. Keene, Billy Foster, William H. King and Bobby Ashley. Ushers were Bruce Faught, Don Shows and Lee Cummings.

Mrs. Williamson was wearing a pale pink silk organza gown with white orchid corsage and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of brown lace with beige accessories and a yellow orchid.

Following the exchange of vows Mr. and Mrs. Williamson entertained in the reception hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with white net over taffeta, was centered with an arrangement of white stock, glamellias and greenery. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Bill Duplissey, Miss Penny Meredith, Mrs. Ronnie McNabb and Miss Dorothy Gilfoil. At another table Miss Pam Roan and Miss Carolyn Wroten served the wedding cake, and Miss Kathy Young registered the guests. Rice bags were distributed from silver trays by Misses Charlynne King, Joy Hammett and Landa Duplissey.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast the bride was wearing a white silk shantung suit with kelly green shoes and bag a white pillbox hat and the orchid from her bouquet.

The bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Frantom of Calhoun and the late Mrs. Artie Tippit Butler and Leslie V. Butler, Calhoun.

Rev. Jesse Bryan performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. beneath an ivy entwined arch flanked by candelabra holding lighted white tapers. A floor basket of white gladioli and asters stood in the center.

Berry Market

Fresh strawberries are on the market throughout the year, but reach us in greatest abundance in April through July.

Rainwear Also Likes Sunshine

It won't be raining daffodils this fall when the wet season begins, but it may as well be spring as pert young school misses shrug off the rain in their wet-proof, gay raincoats.

Topping the list of all-time favorites are the all-weather, all-season coats — doubly versatile thanks to insulated zip-out linings, or cuddly pile liners.

Trench coats, chesterfields and balmacaan styles will step out with smart aplomb, rain or shine.

Waxed Cucumbers

Modern cucumbers are waxed before shipping to prevent evaporation and to keep them crisp.

Avoid Clutter, Dark Colors In Heatwave

Want to beat a heat wave? Avoid weather reports, dark colors and crown jewels.

When the temperature and humidity climb into the 90's, Virginia White, home economist, recommends a cool outlook and a fresh, uncluttered wardrobe plan.

The first hot weather beauty rule is a matter of the mind, says Miss White. Don't talk—or think—about the weather. If your conversation is sprinkled with weather reports, you'll make yourself more aware of the heat. The more you talk about it, the more uncomfortable you'll be. Think cool, says Miss White.

Along with a "cool outlook," Miss White recommends a special hot weather grooming plan. A tepid shower (hot or cold water stimulates circulation, makes you warmer) followed by a dusting of talcum and a splash of light cologne is the first step.

Next, select clothes that are light in color. Dark colors absorb and hold heat. Light colors reflect heat away from your body.

A crisp, freshly-laundered dress goes a long way towards making you look and feel cooler. A hint of starch in hot weather clothes is a "must" according to Miss White. Lightly starched clothes resist wilting even during high humidity, stay fresh-looking longer. And the additional body imparted by starch helps hold the fabric away from your body. Clothes that cling and droop are hot and uncomfortable.

The final heat-wave grooming tip is to keep accessories down to a minimum. Jewelry—crown jewels or costume glitter—looks hot and feels heavy. During a heat wave, the simple, uncluttered look is high-temperature fashion.

Prevent Bruises

Berries of all kinds are very perishable. Refrigerate them immediately, without washing or stemming them. This prevents bruising.

MISS LINDA GAIL HOBGOOD

Miss Hobgood Betrothed

Engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Linda Gail Hobgood to Ernest Loyd, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hobgood of Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Loyd, also of this city.

The wedding is planned for August 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Church of God, 800 Georgia St., with Rev. L. E. Brannen officiating.

Mrs. Dot Anderson, aunt of the bride-elect, has been chosen as matron of honor, with Miss Irene DeLaSalle to serve as maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. Dorthy Coleman and Miss Regina Harper and candlelighters will be Miss Sharon Anderson and Miss Sandra Hobgood. Serving as flower girls will be Misses Karen Hobgood and Carol Anderson.

Mr. Loyd will be attended by Clyde Loyd, Kenneth Slusher, Robert Anderson and Delbert Anderson.

Fun Fashions For Gals Stress Versatility, Ease

Be she a shy miss of six on her way to her first school class, or a sweet sixteen with exciting high school activities still ahead, her school days are not all classroom lessons and homework.

School means time in class, after-hours fun times, sports activities and at-ease sessions.

For class or for play, separates and coordinates for fashion-conscious misses, stress a flattering feminine look and for contrast — an easy tailored one!

Skirting the school scene, comes a whirl of pleats in stitched-down, or plain, standard box or side pleated styles.

New A-line skirts are easy to wear and flattering to young figures. Many full-circle skirts are often shown with dramatically-large pockets and fringe trims.

Other honor-winning styles in skirt styles are kilties variations — in short or standard lengths. Gay clan plains appear with fringe and safety pin trim. Tweeds with leather trim are also "in."

Wise in the ways of fashion, gals will like the softened smart look of jumpers. Demi-fitted, relaxed looking and often with dropped waistlines, jumpers help a girl's wardrobe go further when mated with colorful blouses, skirts and sweaters.

Whatever the young set's current phrase may be expressing "wow," that's the way to describe the colorful variety of separate tops that can be teamed with skirts, jumpers and pants.

Look for crest blazers; collarless cardigans; vests, sweatshirts and boxy-look over-blouses to lead the parade.

A style, popular last season, appears to continue as a hit with the young set — and that's the shift. This season, a belt is added to give the fashion-conscious gal a choice of silhouette.

For after-school wear, pants take over. Trim and man-tailored in styling, skinny pants will be on the scene in trim stretch styles of Helanca, Orlon and gabardine. Even corduroy, wool and doeskin types of fabric will have the s-t-r-e-t-c-h in 'em.

More pants styles will be available with full linings — —for longer wear, smoother fit and greater comfort. Pants — in cotton knits are newsy, too.

"The "Western" look crops up in low-riding pants and other detail usually associated with ranch-type gear. In this mood, lots of denim-type wool will be seen.

For color and interest — light plaids as well as the more classic clan plaids will be here, there and everywhere.

Such neutral colors as camel and grey will be around in separates and coordinates to assemble with red, blue, green and navy.

Tweeds and prints have a very grown-up air. Wools in all weights and textures, solo or blended with Orlon and Acrilan predict good wear and easy care.

Corduroy, cotton suedes, cotton knits and wool knits are all used extensively in fashioning the exciting styles for the littlest lassie and her older sister.

ippy Spread

Zip up the hamburger and wiener bun with this bitey spread. Whip together ½ cup butter, 1 teaspoon minced onion, a sprinkle of garlic salt, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard or 1 tablespoon grated horseradish.

College Set Favors Cotton For Separates

Cotton separates in traditional colors, conventional fabrics and tailored styling make the dean's list this fall, reports the National Cotton Council. As a carry-over from summer, the western look rides high and becomes the second big influence.

The pants story reflects two basic themes — the man - tailored look interpreted in cotton twill, wide - wale corduroy and smooth cotton suede, and the western look of hip - riding pants styled along jean lines. In sturdy denim these are often saddle stitched in white.

Down-to-earth colors of grey, camel and brown are favored for man - tailored pants ensembled with bright contrasting broadcloth shirts and jewelioned velveteen jackets in slim double or single breasted styles. Riding jackets that curve in gently at the waistline and are made in smooth cotton suede are also favorites this year.

The slick hipsking pants are worn with long tail shirts in gay calico, bandanna prints and tattersall checks or rip - snortin' "cowgirl" shirts in gingham with yoke detailing and string ties. Brief weskits or frontier jackets in the same fabric as the pants can be added to achieve full "cowpoke" effect.

Skirts this fall are definitely on the move with A-line shapes, matchbox seaming, dirndls and easy flares taking the lead. Running a close second are pleated styles that range from a single deep pleat in front to box and side panel pleating.

MRS. RONALD NORBERT LARRIVIERE, before her marriage July 20 was Miss Skyla Jane Wiggers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Wiggers of Chase. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Larriviere of Baton Rouge. The ceremony was performed at Hamburg, Ark., and following a wedding trip to Hot Springs the couple has established a home at 1002 Park Avenue in Monroe. Both are students at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Miss Ann Gray Becomes Bride Of Carl Futch

Miss Ann Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Gray, and Carl Futch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Futch, all of Farmerville, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony July 20 in Mount Tabor Baptist Church, west of Farmerville, at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Gray Nolan performed the double ring vows beneath an arch entwined with dogwood blossoms and English ivy, centered with a cluster of wedding bells. Baskets of white gladioli and fern, interspersed with branched candelabra holding white tapers, flanked the arch.

Mrs. Billy Floyd Pearson, pianist, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Bettye Stewart.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of bridal satin and chiffon, fashioned with fitted bodice, scoop neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her elbow length veil of illusion was attached to a lace crown and she carried a cascade bouquet of white French carnations.

Miss Sue Gray attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a pink organza model and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Patti Gray, sister of the bride, wearing a full skirted frock of pink and blue polished cotton and Michael Gray, nephew of the bride, carried baskets of rose petals. Wayne and Charles Gray, nephews of the bride, served as ringbearers.

Nelson Ray attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were John Shaw and Max Goodrum.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gray wore a printed silk gown with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue sheer and both had corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gray were hosts at a reception in the church parlor. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white pompons and feathered fern flanked by pink tapers in crystal candelabra. Mrs. Bat Lee Hayes, sister of the bride, served the tiered wedding cake and Miss Bettye Stewart presided at the crystal punch bowl.

The guest book registry held a memory candle and a white Bible. Miss Reita Gaye Odom presided at the table. Assisting with courtesies were Mrs. Don Wilks and Mrs. Warren Ledger, of Sterlington.

After a wedding trip to Texas the couple will be at home in Farmerville.

Paris Copies Being Dropped By Good Stores

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Saks Fifth Avenue, which both in New York and its affiliates throughout the nation has long sold Paris copies, has announced it will no longer do so.

The Saks announcement follows the trend established by New York specialty shop Henri Bendel last season. Bendel didn't even attend the collections, instead commissioned Donald Brooks to do exclusive designs for its customers.

The reasons for Saks and Bendel dropping Paris aren't hard to find. A big business in copies is being done today by stores like Macy and Ohrbach. Since Paris houses don't confine models sold to stores, Saks can well find itself undersold on the same models.

Women who have paid hundreds for a copy don't like to see it on someone else's back, especially at a much lower price.

Paris can't have its cake and eat it, too. Either it sells stores like Saks, or stores like Ohrbach, but it can't sell both.

Pre-Washed

Most cooking greens are washed before they are sent to market, whether or not they come packed in film.

Ubangi Neck Is Fall Need

So far, the showings by the New York Couture Group indicate one sure need for fall — a Ubangi neck. If yours is short and round, you'll be tempted to start putting those circlets around it as African belles stretch their necks to near-giraffe length.

The Ubangi neck will be needed because collars are rising so high that on a short-necked woman they're likely to be up past her nose. Fur circlets have grown to five or six inches in depth to muffle up to the chin.

The muffled neckline (and add the scarves to the trend) is an indication of the back-to-glamour mood of fall fashion. Above a sinuous dress or coat silhouette, suddenly the swanlike neck, muffled in a side-slung scarf, a high Mata Hari collar, a deep fur collar.

So get busy stretching, because you'll need all the neck length you can attain between now and fall.

Versatile Potatoes

Because of their bland flavor, potatoes team wonderfully well with any meat, fish or fowl or with any green or red vegetable.

Dramatic

For dramatic evenings the full length at · home skirt makes leisure hours a pretty affair. These appear in luxurious textures of velveteen or black corduroy, pertly embroidered with flowers.

Wayne and Charles Gray, nephews of the bride, served as ringbearers.

Nelson Ray attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were John Shaw and Max Goodrum.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gray wore a printed silk gown with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue sheer and both had corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gray were hosts at a reception in the church parlor. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white pompons and feathered fern flanked by pink tapers in crystal candelabra. Mrs. Bat Lee Hayes, sister of the bride, served the tiered wedding cake and Miss Bettye Stewart presided at the crystal punch bowl.

The guest book registry held a memory candle and a white Bible. Miss Reita Gaye Odom presided at the table. Assisting with courtesies were Mrs. Don Wilks and Mrs. Warren Ledger, of Sterlington.

After a wedding trip to Texas the couple will be at home in Farmerville.

Paris Copies Being Dropped By Good Stores

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Saks Fifth Avenue, which both in New York and its affiliates throughout the nation has long sold Paris copies, has announced it will no longer do so.

The Saks announcement follows the trend established by New York specialty shop Henri Bendel last season. Bendel didn't even attend the collections, instead commissioned Donald Brooks to do exclusive designs for its customers.

The reasons for Saks and Bendel dropping Paris aren't hard to find. A big business in copies is being done today by stores like Macy and Ohrbach. Since Paris houses don't confine models sold to stores, Saks can well find itself undersold on the same models.

Women who have paid hundreds for a copy don't like to see it on someone else's back, especially at a much lower price.

Paris can't have its cake and eat it, too. Either it sells stores like Saks, or stores like Ohrbach, but it can't sell both.

Pre-Washed

Most cooking greens are washed before they are sent to market, whether or not they come packed in film.

Ubangi Neck Is Fall Need

So far, the showings by the New York Couture Group indicate one sure need for fall — a Ubangi neck. If yours is short and round, you'll be tempted to start putting those circlets around it as African belles stretch their necks to near-giraffe length.

The Ubangi neck will be needed because collars are rising so high that on a short-necked woman they're likely to be up past her nose. Fur circlets have grown to five or six inches in depth to muffle up to the chin.

The muffled neckline (and add the scarves to the trend) is an indication of the back-to-glamour mood of fall fashion. Above a sinuous dress or coat silhouette, suddenly the swanlike neck, muffled in a side-slung scarf, a high Mata Hari collar, a deep fur collar.

So get busy stretching, because you'll need all the neck length you can attain between now and fall.

Versatile Potatoes

Because of their bland flavor, potatoes team wonderfully well with any meat, fish or fowl or with any green or red vegetable.

Dramatic

For dramatic evenings the full length at - home skirt makes leisure hours a pretty affair. These appear in luxurious textures of velveteen or black corduroy, pertly embroidered with flowers.

Pleats Stay 'For Keeps' In New Woolens

A new bonus which will keep campus cuties looking extra sharp has been announced by the Wool Bureau. This feature is in a permanently pleated all-wool skirt which will retain crisp knife-like pleats through storms, coke-spilling or class-room sitting, as well as to the hard wear all campus clothes are exposed.

Permanently pleated skirts represent still another forward step in the development of easy care qualities of wool by textile scientists around the world.

Easy care qualities for 100 percent wool, now achieved, include the permanent creasing of men's trousers and women's slacks and machine washable and machine-dryable all wool blankets and sweaters.

Court Orders Mississippi University To Admit Negro

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A desegregation order aimed at the University of Mississippi was put back into effect Saturday as the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overrode one of its judges for the second time.

The appeals court directed the university to accept James H. Meredith, 29-year-old Kosciusko Negro, in an unsigned order that revoked two stays issued within the past week by U.S. Circuit Judge Ben Cameron of Meridian, Miss.

The latest action once more opened the way for Meredith's admission to the fall term at Ole Miss, starting next month.

Neither Judge Cameron nor Mississippi officials would indicate what moves they planned.

Judge Cameron, a member of the 5th Circuit Court but not assigned to the panel that hard the Meredith case, had granted the state of Mississippi 30 days to prepare an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. In the event the appeal was filed within that time, the stay would last until the court, now in recess until Oct. 1, ruled in the case. Meredith's admission would thus be delayed beyond September.

Cameron issued the stay last Saturday, just 24 hours after the appeals court revoked his first stay. Then on Tuesday he issued a third stay, revising Saturday's order.

In Saturday's order, the appeals court said Judge Cameron's stays "were unauthorized, erroneous and improvident and each of them is hereby vacated and set aside forthwith."

The directive left in effect a preliminary injunction requiring Ole Miss to accept Meredith and a directive to U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize of Biloxi, Miss., to issue a permanent injunction.

Judge Mize originally refused to grant an injunction, but was reversed 2-1 by the appeals court. The majority was formed by U.S. Circuit Judges John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans and John R. Brown of Houston, Tex., while U.S. Dist. Judge Dozier DeVane of Tallahassee, Fla., dissented.

The same three judges have acted for the court in revoking Judge Cameron's stays.

The latest order cited the court's last opinion July 27, in which the judges held that the court "has inherent power to review the action of the single judge, whether or not the single judge is a member of the panel."

The opinion continued: "It is unthinkable that a judge who was not a member of the panel should be allowed to frustrate the mandate of the court."

The court pointed out that Mississippi had declined to exercise its power to ask for a stay pending rehearing or appeal to the Supreme Court within the 21-day period after the decision was handed down, but before the mandate putting it into effect was issued.

It quoted one of its rules that says: "No further stay will be granted unless applied for within the delay given above."

Judge Cameron's stays were based on a portion of the U.S. Code that gives a single judge power to grant stays.

FUCHS IN HOSPITAL

BERLIN (UPI) — The West Berlin newspaper Bild Zeitung said Tuesday atomic spy Klaus Fuchs is being treated in an East German sanitorium for a nervous breakdown caused by the mistrust of fellow workers who consider him a Russian spy. Fuchs, 51, spent 10 years in prison in Britain for leaking Western atomic secrets to the Russians. On his release in 1959 he became deputy director of the East German Central Institute for nuclear physics at Rossendorf.

Court Orders Mississippi University To Admit Negro

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A desegregation order aimed at the University of Mississippi was put back into effect Saturday as the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overrode one of its judges for the second time.

The appeals court directed the university to accept James H. Meredith, 29-year-old Kosciusko Negro, in an unsigned order that revoked two stays issued within the past week by U.S. Circuit Judge Ben Cameron of Meridian, Miss.

The latest action once more opened the way for Meredith's admission to the fall term at Ole Miss, starting next month.

Neither Judge Cameron nor Mississippi officials would indicate what moves they planned.

Judge Cameron, a member of the 5th Circuit Court but not assigned to the panel that hard the Meredith case, had granted the state of Mississippi 30 days to prepare an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. In the event the appeal was filed within that time, the stay would last until the court, now in recess until Oct. 1, ruled in the case. Meredith's admission would thus be delayed beyond September.

Cameron issued the stay last Saturday, just 24 hours after the appeals court revoked his first stay. Then on Tuesday he issued a third stay, revising Saturday's order.

In Saturday's order, the appeals court said Judge Cameron's stays "were unauthorized, erroneous and improvident and each of them is hereby vacated and set aside forthwith."

The directive left in effect a preliminary injunction requiring Ole Miss to accept Meredith and a directive to U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize of Biloxi, Miss., to issue a permanent injunction.

Judge Mize originally refused to grant an injunction, but was reversed 2-1 by the appeals court. The majority was formed by U.S. Circuit Judges John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans and John R. Brown of Houston, Tex., while U.S. Dist. Judge Dozier DeVane of Tallahassee, Fla., dissented.

The same three judges have acted for the court in revoking Judge Cameron's stays.

The latest order cited the court's last opinion July 27, in which the judges held that the court "has inherent power to review the action of the single judge, whether or not the single judge is a member of the panel."

The opinion continued: "It is unthinkable that a judge who was not a member of the panel should be allowed to frustrate the mandate of the court."

The court pointed out that Mississippi had declined to exercise its power to ask for a stay pending rehearing or appeal to the Supreme Court within the 21-day period after the decision was handed down, but before the mandate putting it into effect was issued.

It quoted one of its rules that says: "No further stay will be granted unless applied for within the delay given above."

Judge Cameron's stays were based on a portion of the U.S. Code that gives a single judge power to grant stays.

FUCHS IN HOSPITAL

BERLIN (UPI) — The West Berlin newspaper Bild Zeitung said Tuesday atomic spy Klaus Fuchs is being treated in an East German sanitorium for a nervous breakdown caused by the mistrust of fellow workers who consider him a Russian spy. Fuchs, 51, spent 10 years in prison in Britain for leaking Western atomic secrets to the Russians. On his release in 1959 he became deputy director of the East German Central Institute for nuclear physics at Rossendorf.

LOUISIANA POLITICS

Governor's Race Buildup Awaited

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana dozed in the quiet before the storm Saturday while waiting for first signs of a buildup toward the 1963 campaign for governor.

In the past, a mid-term legislature provided the time and place for mansion hopefuls to flex their political muscles.

This time, however, the buildup is more or less cautious—while more than a dozen prominent possibilities watch for U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long to say yes or no.

Huey P. Long's 44-year-old son, approaching a position of power in the U.S. Senate with growing seniority, pocketed a four-to-one ballot victory in his bid for another Senate term.

Some in the old Long camp will tell you the senator is certain to run for governor, because he's always wanted to occupy the executive offices in the 34-story Capitol his father built, and because he's tired of Washington.

Others loyal to the Long political pull are equally vehement in insisting Sen. Long will not forsake his position in the nation's capital.

Right now, veteran politicians relate, the move toward a gubernatorial contest is in a state of flux, until the Long crowd knows which way its wind will blow.

Now that 39-year-old Gillis Long of Alexandria has stepped into the political arena with his magic name, the old Long dynasty followers aren't running out of personalities.

Young Gillis, who talks like and resembles in a terse, nervous way the late Earl K. Long, unseated U.S. Rep. Harold McSween to win the Eighth District nomination for Congress.

This led to some speculation the young attorney would look for a chance to bounce right out of the Eighth District with all his young political energy right into the middle of the crowd seeking the mansion.

"I'm not a candidate for governor," he said, when asked that question. "Of course, that doesn't mean I might not want to some day."

Gillis Long said he would support Sen. Long if the senator decided to run for governor, but if he didn't, "two prospective candidates for our side might be John J. McKeithen or state Sen. Speedy O. Long."

McKeithen, a public service commissioner, is the man most old Long veterans single out as the one to get the nod, should Russell Long stand aside.

The Columbia attorney was an Earl K. Long House leader, and later lieutenant governor on the Long ticket defeated by former Gov. Robert Kennon. McKeithen later broke ith Earl K. Long.

Kennon, state Supt. Shelby M Jackson, McKeithen — perhaps twice-defeated deLesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans — these appear to be the mostly widely known possibilities.

Money talks — and organization know now — in a campaign for governor. And this is the time for the offstage maneuvers to begin.

U.S. Rep. Joe D. Waggoner Jr. of Plain Dealing, a former State Education Board member and a conservative who knows how to make a speech; U.S. Rep. T A. Thompson of Ville Platte, whose followers have been heartened by his first primary victory in the face of determined Seventh District opposition; Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock, who hasn't hinted publicly yet where his next political ambition is likely to be; Secretary of State Wade O. Martin; former highway Director R. B. Richardson; Public Works Director Claude Kirkpatrick, who feels Louisiana may select a man from the Southern part of the state this time; state Sen. W. J. Cleveland of Crowley, Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' budget committee chairman, and C. E. (Cap) Barham, who was Kennon's lieutenant governor, winning that post although he ran on the unsuccessful gubernatorial ticket of Hale Boggs in 1952.

Farm Youth Confesses To Slaying Five

VOLGA, S. D. (UPI) — A farm youth shot and killed five members of a neighboring family Friday night and blurted out the story to his father, authorities said Saturday.

The father told their pastor and together the two of them found the bodies of Herman Paulson, 44, his wife, Lorraine, 35, and their three daughters.

The bodies were found in separate rooms in their white frame farm home northwest of this tiny rural village near the Minnesota border.

Each had been shot through the head.

Brookings County State's Attorney Gordon Mydland refused to release the name of the boy. He said he would not reveal the name until formal murder charges are filed Monday.

The slayings occurred about 10 o'clock Friday night, "as near as we can tell," Mydland said. "The boy told the father what he had done this morning."

The body of 13-year-old Karlyn Paulson was found nude in an upstairs bedroom, tied hand and foot with clothesline rope and leather shoestrings.

The other victims—including Anita, 9, and Leanne, 6 — were bound in much the same way.

The only survivors were elderly grandparents.

Mydland said the boy did not offer a motive.

Sad Boy, 7, Will Remain With Father

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Clarence Hathaway, 7, mourning the loss of his blind and deaf mother, found out Saturday his handicapped father will raise him.

Harold Hathaway, 60, also blind and deaf, was told by welfare officials they won't try to get custody of the boy as they did in an unsuccessful legal battle when he was born in 1955.

"I don't think a single social worker will stick out his neck this time," said Victor Andersen, executive director of the Summit County Child Welfare Board.

"Clarence wants to live in his own home — the only one he knows," Hathaway said in an interview. "He couldn't stand a change. Even though he's only 7, he's set in his ways."

Clarence told a newsman he wanted to stay with his father in their four-room cottage in neart Stow.

"Of course I'd like to go to boy's camp for a visit some day, he added.

The question of Clarence's f ture arose after his mother, Geo gia, 43, died of a heart attack la Thursday night in Akron Gener Hospital. She had been hospita ized several times this year.

Hathaway, living chiefly on blind pension, said he didn't thi he would have any trouble ra ing Clarence. He said a wom would help with the cookin Members of the Visiting Nurse A sociation visit the house daily.

Mrs. Hathaway will be buri Monday in Stow.

Columbus Voyage To Be Reenacted

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP) —A duplicate of Christopher Columbus' tiny caravel Nina, towed back to port from its first trial run, is under repair here for a symbolic Atlantic crossing to San Salvador.

Its sponsors, including a retired Spanish naval lieutenant and an American submarine explorer and treasure hunter, hope to reach their goal Oct. 12, the 470th anniversary of Columbus' supposed landing on the Caribbean island.

Strong winds damaged the mainmast of the 30-ton, 39-foot Nina on her tests off San Sebastian. But Lt. Carlos Etayo, 42, who financed the tiny vessel, promised she will be ready for departure from Huelva, the southern Spanish port from which Columbus sailed on his voyage of discovery.

With Etayo, as cameraman and navigator, will be Robert Marx, 28, Pittsburgh-born underwater explorer turned historian, who now calls Oakland, Calif., his home.

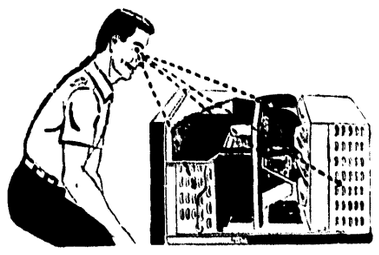

A Bilbao sailor, Nicolas Bedoya, 69, and Basque fisherman Jose Valencia, 63, experts at the handling of small sailboats, will complete the Nina crew. A fifth man, a Roman Catholic priest from Pamplona, may be added.

Etayo, a retired naval officer and author, said as he supervised repairs on the wooden Nina that he had long dreamed of this voyage.

Following the drawing exactly, Etayo and his builders constructed the ship.

For the crossing to San Salvador, the Nina and its crew will depend entirely on crude navigation instruments of Columbus' time. No radios will be carried, and the only concession to modern life will be Marx' cameras.

LOUISIANA POLITICS

Governor's Race Buildup Awaited

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana dozed in the quiet before the storm Saturday while waiting for first signs of a buildup toward the 1963 campaign for governor.

In the past, a mid-term legislature provided the time and place for mansion hopefuls to flex their political muscles.

This time, however, the buildup is more or less cautious—while more than a dozen prominent possibilities watch for U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long to say yes or no.

Huey P. Long's 44-year-old son, approaching a position of power in the U.S. Senate with growing seniority, pocketed a four-to-one ballot victory in his bid for another Senate term.

Some in the old Long camp will tell you the senator is certain to run for governor, because he's always wanted to occupy the executive offices in the 34-story Capitol his father built, and because he's tired of Washington.

Others loyal to the Long political pull are equally vehement in insisting Sen. Long will not forsake his position in the nation's capital.

Right now, veteran politicians relate, the move toward a gubernatorial contest is in a state of flux, until the Long crowd knows which way its wind will blow.

Now that 39-year-old Gillis Long of Alexandria has stepped into the political arena with his magic name, the old Long dynasty followers aren't running out of personalities.

Young Gillis, who talks like and resembles in a terse, nervous way the late Earl K. Long, unseated U.S. Rep. Harold McSween to win the Eighth District nomination for Congress.

This led to some speculation the young attorney would look for a chance to bounce right out of the Eighth District with all his young political energy right into the middle of the crowd seeking the mansion.

"I'm not a candidate for governor," he said, when asked that question. "Of course, that doesn't mean I might not want to some day."

Gillis Long said he would support Sen. Long if the senator decided to run for governor, but if he didn't, "two prospective candidates for our side might be John J. McKeithen or state Sen. Speedy O. Long."

McKeithen, a public service commissioner, is the man most old Long veterans single out as the one to get the nod, should Russell Long stand aside.

The Columbia attorney was an Earl K. Long House leader, and later lieutenant governor on the Long ticket defeated by former Gov. Robert Kennon. McKeithen later broke ith Earl K. Long.

Kennon, state Supt. Shelby M Jackson, McKeithen — perhaps twice-defeated deLesseps S. Morrison of New Orleans — these appear to be the mostly widely known possibilities.

Money talks — and organization know now — in a campaign for governor. And this is the time for the offstage maneuvers to begin.

Should Russell Long remain in Washington, he might choose to endorse a candidate. But a wide open battle royal would be in the making.

In addition to the widely known names of Kennon, Jackson, McKeithen and Morrison, here are others whose names have been tossed around by politicians visiting the Capitol these days:

U.S. Rep. Joe D. Waggoner Jr. of Plain Dealing, a former State Education Board member and a conservative who knows how to make a speech; U.S. Rep. T. A. Thompson of Ville Platte, whose followers have been heartened by his first primary victory in the face of determined Seventh District opposition; Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock, who hasn't hinted publicly yet where his next political ambition is likely to be; Secretary of State Wade O. Martin; former highway Director R. B. Richardson; Public Works Director Claude Kirkpatrick, who feels Louisiana may select a man from the Southern part of the state this time; state Sen. W. J. Cleveland of Crowley, Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' budget committee chairman, and C. E. (Cap) Barham, who was Kennon's lieutenant governor, winning that post although he ran on the unsuccessful gubernatorial ticket of Hale Boggs in 1952.

Scouts Schedule Jaunt By Canoe

Sixteen Monroe Explorer Scouts leave this morning for Calion, Ark., from where they'll launch a 127-mile canoe trip back down the Ouachita River to Monroe.

The sixteen youngsters, all members of Explorer Post 128, are scheduled to embark by bus and truck at 9:30 this morning for Calion. They will be accompanied on their canoe jaunt by two adults — Scoutmaster Robert Trent and Associate Advisor Stanley Jones.

Trent said Saturday the trip is expected to take six days, with the group slated to arrive back in Monroe Saturday between 2 and 3 p.m. They will pull in at the Pine Street boat dock.

The Scouts will travel in seven canoes with two boats for equipment. They'll camp along the river at night and will take all necessary food — dehydrated and canned food — along with them.

"This trip will be the longest the boys have tried," says Trent. "They have made several canoe trips up and down the river but never one this far."

Boys making the trip, all 14 to 16 years of age, are Nathan Antley, Jack Stacey, Stanley Jones, Robbie Russell, Joe Watts, David Stovall, Bobby Trent, Richard Cox, James Evans, Walter Lowery, Cletus Ross, Ronnie Schultz, Glenn Artt, Mike Barham, Johnny Jones and James Goodson.

Explorer Post 128 is sponsored by Southside Methodist Church.

Family Wiped Out In Mass Massacre

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A shooting, authorities said looked like a massacre of mass execution, wiped out a family of four Saturday and the toll reached five when a teen-age son, blamed for the slayings, died of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Authorities now say that with the death in Riverside Hospital of Ray Lanker, 14, they may never know exactly what prompted the shooting.

It took the lives of Ohio Highway Patrol Cpl. Ralph R. Lanker, 45; his wife, Virginia Fern Lanker, 36; a daughter Bea, 12; and a son, Thomas, 9.

All four bodies, dressed in night clothing, were discovered in the bedroom of the parents on the second floor of their frame home in suburban Grove City. Officers said at least 14 bullets were found in the bodies.

Ray fired a bullet into his temple a few hours after the shooting. He had been found unconscious beneath a freeway exit, a pistol by his side. Nearby was a culvert where officers believe he had hidden for a time after abandoning his father's patrol cruiser on the freeway.

Some kind of domestic trouble probably preceded the shooting in the home, police theorized. One report being investigated was that Ray and his parents had been at odds over a girl friend.

The boy's speeding on the freeway, noted by a civilian driver, led to the discovery of the bodies. When the cruiser was abandoned, police traced it to the patrol corporal. A call to his home failed to get an answer, and patrol officers went to the house to investigate.

They found the bodies.

Police said they believed that after the shootings, Ray apparently ran out of the house, used a screw driver to remove the red flasher light atop the patrol cruiser, then drove off. Calls to Columbus police about a cruiser being driven in a reckless manner on the freeway followed soon after.

Mrs. Lanker, a former Youngstown resident, had written her mother, Mrs. Fanny Westerman of Youngstown, only Friday. She did not mention any family trouble, but said Ray had joined the 4-H club.

Ike On Six-Day Paris Visit

PARIS (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower on Saturday began a six-day visit to the French capital and spent the afternoon with Jean Monnet, often called "the father of united Europe."

Accompanied by his wife, Mamie, and their two grandchildren, Eisenhower drove to Monnet's thatch-roofed home in the quiet countryside west of Paris. Eisenhower and Monnet spent a quarter of an hour after a two-hour lunch strolling through the garden, talking earnestly.

The subject of their chat was not disclosed, but Monnet almost certainly brought Eisenhower up to date on moves to knit Europe closer together and to expand the six-nation Common Market — Franch, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Luxemborg — by bringing in Britain. Monnet, as head of the Action Committee for a United States of Europe, exercises strong unofficial influence in the unity movement.

Mrs. Eisenhower showed no effects of a mishap of the morning when she got off the train. She apparently misjudged the distance from the steps to the platform and twisted her shoulder. A pained expression passed briefly over her face. But later she was carrying a heavy shoulder purse and showed no discomfort.

The Eisenhowers will be luncheon guests Sunday of U.S. Ambassador James Gavin and Mrs. Gavin. Tuesday, Eisenhower visits his old headquarters, just outside Paris, and dines with Gen. Lauris Norstad, retiring supreme Allied commander for Europe. Wednesday Eisenhower calls on President Charles de Gaulle.

Ghana Blames Foreign Agents For Bomb Blast

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Army and police officials lamed what they called foreign agents Saturday for the abortive bomb attempt on the life of resident Kwame Nkrumah in northern Ghana on Wednesday.

Authorities made the statement after examining remnants of the bomb at Klungugu, 560 miles north of Accra, where the assassination attempt occurred.

Nkrumah was not injured by the bomb blast, which killed four persons and injured 56. Police have arrested 25 persons.

ON WESTERN TRIP

Kennedy To Feel Pulse Of Public

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trip to the West Coast Aug. 17-19 apparently will give President Kennedy the opportunity to explore for himself how the country feels about his administration.

Unless he changes present plans Kennedy will not be making any political speeches for his party's candidates. But there is nothing to prevent him from conferring with political leaders.

Kennedy is represented as believing that the opposition in Congress to his legislative program may not reflect reliably the feeling of the average citizen.

A great user of polls himself, Kennedy recognizes that the form in which a question is put may have great influence on the results.

He said at his Wednesday news conference that a poll which indicated 72 per cent of the people oppose a tax cut hich would increase the national debt might have come out quite differently if those polled had been asked if they favored a tax cut to head off a recession that would boost the det.

A president, of course, can't drift in and out of the stores on main street or mill in the crowd at a supermarket. He has to get his information from people whose judgment he trusts.

In this sense the trip seems likely to become something of a warmup for some frankly political excursions this fall when Kennedy is expected to plug for the election of Democrats running for the Senate, House and governorships who support his program.

When he stops at Pierre, S.D., Kennedy will be touching base in a state where he hopes George McGovern, who resigned as Food for Peace director, will take a senatorial seat away rfom the Republicans.

His flip of a switch to start the circulation of power from Oahe Dam—which appropriate remarks aout the progress the country is making—may be about all the President will have time to do for McGovern.

But the ground-breaking for the San Luis irrigation project near Los Banos, Calif., Aug. 18, obviously is only a prelude to later activities in the state. California Democrats are confident Kennedy will be back to try to help Gov. Edmund G. Brown meet the challenge of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has said Kennedy is considering participating in the ceremonies opening the Lewis and Clark highway on the Montana Idaho border.

In Idaho, the Democrats hope to fill the senate vacancy left by the death of Republican Henry C. Dworshak, as well as re-electing Frank Church.

Judge Urges 'Fair Trial' Rights Laws

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A New York Supreme Court justice called Saturday for new laws and rules to balance the constitutional rights to fair trial and freedom of the press.

Justice Bernard S. Meyer of Mineola, N.Y., told the National Conference of State Trial Judges "Unless the enactment of such legislation is obtained, we are faced with the prospect of more and more frequent reversals because of prejudicial publicity, with all the chaotic effect on individual rights which that implies.

"The proper balance between freedom of the press and the rights to a fair and impartial trial cannot be achieved except by adoption of a statute and rule."

Justice Meyer's urging that the National Conference of State Trial Judges appoint a committee to draft legislation restricting pretrial reporting in criminal cases followed intensive discussion of the issue by affiliate organizations of the American Bar Association.

Lord Parker of Waddington, the lord chief justice of England, described British court policy, built up by judicial decisions of contempt, which limit closely what can be printed about an accused before his trial.

Lord Parker addressed the ABA's Section of Judicial Administration.

Emory H. Niles, chief judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, argued that discipline of the bar would effectively limit the evil of trial by newspaper.

"Both prosecutors and defense attorneys are officers of the court, and can be bound by rules of conduct," he said.

"A rule of court prohibiting attorneys from issuing statements to the press regarding pending cases would, I believe, be valid."

Judge Niles said another practical step open to trial judges without further legislation was control of the police.

"Police are probably the most proflific source of biased information prejudicial to an accused.

"If the source of the evil is dried up, the evil is to that extent limited," Judge Niles said.

Judge Niles said he believed most communications media oppose limitation on their right to publish what they please because they fear abuse of the power of the courts.

"They believe it very difficult to devise and operate a system which would do justice, and at the same time inform the public of what it may legitimately know," he said.

Justice Meyer proposed a statute banning the reporting of an accused's confession or previous criminal record before admission into evidence in the trial.

Lord Parker pointed out that British court policy limits the freedom of English newspapers to publish background facts not admitted at a trial while a conviction is under appeal.

Interest Lags For Election In Michigan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The raising of racial issues injected new interest Saturday in a Michigan primary election campaign in which attempts to set off fireworks mostly have fizzled.

The election is Tuesday. Experts estimate a million voters will turn out, drawn mostly by localized contests.

A sharp downturn in voter interest made its appearance after a U.S. Supreme Court justice held up until after the primary a state supreme court order for immediate reapportionment of the senate or election of all senators on an at-large basis.

Candidates for governor and congressman-at-large are not challenged formally from within their own parties, neither are most congressmen running in the state's 18 regular districts.

The Michigan Fair Campaign Practices Commission denounced Saturday a Negro tabloid weekly newspaper, the Illustrated News, for urging nomination on a racist basis of three Negro Democratic candidates for Congress in three Wayne County districts.

The Community Co-ordinating Council of Metropolitan Detroit, an association of 37 Negro business, professional, religious and labor groups, supported the commission.

The council said in a statement, "We disassociate ourselves unequivocally from any such racist technique . . . . we consider any effort to arouse citizens on the basis of race or religion, whatever its source, as representative of bigotry and intolerance."

The commission, a state agency with only authority to investigate and announce its findings, said appeals of the Illustrated News "are racist" and "descent to a level of campaigning that has no place in the American electoral process."

The paper's editor, Negro attorney Henry Cleage, termed the commission's charge "well meaning but ridiculous." His brother, the Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr., pastor of Central Congregational Church and a contributing editor, said that with 20 million Negroes in the country, "at least 10 per cent of the population, we should have 43 or at least 40 congressmen."

Except for a torrid contest for the Republican congressional nomination in the southwestern Fourth District and the GOP race for lieutenant governor, primary campaigns have not sparked much general interest.

Gov. John B. Swainson and his Republican opponent, industrialist George Romney, have been campaigning hard in recent weeks, but have no ballot opposition in the primary.

Albany Ready To Discuss Race Issues

By DON MCKEE

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The City Commission said Saturday it is willing to sit down and discuss racial problems with "responsible, law abiding citizens of the Negro community."

In a statement issued "to clarify the facts," a commission spokesman said talks had been held with Negro leaders despite statements to the contrary.

Negro integrationists have accused city officials of refusing to negotiate.

The 7-member governing body said segregation isn't the basic issue in the conflict that has embroiled this city for nine months with 1,200 arrests for mass demonstrations.

The spokesman said an influx of outside forces has caused a solidification of white citizens against what he said is regarded as interference in local problems.

"No responsible Negro leaders have come forward," the official said.

"We have heard nothing from the vast majority of the 24,000 Negroes in this city," said the spokesman, C. B. Pritchett Jr., a commission member.

"All we've heard from have been lawbreakers who have repeatedly strired up trouble and filled up jails for no perceptible reason except publicity," he added. "this is inexplicable to us."

President Kennedy said at his news conference Wednesday that it was "wholly inexplicable" to him why commissioners would not negotiate with the Negroes.

As the commission issued its statement, integration leaders launched an intensive drive to register Negroes for a December city election. About 40 went to City Hall Saturday to apply for registration.

The governing body said statements by Negro leaders about negotiating racial issues had been misleading.

"As a matter of fact, the only remaining segregated facilities under city hall jurisdiction are the library and the public swimming pools," the commission said. "the new air terminal, the bus and train terminals and both voter registration and voting precincts are fully integrated. There is a Negro physician on the hospital staff."

But the commissioners said they are limited as to what areas they can discuss with the Negroes since city officials have no control over schools, lunch counters and private employment practices.

Scouts Schedule Jaunt By Canoe

Sixteen Monroe Explorer Scouts leave this morning for Calion, Ark., from where they'll launch a 127-mile canoe trip back down the Ouachita River to Monroe.

The sixteen youngsters, all members of Explorer Post 128, are scheduled to embark by bus and truck at 9:30 this morning for Calion. They will be accompanied on their canoe jaunt by two adults — Scoutmaster Robert Trent and Associate Advisor Stanley Jones.

Trent said Saturday the trip is expected to take six days, with the group slated to arrive back in Monroe Saturday between 2 and 3 p.m. They will pull in at the Pine Street boat dock.

The Scouts will travel in seven canoes with two boats for equipment. They'll camp along the river at night and will take all necessary food — dehydrated and canned food — along with them.

"This trip will be the longest the boys have tried," says Trent. "They have made several canoe trips up and down the river but never one this far."

Boys making the trip, all 14 to 16 years of age, are Nathan Antley, Jack Stacey, Stanley Jones, Robbie Russell, Joe Watts, David Stovall, Bobby Trent, Richard Cox, James Evans, Walter Lowery, Cletus Ross, Ronnie Schultz, Glenn Artt, Mike Barham, Johnny Jones and James Goodson.

Explorer Post 128 is sponsored by Southside Methodist Church.

Family Wiped Out In Mass Massacre

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A shooting, authorities said looked like a massacre of mass execution, wiped out a family of four Saturday and the toll reached five when a teen-age son, blamed for the slayings, died of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Authorities now say that with the death in Riverside Hospital of Ray Lanker, 14, they may never know exactly what prompted the shooting.

It took the lives of Ohio Highway Patrol Cpl. Ralph R. Lanker, 45; his wife, Virginia Fern Lanker, 36; a daughter Bea, 12; and a son, Thomas, 9.

All four bodies, dressed in night clothing, were discovered in the bedroom of the parents on the second floor of their frame home in suburban Grove City. Officers said at least 14 bullets were found in the bodies.

Ray fired a bullet into his temple a few hours after the shooting. He had been found unconscious beneath a freeway exit, a pistol by his side. Nearby was a culvert where officers believe he had hidden for a time after abandoning his father's patrol cruiser on the freeway.

Some kind of domestic trouble probably preceded the shooting in the home, police theorized. One report being investigated was that Ray and his parents had been at odds over a girl friend.

The boy's speeding on the freeway, noted by a civilian driver, led to the discovery of the bodies. When the cruiser was abandoned, police traced it to the patrol corporal. A call to his home failed to get an answer, and patrol officers went to the house to investigate.

They found the bodies.

Police said they believed that after the shootings, Ray apparently ran out of the house, used a screw driver to remove the red flasher light atop the patrol cruiser, then drove off. Calls to Columbus police about a cruiser being driven in a reckless manner on the freeway followed soon after.

Mrs. Lanker, a former Youngstown resident, had written her mother, Mrs. Fanny Westerman of Youngstown, only Friday. She did not mention any family trouble, but said Ray had joined the 4-H club.

Kennedy To Feel Pulse Of Public

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trip to the West Coast Aug. 17-19 apparently will give President Kennedy the opportunity to explore for himself how the country feels about his administration.

Unless he changes present plans Kennedy will not be making any political speeches for his party's candidates. But there is nothing to prevent him from conferring with political leaders.

Kennedy is represented as believing that the opposition in Congress to his legislative program may not reflect reliably the feeling of the average citizen.

A great user of polls himself, Kennedy recognizes that the form in which a question is put may have great influence on the results.

He said at his Wednesday news conference that a poll which indicated 72 per cent of the people oppose a tax cut hich would increase the national debt might have come out quite differently if those polled had been asked if they favored a tax cut to head off a recession that would boost the det.

A president, of course, can't drift in and out of the stores on main street or mill in the crowd at a supermarket. He has to get his information from people whose judgment he trusts.

In this sense the trip seems likely to become something of a warmup for some frankly political excursions this fall when Kennedy is expected to plug for the election of Democrats running for the Senate, House and governorships who support his program.

When he stops at Pierre, S.D., Kennedy will be touching base in a state where he hopes George McGovern, who resigned as Food for Peace director, will take a senatorial seat away rfom the Republicans.

His flip of a switch to start the circulation of power from Oahe Dam—which appropriate remarks aout the progress the country is making—may be about all the President will have time to do for McGovern.

But the ground-breaking for the San Luis irrigation project near Los Banos, Calif., Aug. 18, obviously is only a prelude to later activities in the state. California Democrats are confident Kennedy will be back to try to help Gov. Edmund. G. Brown meet the challenge of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has said Kennedy is considering participating in the ceremonies opening the Lewis and Clark highway on the Montana Idaho border.

In Idaho, the Democrats hope to fill the senate vacancy left by the death of Republican Henry C. Dworshak, as well as re-electing Frank Church.

Judge Urges 'Fair Trial' Rights Laws

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A New York Supreme Court justice called Saturday for new laws and rules to balance the constitutional rights to fair trial and freedom of the press.

Justice Bernard S. Meyer of Mineola, N.Y., told the National Conference of State Trial Judges "Unless the enactment of such legislation is obtained, we are faced with the prospect of more and more frequent reversals because of prejudicial publicity, with all the chaotic effect on individual rights which that implies.

"The proper balance between freedom of the press and the rights to a fair and impartial trial cannot be achieved except by adoption of a statute and rule."

Justice Meyer's urging that the National Conference of State Trial Judges appoint a committee to draft legislation restricting pretrial reporting in criminal cases followed intensive discussion of the issue by affiliate organizations of the American Bar Association.

Lord Parker of Waddington, the lord chief justice of England, described British court policy, built up by judicial decisions of contempt, which limit closely what can be printed about an accused before his trial.

Lord Parker addressed the ABA's Section of Judicial Administration.

Emory H. Niles, chief judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, argued that discipline of the bar would effectively limit the evil of trial by newspaper.

"Both prosecutors and defense attorneys are officers of the court, and can be bound by rules of conduct," he said.

"A rule of court prohibiting attorneys from issuing statements to the press regarding pending cases would, I believe, be valid."

Judge Niles said another practical step open to trial judges without further legislation was control of the police.

"Police are probably the most proflific source of biased information prejudicial to an accused.

"If the source of the evil is dried up, the evil is to that extent limited," Judge Niles said.

Judge Niles said he believed most communications media oppose limitation on their right to publish what they please because they fear abuse of the power of the courts.

"They believe it very difficult to devise and operate a system which would do justice, and at the same time inform the public of what it may legitimately know," he said.

Justice Meyer proposed a statute banning the reporting of an accused's confession or previous criminal record before admission into evidence in the trial.

Lord Parker pointed out that British court policy limits the freedom of English newspapers to publish background facts not admitted at a trial while a conviction is under appeal.

Ike On Six-Day Paris Visit

PARIS (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower on Saturday began a six-day visit to the French capital and spent the afternoon with Jean Monnet, often called "the father of united Europe."

Accompanied by his wife, Mamie, and their two grandchildren, Eisenhower drove to Monnet's thatch-roofed home in the quiet countryside west of Paris. Eisenhower and Monnet spent a quarter of an hour after a two-hour lunch strolling through the garden, talking earnestly.

The subject of their chat was not disclosed, but Monnet almost certainly brought Eisenhower up to date on moves to knit Europe closer together and to expand the six-nation Common Market — Franch, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg — by bringing in Britain. Monnet, as head of the Action Committee for a United States of Europe, exercises strong unofficial influence in the unity movement.

Mrs. Eisenhower showed no effects of a mishap of the morning when she got off the train. She apparently misjudged the distance from the steps to the platform and twisted her shoulder. A pained expression passed briefly over her face. But later she was carrying a heavy shoulder purse and showed no discomfort.

The Eisenhowers will be luncheon guests Sunday of U.S. Ambassador James Gavin and Mrs. Gavin. Tuesday, Eisenhower visits his old headquarters, just outside Paris, and dines with Gen. Lauris Norstad, retiring supreme Allied commander for Europe. Wednesday Eisenhower calls on President Charles de Gaulle.

Ghana Blames Foreign Agents For Bomb Blast

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Army and police officials lamed what they called foreign agents Saturday for the abortive bomb attempt on the life of resident Kwame Nkrumah in northern Ghana on Wednesday.

Authorities made the statement after examining remnants of the bomb at Klungugu, 560 miles north of Accra, where the assassination attempt occurred.

Nkrumah was not injured by the bomb blast, which killed four persons and injured 56. Police have arrested 25 persons.

Interest Lags For Election In Michigan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The raising of racial issues injected new interest Saturday in a Michigan primary election campaign in which attempts to set off fireworks mostly have fizzled.

The election is Tuesday. Experts estimate a million voters will turn out, drawn mostly by localized contests.

A sharp downturn in voter interest made its appearance after a U.S. Supreme Court justice held up until after the primary a state supreme court order for immediate reapportionment of the senate or election of all senators on an at-large basis.

Candidates for governor and congressman-at-large are not challenged formally from within their own parties, neither are most congressmen running in the state's 18 regular districts.

The Michigan Fair Campaign Practices Commission denounced Saturday a Negro tabloid weekly newspaper, the Illustrated News, for urging nomination on a racist basis of three Negro Democratic candidates for Congress in three Wayne County districts.

The Community Co-ordinating Council of Metropolitan Detroit, an association of 37 Negro business, professional, religious and labor groups, supported the commission.

The council said in a statement, "We disassociate ourselves unequivocally from any such racist technique . . . . we consider any effort to arouse citizens on the basis of race or religion, whatever its source, as representative of bigotry and intolerance."

The commission, a state agency with only authority to investigate and announce its findings, said appeals of the Illustrated News "are racist" and "descent to a level of campaigning that has no place in the American electoral process.

The paper's editor, Negro attorney Henry Cleage, termed the commission's charge "well meaning but ridiculous." His brother, the Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr., pastor of Central Congregational Church and a contributing editor, said that with 20 million Negroes in the country, "at least 10 per cent of the population, we should have 43 or at least 40 congressmen."

Except for a torrid contest for the Republican congressional nomination in the southwestern Fourth District and the GOP race for lieutenant governor, primary campaigns have not sparked much general interest.

Gov. John B. Swainson and his Republican opponent, industrialist George Romney, have been campaigning hard in recent weeks, but have no ballot opposition in the primary.

Albany Ready To Discuss Race Issues

By DON MCKEE

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The City Commission said Saturday it is willing to sit down and discuss racial problems with "responsible, law abiding citizens of the Negro community."

In a statement issued "to clarify the facts," a commission spokesman said talks had been held with Negro leaders despite statements to the contrary.

Negro integrationists have accused city officials of refusing to negotiate.

The 7-member governing body said segregation isn't the basic issue in the conflict that has embroiled this city for nine months with 1,200 arrests for mass demonstrations.

The spokesman said an influx of outside forces has caused a solidification of white citizens against what he said is regarded as interference in local problems.

"No responsible Negro leaders have come forward," the official said.

"We have heard nothing from the vast majority of the 24,000 Negroes in this city," said the spokesman, C. B. Pritchett Jr., a commission member.

"All we've heard from have been lawbreakers who have repeatedly strired up trouble and filled up jails for no perceptible reason except publicity," he added. "this is inexplicable to us."

President Kennedy said at his news conference Wednesday that it was "wholly inexplicable" to him why commissioners would not negotiate with the Negroes.

As the commission issued its statement, integration leaders launched an intensive drive to register Negroes for a December city election. About 40 went to City Hall Saturday to apply for registration.

The governing body said statements by Negro leaders about negotiating racial issues had been misleading.

"As a matter of fact, the only remaining segregated facilities under city hall jurisdiction are the library and the public swimming pools," the commission said. "the new air terminal, the bus and train terminals and both voter registration and voting precincts are fully integrated. There is a Negro physician on the hospital staff."

But the commissioners said they are limited as to what areas they can discuss with the Negroes since city officials have no control over schools, lunch counters and private employment practices.

Allies' Efforts To Whittle Down Berlin Walls Futile

LONDON (UPI) — Two walls, not one, divided Berlin a year ago this Aug. 13. The one of bricks and barbed wire and steel split the city physically. The other established a new diplomatic wall.

Allied efforts to whittle down the diplomatic hurdle have failed in the last 12 months just as have the attempts to get the physical wall out of the way.

The political attitudes of the Allies and the Communists have, if anything, hardened as the key issues dividing them have been more clearly defined.

No settlement has been reached in the months of probing on Berlin, and none is in immediate sight.

On the surface the Berlin crisis mood has eased and both sides appear to have tactily agreed to disagree. But the truce is vague and its duration undefined. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev could call it off at any time.

Intermittent rumblings in the Kremlin have been pointing lately to the possibility of new Soviet moves over the deadlocked Berlin issue. Yet to balance this there also have been signs that Khrushchev is chary of provoking a major crisis now to force a Soviet-type settlement.

The West has little to go by in assessing Soviet intentions except for the "impression" that Khrushchev understands he cannot force the Allies out of Berlin without running the risk of a war, and a nuclear war at that.

To all appearances, Khrushchev does not want war. He probably cannot afford one despite his boasts of Russian military superiority over the United States. And he knows the terrible consequences for Russia however such a war might end.

Moscow's comparative inactivity over Berlin in the past year appears in fact to be largely due to the impact of Western — notably United States — determination to draw a firm line of "so-far, no-further" on Soviet attempts to change the status of the divided city to Communist advantage.

Ten months of diplomatic "probing" between the United States and Russia into Berlin peace prospects merely have helped to define the dividing issues more clearly.

The Russians have made it clear that the essence of their Berlin policy is to get the Allied garrisons out of the city. They have accentuated their position by branding Berlin a NATO base.

The West, in turn, has left Moscow in no doubt about its determination to stay in Berlin and to keep free access to the city.

Russian "alternatives" have been rejected by the Allies as maneuvers to get the Communists into West Berlin through the back door. One such move by Khrushchev sought to replace the Allied forces with a mixed force drawn from the smaller NATO nations and the Warsaw Pact countries, and placed under United Nations command.

The probe which has been carried out in Moscow, Washington and Geneva by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko may go on at different levels.

But the Russians have been showing signs of restiveness and have revived their threat to sign a separate peace treaty with the Communist East German regime.

At one time, the Soviets threatened that in such an event Allied rights in Berlin would be wiped out automatically. They have become more cautious lately, apparently fearing that such a move could spark off an armed clash with the United States.

The West has, in fact, put the Russians on notice — Rusk renewed the warning to Gromyko only last month in Geneva — that a separate peace treaty cannot erase Allied rights in the divided city.

The West appears resigned to Russia signing a treaty with the East German regime — the Russians may feel they must do it under pressure from Communist public opinion — provided it leaves the Berlin status unchanged.

Recent hints from the Communists have suggested the Russians may frame their peace treaty so as to leave the Berlin issue where it stands now. Such reservations would avoid an immediate showdown with the West. But they also would prolong the dangers and uncertainty — and leave those two Berlin walls intact.

Soviets Open Secret War Games Today

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union starts a 10-week series of secret war games in the Arctic Sunday which were expected to mark the resumption of its nuclear tests.

Military maneuvers were scheduled to take place over a vast stretch of icy land and water between the Baents and Kara seas and to last until Oct. 20. Western observers expect the first atomic explosions of a new Soviet test series to come on opening day, or shortly afterward.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky is believed to be in the far north to observe the war games, which an official announcement issued July 24 said were designed to test "various types of modern arms."

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev headed for a Black Sea vacation and apparently plans to skip at least the intial phases, if he plans to view the maneuvers at all.

The war games will include units of the Soviet northern fleet and air and rocket forces. Although there has been no announcement, it was considered possible that other Warsaw Pact nations may hold maneuvers to coincide with the Soviet Exercises.

Western observers believe the Soviets might include tests of a new Polaris - style missile they claim to possess. The official Tass news agency reported several weeks ago that Khrushchev had watched the firing of one of these missiles from a submerged atomic submarine at Leningrad. But the dispatch did not indicate whether a nuclear warhead was used then.

It also was considered possible the Russians could be planning further tests of the anti-missile missile which Khrushchev has said is accurate enough to "hit a fly in space."

But military experts of the United States, whose own Nike Zeus anti-missile missile has successfully intercepted an Atlas nose cone in flight, have said they still do not believe Russia has an anti-missile defense that can ward off all attacks.

Allies' Efforts To Whittle Down Berlin Walls Futile

LONDON (UPI) — Two walls, not one, divided Berlin a year ago this Aug. 13. The one of bricks and barbed wire and steel split the city physically. The other established a new diplomatic wall.

Allied efforts to whittle down the diplomatic hurdle have failed in the last 12 months just as have the attempts to get the physical wall out of the way.

The politicai attitudes of the Allies and the Communists have, if anything, hardened as the key issues dividing them have been more clearly defined.

No settlement has been reached in the months of probing on Berlin, and none is in immediate sight.

On the surface the Berlin crisis mood has eased and both sides appear to have tactily agreed to disagree. But the truce is vague and its duration undefined. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev could call it off at any time.

Intermittent rumblings in the Kremlin have been pointing lately to the possibility of new Soviet moves over the deadlocked Berlin issue. Yet to balance this there also have been signs that Khrushchev is chary of provoking a major crisis now to force a Soviet-type settlement.

The West has little to go by in assessing Soviet intentions except for the "impression" that Khrushchev understands he cannot force the Allies out of Berlin without running the risk of a war, and a nuclear war at that.

To all appearances, Khrushchev does not want war. He probably cannot afford one despite his boasts of Russian military superiority over the United States. And he knows the terrible consequences for Russia however such a war might end.

Moscow's comparative inactivity over Berlin in the past year appears in fact to be largely due to the impact of Western — notably United States — determination to draw a firm line of "so-far, no-further" on Soviet attempts to change the status of the divided city to Communist advantage.

Ten months of diplomatic "probing" between the United States and Russia into Berlin peace prospects merely have helped to define the dividing issues more clearly.

The Russians have made it clear that the essence of their Berlin policy is to get the Allied garrisons out of the city. They have accentuated their position by branding Berlin a NATO base.

The West, in turn, has left Moscow in no doubt about its determination to stay in Berlin and to keep free access to the city.

Russian "alternatives" have been rejected by the Allies as maneuvers to get the Communists into West Berlin through the back door. One such move by Khrushchev sought to replace the Allied forces with a mixed force drawn from the smaller NATO nations and the Warsaw Pact countries, and placed under United Nations command.

The probe which has been carried out in Moscow, Washington and Geneva by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko may go on at different levels.

But the Russians have been showing signs of restiveness and have revived their threat to sign a separate peace treaty with the Communist East German regime.

At one time, the Soviets threatened that in such an event Allied rights in Berlin would be wiped out automatically. They have become more cautious lately, apparently fearing that such a move could spark off an armed clash with the United States.

The West has, in fact, put the Russians on notice — Rusk renewed the warning to Gromyko only last month in Geneva — that a separate peace treaty cannot erase Allied rights in the divided city.

The West appears resigned to Russia signing a treaty with the East German regime — the Russians may feel they must do it under pressure from Communist public opinion — provided it leaves the Berlin status unchanged.

Recent hints from the Communists have suggested the Russians may frame their peace treaty so as to leave the Berlin issue where it stands now. Such reservations would avoid an immediate showdown with the West. But they also would prolong the dangers and uncertainty — and leave those two Berlin walls intact.

Soviets Open Secret War Games Today

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union starts a 10-week series of secret war games in the Arctic Sunday which were expected to mark the resumption of its nuclear tests.

Military maneuvers were scheduled to take place over a vast stretch of icy land and water between the Baents and Kara seas and to last until Oct. 20. Western observers expect the first atomic explosions of a new Soviet test series to come on opening day, or shortly afterward.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky is believed to be in the far north to observe the war games, which an official announcement issued July 24 said were designed to test "various types of modern arms."

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev headed for a Black Sea vacation and apparently plans to skip at least the intial phases, if he plans to view the maneuvers at all.

The war games will include units of the Soviet northern fleet and air and rocket forces. Although there has been no announcement, it was considered possible that other Warsaw Pact nations may hold maneuvers to coincide with the Soviet Exercises.

Western observers believe the Soviets might include tests of a new Polaris - style missile they claim to possess. The official Tass news agency reported several weeks ago that Khrushchev had watched the firing of one of these missiles from a submerged atomic submarine at Leningrad. But the dispatch did not indicate whether a nuclear warhead was used then.

It also was considered possible the Russians could be planning further tests of the anti-missile missile which Khrushchev has said is accurate enough to "hit a fly in space."

But military experts of the United States, whose own Nike Zeus anti-missile missile has successfully intercepted an Atlas nose cone in flight, have said they still do not believe Russia has an anti-missile defense that can ward off all attacks.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:
I feel that I have the perfect answer to starching those voluminous petticoats so fashionable today. I have six myself!

I wash the petticoat as usual. While it's still wet, I make a solution of ¼ cup of instant cold water starch to two quarts of cold water.

Before beginning to starch the petticoat . . . gather up the top of the garment about six inches and fasten it with a rubber band. I usually twist these few top inches so the starch will not get on the material near the waist and scratch the body.

Place the petticoat in the starch mixture after shaking it a little bit to remove some of the excess water. Be sure to soak the petticoat well in the starch, sloshing it up and down a few times so the starch can imbed itself in the garment. Hold the gathered part up out of the starch.

Take the dripping wet garment outside (be sure it's a sunny day), lay a sheet on the ground and spread open the petticoat like an umbrella.

Remove the rubber band so the waist can dry. When the petticoat is dry . . the hem will be straight and the flair perfect.

—Petticoat Peggy

DEAR HELOISE:
I save all the little keys that come on shortening cans and coffee cans and use them to hold ears of boiled corn.

Saves burning fingers; cost . . . absolutely nothing.

—Mrs. Dois Granger

DEAR HELOISE:
The minute I remove my french fries from the boiling grease, I place them in a big, brown paper bag and shake them. This removes most of the grease immediately.

When frying more than one batch (and what skillet ever holds enough for a big family?), I find that the paper sack will also keep the first batch warm while the second batch is still cooking.

—Mrs. Thomas McCain

DEAR HELOISE:
I find that my cakes are perfectly flat on top if I pour the batter around the edges of the pan first and leave a slight depression in the center.

When baking, this prevents the peak that usually forms on the center and makes the cake hard to ice.

—Edith E. Epsso

DEAR HELOISE:
For restoring natural luster to aluminum storm windows (removing those marks), I use a large pad of plain steel wool to rub the aluminum. I put gloves on to protect my hands.

Rubbing the aluminum with fine-grain steel wool removes all the dirt that has accumulated over the months.

—Patience Services

DEAR HELOISE:
I think every mother of small babies who crawl should know not to leave a socket in the wall unprotected. This means that there should be a plug in the socket itself or that the socket should be protected from the baby.

A piece of Scotch tape or adhesive tape or even a band-aid can be applied in a minute over the two little holes, thus preventing shock should the baby pick up a hairpin or bobby pin and try to stick it in the socket.

—I Know; Mine Did

DEAR HELOISE:
For women with small families who bake cakes and have the end piece dry out before cutting the next piece . . . place two pieces of bread on the cut portion and hold in place with toothpicks. You will find this will keep the air out of the cake and the end piece will be moist.

—Katy Kennedy

DEAR HELOISE:
I always make a batch of cookie dough and put it in frozen juice cans. I then put them in my deep freeze. (I only make cookie batter when I am in the mood.)

Then when I am in the mood for cookies, I just remove the can of dough, open the other end and push the dough through the can.

Use a sharp knife and slice. Place on tray covered with foil and bake.

—Mary Jane Earth

DEAR HELOISE:
Tell all your readers not to let the battle of mildew and mold on rubber bathmats, dishdrainers and articles get them down.

Throw the mildewed articles in the bathtub, fill it up with water and add household bleach and some detergent.

Next morning the mildew will be loosened and all gone. Drain the tub of water and lightly rinse each article. And say . . . I leave all the articles in the tub until dry and this saves dripping water all through the house.

—Mandy Carol

DEAR HELOISE:
Shelf paper has many good uses. It makes wonderful drawing paper for children.

Colored shelf paper is good for wrapping gifts since it is strong and opaque as well as attractive. Bright-colored ribbon is attractive on white shelf paper when used for wrapping packages.

Many times I have found myself without ribbon and have used silk seam-binding tape or rick rack.

BARE BARS

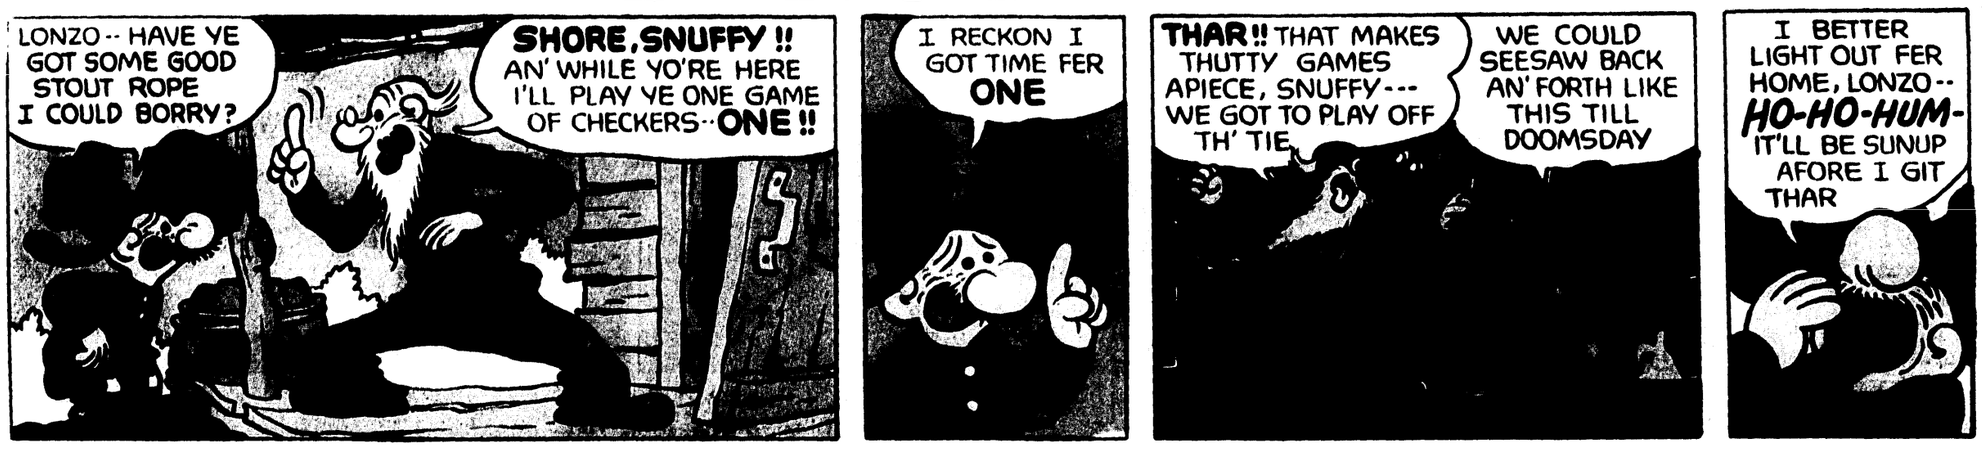

DEAR HELOISE:
Soap will last twice as long if it is allowed to harden before use. The longer the better. Even if it is a year.

And I always remove the wrapper from my bar soaps as soon as I bring them from the store. The odors perfume my closets for free.
